SELECTMEN'S REPORT.

To the Citizens of the Town of Brookline.

THE Selectmen, Overseers of the Poor, and Surveyors of Highways, submit the following Report:—

POOR.

The expenses of this department have exceeded the appropriation, in consequence of sickness among some of those assisted, and unexpected calls upon us for assistance. There are now eight persons who are supported wholly or in part by the town, at an annual expense of about nine hundred dollars. We have in many cases supplied fuel and temporary assistance to several widows, who could get along with a little assistance, but otherwise must have endured great suffering or been sent to the State Alms-house. The deficit in the appropriation for support of poor was made up by transferring to the same from appropriation for county tax.*

HIGHWAYS.

The appropriation for highways has been insufficient to defray the expense of that department. There is a great increase of travel over and upon the streets and ways of the town, and thereby they are worn out sooner than formerly. New ways are added frequently; and these, when new, always require greater expenditures than when they become settled, and well coated with good material. It will be necessary to provide additional supplies of material, if we intend to keep our roads up to their present condition. There are now about thirty-six miles of road to be kept in repair by the town; and we consider that good roads are as necessary for the prosperity of a town as are good schools or any other well-regulated institution for the comfort, prosperity, and happiness of a community. Tappan Street, leading from Cypress to Beacon Street, has been made according to the order of the Selectmen, in accordance with the agreement with Messrs. Augustus Aspinwall and William I. Bowditch. No pains or labor have been spared by those gentlemen to make a thorough and complete way; and they are entitled to much credit for the excellent manner in which they left their work. The work on Pleasant Street has been completed, and the awards all paid. Clyde and Newton Streets have been widened and re-located by the County Commissioners the past year; and the town has already made some portions of the way, improving them in some of their worst places, thereby putting them in much better order than they were before. We have been under the necessity of exceeding the appropriation made for that purpose, a fraction over two hundred dollars. According to the order of the Commissioners, the abutters have removed their walls, fences, and trees, thereby rendering the roads dangerous; and the town will be expected to put the same in good order for the public travel, as it is an improvement very much needed. Grove Street is in a bad condition in consequence of sinking in the morass across which it is made, and will require to be repaired immediately to prevent accidents. The making of sidewalks has steadily progressed during the past year, thereby adding to the comfort and convenience of our citizens. We would again call the attention of the citizens to the subject of drainage, and would recommend that the matter be taken in hand at once and fully examined into, and some system adopted for that purpose by the town.

* For various transfers, see Treasurer's Report.

REPAIRS OF TOWN-BUILDINGS.

In consequence of the accident to the hook-and-ladder house, which was injured by fire on the evening of the 6th of last October, which damaged it about three hundred and fifty dollars, this appropriation was overdrawn.

LIGHTING STREETS AND TOWN-BUILDINGS.

This appropriation has been inadequate for the lighting and care of the town-buildings and street-lamps. During the past year, there have been added to the streets several lamps, which have been furnished by the citizens, and located by the Selectmen. There are now sixty-six lamps in the streets lighted by gas, and eleven lighted by fluid; and the number will probably be increased every year.

FIRE-DEPARTMENT.

In May last, the requisite number of persons formed themselves into a company, agreeably to the by-laws of the town, and offered to the Selectmen their services, which were accepted, to take charge of the engine and hose-carriages for the extinguishing of fires ; and they have performed their duty in a prompt and energetic manner. There has been a larger number of fires in the town during the past year than for several years previous.

Agreeably to a vote of the town passed last December, the Selectmen purchased one thousand feet of new hose ; but, as there was money in the treasury sufficient for that purpose, they did not deem it expedient to borrow, as authorized by a vote of the town.

HAYSCALES.

A new set of scales, of Howe's improved patent, has been procured, and set on Boylston Street, at the corner of Washington Street, where they are much more convenient for the use of the citizens than they were at the former place. In consequence of having to grade up the street in the place where they were established, the appropriation was not sufficient to meet the expenditure.

PURCHASING LAND OF S. A. WALKER.

The fee of the land lying south from the Brookline Railroad Station, and between that and Washington Street, was purchased of Mr. Samuel A. Walker ; and the same has been laid out, and put in good order as an open way, from Washington Street and the station of the Brookline Branch Railroad. This we consider a decided improvement, not only as regards those who have occasion to go to the station, but to the property of those in the vicinity, and the general appearance of this part of the town. Much credit is due to the President of the Boston and Worcester Railroad for the generous and liberal manner in which he responded to the recommendation of the Selectmen in filling up and making the road. In consequence of filling up the above way, it became necessary to raise the buildings belonging to Messrs. John Dustin and A. H. Clapp, at an expense of about seven hundred dollars.

POLICE.

There has been a Saturday-night and Sunday police during the summer months ; and, by their efforts, they have added greatly to the peace and quiet of the town.

We would also call the attention of the citizens to the low lands near the Pearl-place Schoolhouse ; and would suggest that great detriment to the health of the public will arise therefrom, unless measures be taken to prevent the flooding of that whole section of the town at extreme high tides.

Davis Place, leading from Pearl Place, has never been graded ; and we would recommend that it be done to nearly the height of the Mill-dam Road. In our opinion, it would be wise for the town to make some appropriation so as to assist to carry out the improvement. We would also recommend, that, for the further protection of the public health, the proprietors of the flats in the rear of Davis Place be ordered to fill up the same with clean gravel, to such a height that it shall not be overflowed by the highest tides.

The town is now in good condition in all its departments, and maintains its reputation for good roads and schools ; and we hope that it will ever continue to keep them up to their present standard. Our town-debt has been reduced during the past year to fifty-three thousand two hundred dollars ; which we would recommend should be further reduced, rather than increased.

The guide posts and boards are in good order in all places where it is required for the same to be maintained by the town.

TRUSTEES' REPORT OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

To the Citizens of the Town of Brookline.

THE Trustees have great satisfaction in presenting the annexed Report of the Librarian; showing the increase of the Library the past year, and the position it has gained at the end of the third year from its commencement. The interest taken in it by the young, and the increased number of persons who have availed themselves of its privileges, prove its entire success. The Trustees would earnestly request the inhabitants to take immediate steps towards erecting a suitable building for a Library; they feeling assured that the next three years will increase the number of books fourfold, provided a fire-proof building shall be fitted for their reception.

In connection with the success of the Library, the Trustees would bear testimony to the fact, that the credit of a large part of that success is due to the Librarian, Mr. John E. Horr.

At the last annual town-meeting, the following votes were passed; viz., —

“That the proposal of the Brookline Land Company to give a lot of land, provided the town would erect upon it a suitable building for a Library, be referred to the Trustees, with instructions to examine this, and any other locations, and report upon the same at a future town-meeting.”

Under this vote, the Trustees addressed a circular to the inhabitants, requesting donations to the Library, of land, books, &c. In response to said circular, they received an offer from the heirs of the late Samuel Philbrick, deceased, of a lot of land on Walnut Street, with condition only that a suitable building should be erected thereon; and also an offer, from Messrs. Augustus and Col. Thomas Aspinwall, of a lot on Aspinwall Avenue, with a similar condition. The Trustees have examined these and other locations; and while they consider either of the three suitable, and the offer of the owners to give them to the town most liberal, yet they are constrained to say, that, in their judgment, the best situation for the Library will be in the vicinity of the Town Hall.

Agreeably to instructions, the Trustees divided themselves by lot into three classes, as follows:—

Term expires 1861.	Term expires 1862.	Term expires 1863.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

To the Trustees of the Public Library.

The interest in the Library during the last year has continued steadily to increase. The number of volumes delivered has been larger than during any preceding year; and the books have been read by all classes, in all parts of the town. Not only have the citizens availed themselves of the privileges of the Library, but they have also manifested their interest in its success by giving books and money.

The following are the names of individuals who have made gifts within the last year:—

Charles E. Abbott has given two hundred pamphlets.

A Citizen has given two volumes, forty-five pamphlets, and a complete file of the "World."

A Citizen has given one volume and a hundred and nineteen pamphlets.

David Wilder, jun., has given twelve volumes.

Charles F. Williams has given one volume.

James F. Williams has given twelve pamphlets.

John S. Wright has given a hundred dollars in money.

The whole number of volumes now belonging to the Library is . . .	4751
The whole number of volumes added during the year is	633
The whole number of pamphlets added during the year is	981
The whole number of volumes delivered during the year	11,619

But one volume and one pamphlet have been lost.

The number of volumes delivered does not include the use of the "books of reference:" the demand for books of this class, above that of any preceding year, has been more than fourfold. There has also been, through the year, a steadily increasing demand for works on history, biography, travels, the fine and the useful arts, and for works on natural history in nearly all its departments.

The books have generally been carefully used, and, with few exceptions, promptly returned.

We think there is reason to congratulate the friends of the Library on its history up to the present time; and we feel warranted in anticipating for it an auspicious future.

Respectfully submitted.

JOHN E. HERR, Librarian.

The following Rules and Regulations for the government of the Library have been unanimously approved by the Trustees, and are respectfully presented to the town for acceptance: —

CHAPTER I.

Of the Board of Trustees, and their Powers and Duties.

ARTICLE I. — There shall be a Board of Twelve Trustees, four of whom shall be elected by ballot annually, at the annual town-meeting, to hold office for three years thereafter, or until their successors shall be chosen, and qualified to act. The Trustees chosen at the annual meeting, in the year 1860, shall, at their first regular meeting, divide themselves by lot into three classes. Those of the first class shall hold office until their successors shall be elected, at the annual town-meeting, in the year 1861; those of the second class shall hold office until their successors shall be elected, at the annual town-meeting, in the year 1862; and those of the third class shall hold office until their successors shall be elected, at the annual town-meeting, in the year 1863.

ART. II. — The officers of the Board of Trustees shall consist of a President, Secretary, Treasurer, and Librarian: all of whom shall be members of the Board, except the Secretary and Librarian, who may be appointed by the Board, at such compensation as they shall determine; the same to be paid from the appropriation for town-officers.

ART. III. — The Board of Trustees shall hold regular meetings on the third Tuesday of every month, except August.

ART. IV. — The President shall call a special meeting of the Board at the written request of any two members, provided such request shall state the object of the proposed meeting; and he may at any time call a special meeting, at his own discretion. All meetings shall be seasonably notified by the Secretary in writing.

ART. V. — The Standing Committees of the Board shall consist of three members each, and shall be as follows: viz., 1. The Committee on the Library; 2. The Committee on Accounts and Finances. And they shall at all times be under the control and direction of the Board.

It shall be the duty of the Committee on the Library, —

First, To recommend to the Board, from time to time, such books as it may be desirable to purchase or exchange.

Second, To make such purchases and exchanges of books as the Board may authorize.

Third, To direct in regard to the binding and covering of books, and their preparation for circulation.

Fourth, To determine, subject to the sanction of the Board, what books shall be used only for reference; and to impose such other restriction on the use of the books as in their judgment may be expedient, subject to the sanction aforesaid.

Fifth, Annually, in the month of February, to make an examination of the Library, and prepare, for the adoption of the Board, a report of the condition of the Library, to be presented to the town at the annual meeting.

Sixth, To see that the rules and regulations relative to the Library are complied with.

Seventh, To see that proper books and forms are prepared for the use of the Librarian.

Eighth, To superintend the preparation and printing of such catalogues of the books in the Library as the Board may direct.

Ninth, To have the general charge and direction of the Library-rooms.

It shall be the duty of the Committee on Accounts and Finances, —

First, To examine all bills against the Library, and, if correct, to approve the same.

Second, To employ such means as they may deem best to obtain donations in money and books for the increase of the Library: all money thus received to be paid over to the Treasurer, and by him passed to the credit of the Library-fund, to be appropriated at the order of the Board.

ART. VI. — At the first regular meeting in April, the officers and Standing Committees of the Board shall be chosen by ballot; and they shall respectively continue to hold office till their successors are appointed. In case of any vacancy occurring during the year, it may be filled at any regular meeting.

ART. VII. — Four members of the Board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business; and any number more than one may adjourn a meeting, when a quorum is not present.

ART. VIII. — No book, pamphlet, work of art, or other object whatsoever, offered by any person to the Library, shall be accepted and placed therein, except by express vote of the Board, unless by direction of the town; and immediate notice of acceptance shall then be given to the donor, with a suitable acknowledgment.

ART. IX. — All books, pamphlets, and articles in the Public Library may be exchanged at any time at the discretion of the Trustees for the time being; provided, however, that books, pamphlets, and articles presented to the Library shall not be disposed of, except with the consent of the donor, or his or her oldest heir-at-law.

CHAPTER II.

Of the Use of the Library.

ART. I. — Any inhabitant of the town of Brookline, who shall sign an obligation to observe all the existing Rules and Regulations of the Library and all that may be subsequently adopted, shall have free right to take books therefrom, so long as he or she shall comply with the same.

ART. II. — No person shall be allowed more than one volume, and no family of the same household shall be allowed more than three volumes, at any one time. Books may be kept out of the Library fourteen days only; provided always that any book may be renewed once to the same person, but not more than once until it shall have remained in the Library one full Library-day. The fine for the retention of any volume over the time above specified shall be two cents for every day it is so retained. The provisions of this article are subject to the discretionary power conferred on the Committee on the Library by art. 5, chap. 1.

ART. III. — Any book retained two weeks beyond the time prescribed by these regulations shall be sent for by the Librarian; and the expense incurred in obtaining it shall be paid by such delinquent.

ART. IV. — All injuries to books beyond a reasonable wear, and all losses, shall be made good to the satisfaction of the Committee on the Library by the person liable; and any book not returned within one week after demand made for it by the Librarian shall be regarded as lost. If any book be lost, the person for whose use it was taken out shall pay such a sum as the said Committee shall determine, or replace the book; or, if it be one of a set, he or she shall pay the price of the set, and take the remaining volumes, if the said Committee should so determine.

ART. V. — All books are required to be returned to the Library fourteen days before the annual examination, under penalty of a fine of one dollar; but seasonable notice of the time shall be given by the Librarian.

ART. VI. — No person having a book from the Library shall lend it to a person not a member of the same household; and no person owing a fine or forfeiture shall receive books from the Library until the same is paid.

ART. VII. — Every person desiring to take books from the Library for home use shall receive from the Librarian a printed card, on which the book asked for shall be designated, also the number of the shelf on which it stands, in blanks left for the purpose; and this card, which will be presented to the Librarian as the only mode of obtaining any book which may be asked for, will be retained until the book shall be returned by the borrower.

ART. VIII. — Books of reference, and those deemed by the Board unsuitable for general circulation, shall not be lent, except by an order signed by at least two of the Trustees.

ART. IX. — All persons visiting the Library-rooms will be required to demean themselves quietly, and to avoid all unnecessary conversation in the rooms. Any person abusing the privileges of the Library by improper or offensive conduct will be denied admission to the rooms.

ART. X. — The Library-rooms shall be open for the use and delivery of books at such times as the Committee of the Library shall designate, but not less frequently than on two afternoons and evenings of every week.

CHAPTER III.

Of the Librarian and his Duties.

ART. I. — The Librarian, under the direction of the Committee on the Library, shall have the charge and superintendence of all the rooms of the Public Library, and shall be responsible for the due care and keeping of all the books and other public property contained in them.

ART. II. — He shall be present in the Library in person, or by an assistant, during such times as it may be open to the public; and perform all such duties, under the direction of the Board, as are usually incumbent upon a Librarian.

ART. III. — He shall arrange all the books on the shelves in an order convenient for use; and shall enter, in a record to be kept for that purpose, the time when each book was received; its cost, if purchased; the name of its donor, if given; and any other facts relating to it which the Board may direct: such record to be called the "Catalogue of Accessions."

ART. IV. — He shall prepare such catalogues, books, and forms as the Committee on the Library may direct.

ART. V. — He shall acknowledge all gifts to the Library as soon as they shall have been reported to the Board and accepted; first procuring the signature of the President to each acknowledgment he may make.

ART. VI. — He shall keep a careful record of all such books as are asked for and are not in the Library, and of the names of the persons asking for them ; and exhibit the same to the Committee on the Library, whenever it shall be called for.

ART. VII. — He shall cause a book-plate to be securely fastened in each volume belonging to the Library, — noting on it the date of the book's reception ; the name of the donor, if it be a gift ; the number of the shelf on which it is kept ; and the number it may bear on the Catalogue of Accessions.

ART. VIII. — He shall cause every volume, before it is delivered from the Library, to be neatly covered with suitable paper, and to have attached to it such Rules of the Library as are needful to be known by those who may use it ; but he shall permit no book to be used or taken until it shall have been entered in the Catalogue of Accessions.

ART. IX. — He shall annually, at the discretion of the Committee on the Library, call in all books that are out, and prepare for examination the books and other property of the Library under his control ; and shall, at the same time, make and present to the Committee on the Library a detailed report of its condition and increase during the year

All of which is respectfully submitted.

REPORT.

It has again become our duty to report to our fellow-citizens the condition of the all-important trust committed to our hands; and we discharge this duty in the earnest confidence, that, if we have not done all that was possible for the advancement of the schools, we have at least endeavored so to do,—have given them our close attention and our best judgment, and, we hope, not in vain.

The schools are certainly in as good condition as they were at the date of our last Report; and, we think, have made a reasonable advance.

The following tables will show the statistics of their condition:—

Early in the year, it was found necessary to place an assistant in the South Primary School; the number of pupils having become too large for accommodation in one room, or for receiving proper attention from one teacher. The lower room of this building was therefore fitted up, and Miss Ellen Hedge appointed assistant. She entered upon her duties in June; and the school is now in good condition.

While on the subject of this school (in the old stone schoolhouse in Walnut Street), it is well to call the attention of the town to the fact, that there is not a foot of playground belonging to it; and your Committee has been memorialized, by citizens dwelling in that neighborhood, on the subject of the great inconvenience to which they are subjected from this cause. It certainly is not just, that the children of any part of the town should be forced to be a nuisance; yet, from the necessity of the case, they are so in this instance. Except into the street, they can scarcely step out of the schoolhouse without becoming trespassers on the property of some one.

We are informed that there is a lot of land, adjoining the schoolhouse, which is for sale. Some playground attached to the present building should be provided; or other ground should be bought, and a building put up, where room can be given to the children. Which of the two courses above indicated is preferable, the Committee do not pretend to judge. The decision is with the town; but we respectfully submit, that some action should be had in the premises.

There are many small children living on Bradley's Hill; and the great distance from that point to any primary school convinced the Committee of the necessity of procuring, if possible, a room for a school there: and, after some difficulties, a room was procured, and fitted up; and, Miss Harriet Stearns having been appointed teacher, was opened on the 10th of September last with about thirty scholars.

Of the Intermediate and Grammar schools, we have little definite to report. The Pearl-place schools continue as full as usual ; yet the progress made by the scholars is as satisfactory as we could expect.

The Heath-street Grammar School continues to advance ; and we are well assured that no effort will be wanting on the part of its teacher that can tend to its welfare.

In the Pierce Grammar School there have been some changes, caused by the resignations of assistant teachers in one of the departments ; but we have no hesitation in saying, that the school is in as high a state of efficiency, discipline, and progress, as ever before.

At the High School, the town has suffered a loss in the resignation of Miss Moody, which is much to be regretted. By her eminent fitness for the position which she occupied, her refined and ladylike deportment, and her unvaried kindness, she had endeared herself to the pupils, and to all connected with the school.

Her successor, Miss Dean, has been brought up among us, and is a graduate of the school. From her scholastic attainments, her industrious habits, and her fondness for the profession she has adopted, we may augur the best results.

In other respects, the school continues to maintain its high character. We need not say more.

EVENING SCHOOL FOR ADULTS.

Neither the number of scholars nor the percentage of attendance of this school is quite equal to the same date last year ; yet we think the school has done good, and we recommend the same appropriation as heretofore.

Further information in regard to this school may be found in the Report of Mr. Abbott, its Principal ; which is hereto appended.

MUSIC.

Mr. NATHAN LINCOLN, Teacher.

We can only reiterate and indorse the high encomium on Mr. Lincoln, as teacher of music in public schools, which we find in the Report of the Cambridge School Committee, who have had the benefit of his services for many years. They say, —

“Mr. Lincoln combines, in a peculiar manner, the requisites for his position. If ever the right man was in the right place, he is. An adept in what he undertakes to teach, he possesses, in addition, a power to interest the scholars, that is quite remarkable ; and not only to interest, but to energize them, and bring them up to ardent and effective results.

“Our public-school singing, therefore, is not mere outside display, got up to relieve the tedium of examinations, but rests on a basis of sound and systematic training ; and we all the more enjoy its delightful effects, because we know what culture has preceded them.”

 PHYSICAL EDUCATION.

In consequence of the recommendation contained in our last Report, the town appropriated the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars for the purpose of making an experiment of the uses of physical education in the High School.

Owing to the want of suitable room in the High School, the experiment was conducted under peculiar disadvantages ; yet we are sure that all, who took the trouble to watch its progress and results, were convinced that much good might be done by proper attention to this branch of education in our schools.

It is much to be regretted, that the providing of a suitable sheltered place for exercise and play in inclement weather was not taken into consideration at the time of building our more modern schoolhouses ; as a small additional expense would, in most of them, have made the attics all that is required.

The Pierce Schoolhouse has now a very fine well-ventilated and roomy attic ; but the stairway to it is so narrow as to interfere much with its use for such purposes in a large school. This could probably be altered at a small expense.

The High-school attic is large, and, at the time of building, could have been made suitable for an exercise-room at little if any addition to its present cost ; though a larger outlay would, undoubtedly, be necessary now : and so with the others. It is for the town to judge whether such an outlay is advisable. In some of the schools, we think such benefits would be cheaply purchased even now.

The subject of physical education is receiving much attention in Boston and many of the towns around us, and, indeed, throughout the State ; and, the more it is examined, the more important is it considered that something should be done to remedy a prominent defect of the New-England educational system.

All which is respectfully submitted.

For the Committee,

F. W. PRESCOTT,

Secretary.

EVENING SCHOOL FOR ADULTS.

THIS school was commenced in the autumn, and was continued nearly four months.

The Principal has been aided by three male and four female regularly employed teachers.

No volunteer service has been proffered, and none needed. And, in this particular, this school has arrived, early in its history, at a position upon which all schools of this character must finally be based, or fail of permanent continuance. Other evening schools in this vicinity, inaugurated, as was our own, chiefly by benevolent labor, are, from year to year, relying more and more upon paid service.

The labor in such schools is too monotonous, the progress in most cases too imperceptible, to attract and interest the benevolent in such a degree as to insure a continuous supply of teachers; and yet even the indifferent observer cannot fail to discover that these schools not only work a positive individual benefit to those who fairly avail themselves of the privileges they afford, but must also ultimately re-act most favorably upon the communities which sustain them.

Material helping to make up any community, in whatever capacity it may be employed, is not only more valuable, but also less dangerous, for even a little learning.

The proportion of minors attending our school the past year has been considerably greater than during any previous year; and the only circumstance not encouraging to the friends of this enterprise is, as will be noticed by the table of statistics, that the percentage of attendance has been somewhat less than that reported last year.

CHARLES E. ABBOTT,

Principal.

SECT. 8. — Pupils shall be transferred annually from the lower to the higher schools, at the close of the school year, on passing a satisfactory examination made with reference to the transfer by the School Committee; and no transfer from a lower to a higher school shall be made at any other time, unless by special vote of the School Committee.

ADMISSION AFTER COMMENCEMENT OF SCHOOL YEAR.

SECT. 9. — Pupils who may become residents of the town after the commencement of the school year may be admitted to the Grammar or High School, if, upon examination by the teacher of said school, together with some member of the School Committee, they are found qualified to join any class already existing in said school; but, if not so qualified, such pupils shall enter a lower school, and there remain until they can pass the regular examination for transfer. And, furthermore, every applicant for admission to the High and Grammar Schools, except those passing from the lower to the higher schools of this town, shall bring a certificate of good moral character from his or her last teacher, or from some other responsible source.

EXAMINATIONS.

SECT. 10. — There shall be a public examination of all the schools at the close of each Winter and Summer Term; and any scholars absenting themselves from this examination shall, except in extraordinary cases, be examined by one or more members of the School Committee before they shall be allowed to rejoin the school.

SECT. 12. — The morning exercises of all the schools shall commence with the reading of the Scriptures by the teacher, and the use of the Lord's Prayer. All teachers shall attend these exercises.

DISCIPLINE.

SECT. 13. — It shall be the duty of the teachers to maintain a kind, firm, and vigilant parental discipline. They shall not administer corporal punishment, except in cases of urgent necessity; and a record of all such punishment shall be kept, for the inspection of the School Committee.

SUPERVISION.

SECT. 14. — The teachers shall exercise a careful supervision over their pupils during school hours, both in the schoolrooms and at recess. They shall prescribe rules to be observed in the yards and outbuildings, and shall be held responsible for any neglect or want of neatness about their premises.

DEFICIENT LESSONS.

SECT. 18. — No excuse shall be received from pupils for omitted or deficient lessons, unless such lessons are made up to the satisfaction of the teacher; and, where the omission or neglect is such as to render the pupil incapable of continuing with the class, such pupil shall be transferred to a lower class at the discretion of the teacher, with the approval of one or more members of the Committee.

ATTENDANCE.

SECT. 19. — Any pupil absent more than a week at one time shall be considered as having left the school, and shall not be re-admitted without a written order from a member of the School Committee; and, in case any pupil be absent from school more than one quarter of the school days of any one term, such pupil may be degraded by transfer to a lower class. Any pupil, who, by regular attendance and exemplary diligence, becomes fitted for an advanced rank,

SECT. 24. — Any pupil who shall, on any part of the school premises, use or write any profane or indecent language; or shall draw any obscene pictures or representations; or cut, mark, or otherwise intentionally destroy or deface, any building, furniture, or other school property, — shall be punished in proportion to the nature and extent of the offence, and shall be liable to the action of the civil law.

SUSPENSION AND EXPULSION.

SECT. 25. — For profaneness, obscenity, and all other vices dangerous to the moral health and purity of the school, when said vices are habitual, and beyond correction by ordinary methods of discipline, the principal of any school may suspend a pupil from attendance on school exercises. In this case, the principal exercising discipline shall immediately report to the School Committee the fact of suspension, together with the particulars of the offence charged: and, upon receiving said report, the Committee shall forthwith proceed to investigate the charge laid before them; and, if they find said charge proved, they may at once expel the offender from the school, until such time as they shall have received satisfactory evidence of the repentance and reformation of the expelled pupil; or, if the nature of the case call for legal action, they may enter complaint against the offender before the proper justice of the peace, in order that said offender may be removed to the State Reform School, or some other suitable place of correction.

BROOKLINE, March 1, 1862.

SELECTMEN'S REPORT.

To the Citizens of the Town of Brookline.

THE Selectmen, Overseers of the Poor, and Surveyors of Highways, present the following Report:—

POOR.

The expenses of this department have been lighter the past year than was to have been expected, considering the disordered state of the country, and the general prostration of business, which rendered it difficult for many to procure employment at remunerative prices. Thus far, but few have been obliged to apply for any assistance from the town. Several persons have been helped to fuel or provisions, in order that they might be enabled to get through the winter, instead of their being sent to the State Alms-house, — a mode of action which has cost the town less than if the applicants had been sent to that institution. There are now seven persons supported wholly or in part by the town, at an annual expense of about five hundred and fifty dollars.

HIGHWAYS.

The streets and ways of the town have been put and kept in thorough repair during the year; and, though the expense of the same has exceeded the appropriation for that purpose, we could not well do less without increasing the expense hereafter. By this means, we think, the cost of keeping the highways in repair for the ensuing year will be very much diminished.

Chestnut Street, leading from Walnut Street to the town-line between Brookline and West Roxbury, has been made and put in good order for the public travel, in conformity with the recommendations of the Selectmen at the last annual town-meeting.

During the past year, the sidewalks have been kept in good order and condition ; and some additions have been made, though but few persons have furnished edge-stones for that purpose. We think that the expense of this department, for the coming year, will be less than it has been during the past year.

We deem it of importance that the subject of drainage should receive more consideration from the inhabitants of the town. Every year demonstrates the necessity of some such action ; and, the longer it is delayed, the more difficult will it be to carry out any well-constructed system for that purpose.

LIGHTING TOWN-BUILDINGS AND STREETS.

The expense of lighting the streets and town-buildings has exceeded the appropriation ; and, if kept up to the present number of lights, must be increased accordingly. During the past year, there have been added seven new posts, which have been furnished by the citizens, and located by the Selectmen. There are now seventy lamps lighted with gas, at an expense of thirty dollars each per annum ; and thirteen lamps lighted with fluid, at an annual expense of eighteen dollars for each lamp.

FIRE-DEPARTMENT.

The expenses of this department have been kept within the appropriation. The engine and other apparatus for extinguishing fires, belonging to the town, are now in the hands of an efficient company. No serious fires have occurred in the town during the year. This is owing, in a great degree, to the promptness and energy of the fire-company.

POLICE.

There is an increasing necessity that this department be well filled and properly attended to, owing to the great number of disorderly persons coming into and passing through the town. We consider it prudent to use preventive measures where there is any probability that the law will be violated. We therefore recommend the same appropriation for this purpose the present year.

CLYDE AND NEWTON STREETS.

In accordance with the order of the County Commissioners, Clyde Street has been nearly completed throughout its entire length. Newton Street has been greatly improved, and is now in good order; but there are some parts as yet unfinished, though all the most dangerous and inconvenient places have been repaired. As it will cost about twelve hundred dollars to carry out the orders of the Commissioners on both streets, it remains for the town to say how much shall be appropriated for that purpose the present year.

GODDARD AVENUE.

The County Commissioners have laid out, as a public highway, Goddard Avenue from Cottage Street to Goddard's Gate; and ordered the same to be made within two years from the 16th day of March, 1861. It is estimated that it will cost not less than fifteen hundred dollars to do the work as ordered by the Commissioners.

The residents and those owning estates on Boylston Street opposite the westerly end of the Reservoir being desirous of making some change in their estates on said street, and of having the street in that place improved, have offered to the Selectmen, in writing, to relinquish all claims for damages for the same against the town; also to make all the changes necessary in their walls, fences, trees, and grounds; and to conform to such change of the grade of the street as may be deemed best by the Selectmen: provided, however, that such change shall be made before the 1st of October next. The alteration, which we think should be made, will cost the town the sum of nine hundred dollars. We consider this proposition so favorable, and of such advantage, that we recommend to the town to accept the offer, and to appropriate for that purpose the above-named sum.

The part this town has taken in our present national difficulties, and the appropriations made to assist in the suppression of the Rebellion, are too recent to need recapitulation; and we have only to say, that the town is well and ably represented in the army, both in officers and men. The management of this department is in the hands of a Committee chosen for that purpose, who will, without doubt, lay before the citizens, at the proper time, all the important facts connected therewith. Their Treasurer has presented to this Board the following financial statement of their affairs, which we lay before you:—

Report of the Treasurer of the Military Committee of the Town of Brookline to March 1, 1862.

E.E.

JAS. A. DUPEE, Treasurer.

BROOKLINE, March 1, 1862.

Among other articles in the warrant calling the last annual meeting, which were referred to the Selectmen for investigation, was the fifteenth article; viz., "To consider and act upon the proposition of the Back-Bay Commissioners to take away the fund of one hundred thousand dollars pledged by the State to keep in repair the Mill Dam and other roads, as it is bound by contract to do, and to keep up the tolls on said roads, for the purpose of raising another fund therefor." Whereupon it was "Voted, That the Selectmen be, and hereby are, instructed to oppose the keeping the tolls on the Mill Dam, as recommended by the Commissioners on the Back-Bay Lands, as, by existing contracts, said tolls are abolished in the year eighteen hundred and sixty-three; and the recommendation of the Commissioners involves a breach of faith. Said Selectmen shall have full power to take such action in the premises as they may deem expedient."

In pursuance of the foregoing vote, we found that the former Board of Selectmen had taken the preliminary steps in this matter by appearing with counsel before the Committee on Public Lands on the 26th February, A.D. 1861; where they found that the proposition to retain the tolls was supported by a petition of Thomas P. Rich and others, represented by Peleg W. Chandler, Esq.; and by the Back-Bay Commissioners, represented by E. C. Purdy, Esq., one of their number; but was opposed by the cities of Boston and Roxbury, and by the towns of Brighton, Watertown, and Newton. After a long discussion of preliminary questions, the Committee adjourned the hearing to March 7, 1861. On that day they again attended before the Committee. At this hearing, the question was gone into quite fully; and it seemed to be agreed by all parties, that the taking of tolls after May 1, 1863, was out of the question. Under this impression, the Committee adjourned the hearing until March 12, 1861, in order to give the Back-Bay Commissioners an opportunity to frame a bill contemplating the surrender of the roads to the several towns, with a fund to be used in maintaining them. On March 12, 1861, this bill was presented by Mr. Purdy: but, after thorough discussion, it was deemed unsatisfactory by the several cities and towns interested; and the hearing was again adjourned to March 19, 1861, for the purpose of allowing the remonstrants against the continuance of the tolls an opportunity to frame a bill satisfactory to them. This bill, framed by Ivers J. Austin, Esq., counsel for Watertown, and William Aspinwall, Esq., counsel for this Board, was presented to the Committee on the day appointed. At this hearing, Charles Hale, Esq., another of the Commissioners, appeared, and took a view of the question differing entirely from that presented at the former hearings by Mr. Purdy. Mr. Hale insisted upon the tolls being kept on the roads after May 1, 1863, unless the cities and towns would assume the support of them without remuneration from the Commonwealth. In the equity of this view, the cities and towns could not acquiesce; and the Committee, being of the same opinion as the remonstrants, reported that it was inexpedient to legislate upon the subject. This report was accepted in the House; but, in the Senate, an amendment was moved repealing the fourth section of act 154, 1859, which provided as follows: "The sum of one hundred thousand dollars shall be reserved by the Commissioners of the Back Bay out of the moiety of the avails of the sales of lands, which, by the resolves of the year 1857, chapter 70, may be drawn upon for the purposes of improvement, as set forth in said chapter; and the same shall be invested as a fund, the income whereof shall be appropriated to the support of the roads and bridges which the Commonwealth has become bound to support by its contracts in regard to said Back Bay." The whole matter was referred to the Judiciary Committee of the Senate. Our counsel endeavored, but without success, to obtain a hearing before this Committee. They reported the matter back to the Senate, without expressing any opinion upon the question. After debate, the Senate voted to substitute the repealing act for the Report of the Committee on Public Lands. The bill, having gone to the House, was then referred to the Judiciary Committee. The various parties had a hearing before this Committee; but, the session being near its close, the discussion was necessarily very brief. The result was a report, by the Committee, of the bill proposed in the Senate, with amendments expressly authorizing the continuance of the tolls upon the Mill Dam, &c., after May 1, 1863, and until the several cities and towns should assume their support, or until a fund should have accumulated sufficient to keep them in repair. This bill passed the House, and afterwards passed the Senate; and is now the law of the Commonwealth. It forms chapter 201 of the acts of 1861, and repeals the fourth section of the one hundred and fifty-fourth chapter of the acts of 1859, by which the sum of a hundred thousand dollars was appropriated as a fund for maintaining the Mill Dam and roads connected therewith. It also authorizes the Commissioners on Public Lands to arrange with all parties interested for the continuance of tolls on the Mill Dam, &c., after May 1, 1863, and, out of the revenue of the tolls, to keep the Mill Dam, &c., in repair, — any surplus to be kept in the treasury as a separate fund for the same purpose. Finally, it provides that the tolls shall cease when the Mill Dam, &c., are accepted and laid out as highways, and not before.

The important effect of this act upon the interests of Brookline cannot be overrated. The continuance of the tolls on the Mill Dam would place the lands and inhabitants of this town under a disadvantage not suffered by any other town adjoining Boston. A proper regard for its interests would seem, therefore, to require that the town should omit no proper effort to prevent the continuance of the tolls beyond the period when it was stipulated that they should cease.

In pursuance of votes passed at the adjournment of the last annual meeting, the Selectmen have filled up and otherwise improved Davis Place, so called; so that we consider that one cause of unhealthiness is removed.

The purchase of land, and making of a way from Warren Street to the Gravel Bank, belonging to the town, near the Reservoir, has been accomplished, thereby opening a way from Warren Street to Fairmount; which gives to those residing in that place a distance of about one-third less than formerly.

A lot of gravel land has been purchased on Heath Street, which was much needed in that locality. The lot on Winchester Street has not been purchased, because of the non-agreement of the owners with the Selectmen in relation to the price; the sum asked being, in our opinion, more than the land was worth to the town for that purpose.

We consider that the various departments of the town are in good order, and that the appropriations for the various expenses may be greatly reduced. In fact, we deem such a course expedient, when we take into account the general prostration of business, and the increase of the State and United-States taxes.

The guide posts and boards are all in good order in all places where they are required by law to be maintained by the town.

TRUSTEES' REPORT OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

To the Citizens of the Town of Brookline.

THE Trustees present the annexed Report of the Librarian with the greatest satisfaction. The figures show conclusively the success of the Library. The alcoves are now filled with books to their utmost capacity; and although at the present time the Trustees cannot recommend action upon a new building, yet it must be evident to every one that the natural increase of the institution will soon require more accommodation.

The Trustees would cheerfully bear testimony to the valuable services of the Librarian, Mr. John E. Horr.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

To the Trustees of the Public Library.

The statistics given below warrant us in reporting the continued prosperity of the Library. The number of books has been largely increased the last year by donation and by purchase, and the use of the Library by the citizens has never before been so great. Not only has the number of volumes delivered been larger than during any preceding year; but the use at the Library, of such books as are not allowed to be taken from the rooms, has been equalled in no former year. Nor is the use of the Library limited to any class of citizens, or to any part of the town; but its privileges are sought and enjoyed by all. Between fifty and sixty individuals in Longwood are in the habit of taking books, and between eighty and ninety in the part of the town above the Unitarian meeting-house.

The whole number of volumes now belonging to the Library is	5,366
The whole number of volumes added during the year is . . .	615
The whole number of pamphlets added during the year is . . .	553
The whole number of volumes delivered during the year is . . .	14,022

In the above are not included reviews and magazines, of which we receive regularly Blackwood's Magazine, the Edinburgh Review, the London Quarterly, the National Review, the North-British Review, the Westminster Review, the North-American Review, the Atlantic Monthly, Harpers' Monthly, the Rebellion Record, Tales of the Day, the Continental Magazine, Cornhill Magazine, Macmillan's Magazine, and Temple Bar.

We have received gifts from the following individuals; viz., from —

Charles E. Abbott, two hundred and thirty-one pamphlets.

William I. Bowditch, fifty-eight pamphlets and forty-five volumes; among which is a complete set of the American Almanac, bound in half-calf.

A citizen, seventy-eight pamphlets and two volumes.

A citizen, the National Review, complete from its beginning to April, 1861; a complete file of the Boston Post from April 19, 1861; a complete file of the World for the last year; also four volumes and eight pamphlets.

Department of the Interior, three volumes and twenty-three charts.

William Nichols, jun., sixteen volumes and twenty pamphlets.

Hon. Alexander H. Rice, forty-one volumes.

J. H. Shedd, eight volumes and twenty-four pamphlets.

Mrs. Frances R. Town, six volumes.

David Wilder, jun., Dwight's Musical Journal, — seventeen volumes.

Also gifts from William Aspinwall, Edward Atkinson, Benjamin F. Baker, Boston City Printers, N. I. Bowditch, Ira Bursley, T. P. Chandler, the Commonwealth, William R. Deane, Rev. J. M. Finotti, Dr. T. E. Francis, Miss H. N. Gerry, Nathan Hale, Rev. Dr. Hedge, William E. Long, Miss Isabella Melcher, Middlesex-Mechanics' Association, New-Bedford Library, Thomas Parsons, Henry F. Rice, Edward R. Seccomb, Carleton A. Shurtleff, Town-clerk's Office, Trustees of City Library in Lowell, William A. Wellman, Burt G. Wilder, and Horace Williams.

The Library has now been established four years ; and we believe that the undiminished interest in it shown by the citizens, and the large and increasing circulation of the books, demonstrate the usefulness of the institution.

Respectfully submitted.

THE town will be called upon to elect, at their March meeting, three members of the Board of School Committee, whose term of service will expire in 1865, to fill the places of Messrs. Turner, Wild, and Brooks, whose term expires at the present time.

We have again to report, that the condition of the Brookline schools is in a high degree satisfactory.

During the year, we have lost some valuable teachers by resignation; and some changes have been made by transfer of teachers from one school to another. The following tables will show the condition of the several schools at the present time:—

The resignations of Miss Hayward from the Harvard-street, Miss Bradley from the Pearl-place, and Miss Hedge from the South Primary Schools, were serious losses ; but we feel assured that we have been fortunate in obtaining in the two former schools the services of able and experienced teachers, in whose capacity and fidelity we can place confidence, and in whose hands the schools will not be permitted to deteriorate.

The resignation of Miss Hedge has taken effect at the close only of the term just past. Miss Goldsmith, who has been appointed from our High School to succeed her, comes highly recommended by her teacher ; and will, we hope, with experience, prove as useful as her sister, the teacher of the Newton-street school.

One teacher (Miss Houlahan) has been removed from among us by death. She was young ; but she did her duty faithfully, and her loss will be felt.

At the commencement of the present school-year in September, it was found necessary to appoint an additional assistant in the High School ; and Miss Margaret S. Littell was selected. There are, therefore, at the present time, four teachers attached to that school ; to all of whom we may point with confidence and pride.

In our last Report, we called the attention of the town to the importance of providing some play-ground, or place of resort, for the scholars of the South Primary School (the old stone High-School building on Walnut Street). We can only refer to that Report at this time, and urge upon the town, that it is a great wrong to the neighborhood, that the children of that school should be forced upon them in such a way.

EVENING SCHOOL FOR ADULTS.

It will be seen, that the number of men who have attended this school during the past winter is less than half, and of women less than two-thirds, as large as that of those who attended last winter. For further information in regard to this school, we would refer to Mr. Abbott's Report, which is appended.

DRAWING.

Since the Report of the year 1857-8, no allusion has been made to the drawing-lessons.

Mrs. Hatch was so exceedingly successful, both in the interest she excited and the instruction she imparted among all her pupils, of whatever age or character, that it was not to be expected that any teacher succeeding her, and attempting to introduce another system, would be favorably received, or, indeed, would have exactly a fair opportunity to display the advantages of her mode of teaching. The drawing-lessons, therefore, languished for a long time; nor has it been until comparatively lately that the pupils in the Grammar and High Schools have seemed to be fairly embarked in the study, with a reasonable expectation of interest and advantage.

The present teacher (Miss Hughes) being an artist, and combining to some extent the old system of teaching drawing from pictures, whether of straight lines or more complicated figures, with Mrs. Hatch's system of delineating the objects themselves as they appear to the eye, has succeeded in again exciting something of the old interest; and we now see in the drawing-books evidences of improvement, which cannot fail to be gratifying to the teacher, as well as to the scholars and their friends.

MUSIC.

We hardly know how we can add any thing to the commendations we have been so frequently called upon to express of Mr. Lincoln as a teacher of music in public schools. We can only reiterate and confirm what we have said before.

The music-hour, in all the schools, is by him rendered one of the most interesting and profitable of the whole week. Interesting we all know it to be; and who that considers the elevating and refining effect of music, properly selected and properly taught, can doubt that it is equally profitable?

PHYSICAL EDUCATION.

In our report of the condition of the schools two years ago, we endeavored to impress on our fellow-citizens the importance of physical education to the well-being of our children; and the town appropriated a small amount (one hundred and fifty dollars) for the purpose of trying an experiment in the High School.

Unfortunately, the system of the teacher who was engaged for the experiment required so much room for deploying the scholars while going through their exercises, that the High School could not accommodate them. A considerable part of the hundred and fifty dollars was therefore necessarily expended in hiring a hall in the village; to which the scholars were obliged to march, on exercise-days, in all weathers, at the cost of much discomfort and exposure, and at the loss of much valuable time; and with the additional disadvantage, that but a part of the money expended was actually paid for physical instruction.

Under all these disadvantages, many parents were convinced of the great value of the instruction received, and would have been glad to have had it continued; nor have we a doubt that the result would have been valuable: but that the experiment was, from the necessities of the case, most expensively and unfairly tried, no one can doubt.

Owing to this and other circumstances connected with the situation of our country, it did not seem advisable to urge the matter last spring; nor should we deem it a suitable time now, were it not pressed upon us, at least as far as the boys are concerned, by other considerations, to which we shall shortly allude.

MILITARY EDUCATION.

At the time of the Revolution, every citizen was, to some extent, a soldier, or at least a hunter, and accustomed to the use of arms. From the sparseness of the population; the vast forests filled with game, and with wild animals, sometimes dangerous to man, always threatening the flocks and herds; and from the immense extent of frontier, where life was hardly ever safe from savage attack, — it followed, not only that people were familiar with the use of arms, but that all were accustomed to some degree of military organization for self-preservation.

In the war of 1812, our immense frontier was at no point so very far off; nor, except in the immediate neighborhood of the cities along our coast, was the country so thickly settled, nor so generally safe, as to cause a materially different state of things: so that we Americans had learned to look upon ourselves, and to be looked upon by the world, as a nation of hunters and half soldiers, like the Swiss; and, within the recollection of many of us, the rifle was as familiar in the hands of the country boy, even in this part of the country, as the rake, the spade, or the hoe, is now. Every village had its turkey-shootings and its crack-shots; and its gunsmith, who could get up a better rifle than any within fifty miles.

Even the Mexican War, fought almost entirely by soldiers drawn from the Western States, where similar habits still prevail, did not undeceive us; and it is only from the present terrible Rebellion that we have learned how lamentably, how fearfully deficient we are in a knowledge of the use of arms.

The accidents alone which occurred in almost every regiment at the commencement of the war (accidents which seem almost to have disappeared since the troops were drilled and educated) ought to teach us the folly of allowing boys to grow up without learning to use a gun, under the fond hope that they may never touch one.

The tone of feeling which has been evinced abroad in regard to us in our great trouble ought to teach us that we can rely upon the sympathy and good feeling of no people whose respect we are not able to command by showing our ability to take care of ourselves.

Every thing ought to convince us, that, during the present generation, we cannot hope the same immunity as in the past; and that every citizen ought to be taught how to become a soldier, — at least so far as to be safely trusted with a gun, without fear of shooting himself or those about him.

In no way can this be so easily, so safely, or so economically taught as to our boys at school, before they are tempted to take that much-dreaded but never sufficiently to be admired gun of their fathers into their hands, to the imminent danger of innocent brothers and sisters.

In no way so easily. Every thing, good or bad, is taught to a child more easily than to a man. It is just as easy to teach boys a careful and proper habit of handling guns as a careless and improper habit; but, with men having careful or careless habits formed, it is evidently different.

In no way so safely. Teach boys thoroughly and carefully how to handle empty guns; teach them a thorough knowledge of their mechanism, and principles of action, and of their danger when loaded; and then put loaded guns into their hands under proper circumstances, — and the danger is avoided.

In no way so economically. Boys' time is infinitely valuable, so far as it is used in fitting them to be men. But statistics have proved, that scholars spending a half, or even a whole, hour each day in healthful exercise, and the remainder in study, make as rapid progress in mental improvement as those who spend the whole number of school-hours in study; and, at the end of the year, are in much better condition to make their studies available. Still further: we have not a doubt, as we think a careful examination of our schools will show, that the habits of attention and prompt obedience acquired in the drill-room will make the time spent in the school-proper enough more valuable to compensate for the time apparently lost from study.

In October last, a meeting of the Board of School Committee was held, at which the Chairman of the Military Committee and another member were present.

They represented to the Board the importance of devising some arrangement whereby the advantages of military drill might be offered to all the boys of a suitable age in the town. They stated that an able drill-master was already employed by the town at an annual compensation, whose time was not fully occupied in drilling adults; and that there was a drill-room hired; so that these prominent items of expense would not have to be incurred in offering these advantages to the boys; — that, in their opinion, military drill was one of the best forms of physical education for boys ; and that military discipline was of great advantage as an assistant to school discipline.

After some consultation, wherein it appeared that the members of the Board coincided with the Military Committee, it was voted, —

“ That the Secretary be requested to notify the several teachers, having children under their charge above the age of ten years, that they would have an opportunity, if their parents desired, to receive military instruction ; and all boys, who wished, might hand in their names to the Secretary, for transmission to the Military Committee, so that they might be properly organized into classes.

A large proportion of the boys over ten years in the town responded to this notice ; and the Report of the Military Committee, hereto appended, will show with what result.

While the Board are deeply impressed with the importance of this movement, and incline to the opinion that a semi-military character might be given to all our schools with advantage, both bodily and mental, they forbear recommending any definite action at the present time, inasmuch as there is a probability that the State Legislature will, before its adjournment, pass some law bearing on this subject, on which action in the several towns may be based.

All which is respectfully submitted.

F. W. PRESCOTT,

Secretary.

APPENDIX TO SCHOOL REPORT.

Evening School for Adults.

THIS school closed its term on the 7th of February; having been in operation fifteen complete weeks.

The Principal has been most efficiently assisted by Mr. Thomas E. Lanman, of the Heath-street Grammar School.

A new hall — central, comfortable, well ventilated and lighted, and in all respects desirable — had been provided.

The usual notices were faithfully posted throughout the precincts of the town; and, excepting some few private appliances, all the usual means were adopted to bring the advantages of the school attractively to the notice of those for whose benefit it was designed.

The school had the advantage of four years' experience; and on that account, as well as on account of the greatly improved quarters, this should have been its most successful year: and yet we are compelled to report, that, as a whole, it has been its most unsuccessful.

The friends of the enterprise cannot fail to discover, from the statistics, that the advantages afforded have been but indifferently improved.

It is true, there have been but two teachers; but, on at least one-half of the evenings, one teacher could easily have performed the duties, so slight has been the attendance.

That there is in this community a large number of persons who need the benefits of an evening school, cannot be denied; but it is equally certain, that the proportion of these very persons, who will, without continual personal pressing, perseveringly avail themselves of the privileges of such a school, is exceedingly small.

It is not pleasant to be the bearer of discouraging tidings ; but we find a slight relief, in closing this Report, by reminding the friends of this enterprise, that they have made a much more generous exertion in behalf of the unlettered, than has, at least the past winter, been appreciated.

CHARLES E. ABBOTT,

Report of Military Committee.

GENTLEMEN, — In compliance with the request made by your Board to the Military Committee, that some arrangement might be made by which the boys attending the schools of the town could receive instruction in military drill, I have to report : —

That all the boys over ten years of age were notified by their teachers, that, if their parents wished them to do so, they could report themselves to the Chairman of the Military Committee for instruction.

A sufficient number reported to form three classes, each as large as could be managed to advantage.

The first class was formed from those of the larger boys, who had already, by their own exertion, acquired some knowledge of military discipline.

The second class was formed from the larger boys, who had never received any instruction on this subject. These pupils were mostly from Mr. Abbott's school.

The third class was formed from the smaller boys, who had received no previous instruction. With the first and the third classes the experiment has been very successful ; but the attendance of the second class became so irregular and so small, that it was given up.

The advantage gained by this course of instruction, is, in my opinion, very great. The school system in the town of Brookline, I consider, is all that the citizens could desire, if the physical education of the pupil is properly attended to. Our drill is an aid to the parent in this respect. The boys in the older class can already be selected from their playmates by the improvement of their forms. Habits of prompt, instant, and unconditional obedience, are also more successfully inculcated by this system of instruction than by any other with which we are acquainted.

A perfect knowledge of the duties of a soldier can be taught to the boys during the time of their attendance at the public schools; thus obviating the necessity of this acquisition after the time of the pupil has become more valuable.

A proper system of military instruction in the schools of our Commonwealth would furnish us with the most perfect militia in the world; and I have very little doubt that the good sense of the people will soon arrange such a system in all the schools in the State. Meanwhile, gentlemen, I have the pleasure of congratulating you on having been the first to adopt a course which I believe will soon be universally followed.

With the earnest recommendation on my part, that the military instruction of the boys of the town should be continued through the ensuing year, I remain, gentlemen,

Very respectfully,

MOSES B. WILLIAMS,

Chairman Military Committee.

Of the Board of Trustees, and their Powers and Duties.

ARTICLE I. — There shall be a Board of Twelve Trustees, four of whom shall be elected by ballot annually, at the annual town-meeting, to hold office for three years thereafter, or until their successors shall be chosen, and qualified to act. The Trustees chosen at the annual meeting in the year 1860, shall, at their first regular meeting, divide themselves by lot into three classes. Those of the first class shall hold office until their successors shall be elected, at the annual town-meeting, in the year 1861; those of the second class shall hold office until their successors shall be elected, at the annual town-meeting, in the year 1862; and those of the third class shall hold office until their successors shall be elected, at the annual town-meeting, in the year 1863.

ART. II. — The officers of the Board of Trustees shall consist of a President, Secretary, Treasurer, and Librarian; all of whom shall be members of the Board, except the Secretary and Librarian, who may be appointed by the Board, at such compensation as they shall determine; the same to be paid from the appropriation for town-officers.

ART. III. — The Board of Trustees shall hold regular meetings on the third Tuesday of every month, except August.

ART. IV. — The President shall call a special meeting of the Board at the written request of any two members, provided such request shall state the object of the proposed meeting; and he may at any time call a special meeting, at his own discretion. All meetings shall be seasonably notified by the Secretary in writing.

ART. V. — The Standing Committee of the Board shall consist of three members each, and shall be as follows: viz., 1. The Committee on the Library; 2. The Committee on Accounts and Finances. And they shall at all times be under the control and direction of the Board.

It shall be the duty of the Committee on the Library, —

First, To recommend to the Board, from time to time, such books as it may be desirable to purchase or exchange.

Second, To make such purchases and exchanges of books as the Board may authorize.

Third, To direct in regard to the binding and covering of books, and their preparation for circulation.

Fourth, To determine, subject to the sanction of the Board, what books shall be used only for reference; and to impose such other restriction on the use of the books as in their judgment may be expedient, subject to the sanction aforesaid.

Fifth, Annually, in the month of February, to make an examination of the Library, and prepare, for the adoption of the Board, a report of the condition of the Library, to be presented to the town at the annual meeting.

Sixth, To see that the rules and regulations relative to the Library are complied with.

Seventh, To see that proper books and forms are prepared for the use of the Librarian.

Eighth, To superintend the preparation and printing of such catalogues of the books in the Library as the Board may direct.

Ninth, To have the general charge and direction of the Library-rooms.

It shall be the duty of the Committee on the Accounts and Finances,—

First, To examine all bills against the Library, and, if correct, to approve the same.

Second, To employ such means as they may deem best to obtain donations in money and books for the increase of the Library: all money thus received to be paid over to the Treasurer, and by him passed to the credit of the Library-fund, to be appropriated at the order of the Board.

ART. VI. — At the first regular meeting in April, the officers and Standing Committees of the Board shall be chosen by ballot; and they shall respectively continue to hold office till their successors are appointed. In case of any vacancy occurring during the year, it may be filled at any regular meeting.

ART. VII. — Four members of the Board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business; and any number more than one may adjourn a meeting, when a quorum is not present.

ART. VIII. — No book, pamphlet, work of art, or other object whatsoever, offered by any person to the Library, shall be accepted and placed therein, except by express vote of the Board, unless by direction of the town; and immediate notice of acceptance shall then be given to the donor, with a suitable acknowledgment.

ART. IX. — All books, pamphlets, and articles in the Public Library may be exchanged at any time at the discretion of the Trustees for the time being; provided, however, that books, pamphlets, and articles presented to the Library shall not be disposed of, except with the consent of the donor, or his or her oldest heir-at-law.

CHAPTER II.

Of the use of the Library.

ART. I. — Any inhabitant of the town of Brookline, who shall sign an obligation to observe all the existing Rules and Regulations of the Library and all that may be subsequently adopted, shall have free right to take books therefrom, so long as he or she shall comply with the same.

ART. II. — No person shall be allowed more than one volume, and no family of the same household shall be allowed more than three volumes, at any one time. Books may be kept out of the Library fourteen days only; provided always that any book may be renewed once to the same person, but not more than once, until it shall have remained in the Library one full Library-day. The fine for the retention of any volume over the time above specified shall be two cents for every day it is so retained. The provisions of this article are subject to the discretionary power conferred upon the Committee on the Library by art. 5, chap. 1.

ART. III. — Any book retained two weeks beyond the time prescribed by these regulations shall be sent for by the Librarian; and the expense incurred in obtaining it shall be paid by such delinquent.

ART. IV. — All injuries to books beyond a reasonable wear, and all losses, shall be made good to the satisfaction of the Committee on the Library by the person liable; and any book not returned within one week after demand made for it by the Librarian shall be regarded as lost. If any book be lost, the person for whose use it was taken out shall pay such a sum as the said Committee shall determine, or replace the book; or, if it be one of a set, he or she shall pay the price of the set, and take the remaining volumes, if the said Committee shall so determine.

ART. V. — All books are required to be returned to the Library fourteen days before the annual examination, under penalty of a fine of one dollar; but seasonable notice of the time shall be given by the Librarian.

ART. VI. — No person having a book from the Library shall lend it to a person not a member of the same household; and no person owing a fine or forfeiture shall receive books from the Library until the same is paid.

ART. VII. — Every person desiring to take books from the Library for home use shall receive from the Librarian a printed card, on which the book asked for shall be designated, also the number of the shelf on which it stands, in blanks left for the purpose; and this card, which will be presented to the Librarian as the only mode of obtaining any book which may be asked for, will be retained until the book shall be returned by the borrower.

ART. VIII. — Books of reference, and those deemed by the Board unsuitable for general circulation, shall not be lent, except by an order signed by at least two of the Trustees.

ART. IX. — All persons visiting the Library-rooms will be required to demean themselves quietly, and to avoid all unnecessary conversation in the rooms. Any person abusing the privileges of the Library by improper or offensive conduct will be denied admission to the rooms.

ART. X. — The Library rooms shall be open for the use and delivery of books at such times as the Committee of the Library shall designate, but not less frequently than on two afternoons and evenings of every week.

CHAPTER III.

Of the Librarian and his duties.

ART. I. — The Librarian, under the direction of the Committee on the Library, shall have the charge and superintendence of all the rooms of the Public Library, and shall be responsible for the due care and keeping of all the books and other public property contained in them.

ART. II. — He shall be present in the Library in person, or by an assistant, during such times as it may be open to the public; and perform all such duties, under the direction of the Board, as are usually incumbent upon a Librarian.

ART. III. — He shall arrange all the books on the shelves in an order convenient for use; and shall enter, in a record to be kept for that purpose, the time when each book was received; its cost, if purchased; the name of its donor, if given; and any other facts relating to it which the Board may direct: such record to be called the "Catalogue of Accessions."

ART. IV. — He shall prepare such catalogues, books, and forms as the Committee on the Library may direct.

ART. V. — He shall acknowledge all gifts to the Library as soon as they shall have been reported to the Board and accepted; first procuring the signature of the President to each acknowledgment he may make.

ART. VI. — He shall keep a careful record of all such books as are asked for and are not in the Library, and of the names of the persons asking for them; and exhibit the same to the Committee on the Library, whenever it shall be called for.

ART. VII. — He shall cause a book-plate to be securely fastened in each volume belonging to the Library, — noting on it the date of the book's reception; the name of the donor, if it be a gift; the number of the shelf on which it is kept; and the number it may bear on the Catalogue of Accessions.

ART. VIII. — He shall cause every volume, before it is delivered from the Library, to be neatly covered with suitable paper, and to have attached to it such Rules of the Library as are needful to be known by those who may use it; but he shall permit no book to be used or taken until it shall have been entered in the Catalogue of Accessions.

ART. IX. — He shall annually, at the discretion of the Committee on the Library, call in all books that are out, and prepare for examination the books and other property of the Library under his control; and shall, at the same time, make and present to the Committee on the Library a detailed report of its condition and increase during the year.

BROOKLINE, March 3, 1863.

SELECTMEN'S REPORT.

To the Citizens of the Town of Brookline.

THE Selectmen, Overseers of the Poor, and Surveyors of Highways, submit the following Report; viz.:—

POOR.

There has been but little change in this department since the last year; the expense being even less than for several years previous, very much to our satisfaction, as doubtless it is to our fellow-citizens. Owing, no doubt, to the mild weather during the autumn and winter months, there have been fewer calls upon the Board for relief or assistance than formerly: yet we have found it necessary to furnish a few with a little fuel and provisions to relieve their most pressing wants; and we think that the help thus rendered has been gratefully received, and has done much good. There are now six persons supported by the town, at an annual expense of about five hundred dollars.

HIGHWAYS.

In consequence of the appropriations for this department being very much less than formerly, the streets and ways of the town have not been kept in so complete a condition as would have been desirable. The town, however, has maintained its reputation for good roads; and the exceedingly unfavorable weather of the past fall and winter has proved that the work done on them heretofore has been thorough and complete.

Goddard Avenue has been made according to the order of the County Commissioners; and is now a public highway, leading from Cottage Street to Avon Street.

In pursuance of the vote of the town, the grade of Boylston Street has been changed near the westerly end of the Reservoir, and opposite the estates of Messrs. H. Lee, jun., and Francis K. Fisher. This is a great improvement of the street, and a benefit to the public.

Boylston Street, near the eastern end, is in an unfinished state. The owner of the land on the northerly side, being desirous to have the road filled out to the line established by the Commissioners, agrees to pay one-half of the expense of building a wall suitable for the place. The Selectmen would recommend that the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars, being one-half of the estimated cost of said wall, be appropriated for that purpose.

We would again, in this connection, call the attention of the citizens of the town to the subject of drainage and sewerage. Every year demonstrates the necessity of having some well-defined system adopted for the carrying-out of this object; so that, when the wants of any locality are such as to require action, the authorities may know what is to be done, and the work be carried forward systematically.

SIDE-WALKS AND DRAINS.

The appropriations for these were made to keep the side-walks and drains in repair: therefore only so much as was really necessary has been done to accomplish this object, and no new work in this department has been undertaken.

FIRE-DEPARTMENT.

Our firemen have kept up their reputation for efficiency and good conduct during the past year; and although there has been but little call for active service in the extinguishing of fires, yet we have all felt, that, had we needed them, they would have been prompt to exert all their energies in protecting our property from the devouring element. The town has a good supply of apparatus, which is in good order for service.

The appropriation for this department has been insufficient to defray the expenses incurred, and to keep a full and complete company for the discharge of the duties required of them. We would recommend that the town take some action to provide reservoirs in various parts of the town, to be located under the direction of the Selectmen, for the better protection of the property of the citizens.

POLICE.

The expenses of this department have been less the past year than for several years previous: but, in our opinion, it will be necessary to make such provisions for this purpose as shall secure the inhabitants against intrusion and annoyance from evil-disposed persons; and we deem it expedient for the town to appropriate the same amount for the ensuing year.

LIGHTING STREETS.

The appropriation for this department was insufficient for its expense, although the Gas-Light Company furnished the gas necessary for the lamps at a reduced price; yet, in order to reduce the expense to the appropriation, we discontinued lighting from the 1st of June until the 1st of September. There are now seventy-one lamps lighted with gas, and eleven lamps lighted with fluid: and, if the same number are kept lighted during the ensuing year, there will have to be larger appropriations for the same; as we have been notified by the Gas Company that they propose to increase the price for lighting.

MILITARY PURPOSES.

Several appropriations for this purpose have been made during the past season, amounting, in all, to the sum of forty-eight thousand dollars; which have been used in paying bounties and the expenses of enlistments, the details of which will be found in the Report of the Military Committee. We cannot, however, pass by this subject without expressing our thanks to the Military Committee, and to a large number of our fellow-citizens, for their valuable services in promoting and securing the enlistment of volunteers. A great amount of time has been spent and money contributed by our citizens, that we have no means of knowing. The ladies have done nobly in providing extra clothing, hospital-stores, and reading for the soldiers in camp and hospitals; and we can safely assert, that they have done cheerfully and well all they have undertaken in this respect, and are entitled to the heartfelt thanks, not only of the soldiers, but of the citizens of the town, for their patriotic benevolence. We also think that the town may well feel proud of those who represent her in the service of the Government.

There have been enlisted, in all, two hundred and forty-four men for three years, and eighty-three for nine months (three hundred and twenty-nine); and we think that we cannot do better than to give our fellow-citizens a complete list of all those who have enlisted from this town to serve their country; viz.:—

BROOKLINE, MASS., March 5, 1863.

REPORT OF THE MILITARY COMMITTEE.

THE Military Committee of Brookline beg leave to submit their Report:—

At a meeting of the citizens of the town, held April 22, 1861, the Military Committee was appointed "to take charge of all military arrangements which shall be made by the town;" and were "authorized to draw upon the Military Fund in such amount and at such times and for such uses as a majority of said Committee shall determine." It was also voted, that "the Military Fund be raised by a town-tax, and that a sum not less than fifteen thousand dollars be appropriated therefor; and to such fund shall be added all private contributions, to be expended for such purposes as may be indicated by the donors." It was also voted, "That there forthwith be opened a list of all male inhabitants of Brookline, above the age of seventeen years, who wish to be drilled for military service; and that the Military Committee be authorized to form the persons signing such lists into such corps as they may deem expedient for the public good."

On Monday evening, April 29, 1861, a legal town-meeting, duly notified, was held, and the above votes confirmed.

At suggestion of the Military Committee, the appropriation of fifteen thousand dollars was afterwards reduced to seventy-five hundred dollars. During the year 1861, the sum of four thousand dollars was drawn by the Committee.

Immediately after the organization of the Committee, the hall owned by Mr. J. Anson Guild was hired for use as a drill-hall and armory; and Capt. Edward A. Wild and Lieuts. Candler and Chandler commenced recruiting a company, which finally became Company A of First Regiment Massachusetts Volunteer Militia. The Committee appropriated five hundred dollars for use of the men in Company A; one hundred twenty-five dollars each to Capt. Wild, Lieuts. Candler and Chandler, for an outfit; and also furnished the officers with a camp-chest. Shirts, drawers, and stockings were also furnished to the company; the ladies of the town having procured and made the same, and sundry citizens having subscribed for cost of the materials.

In the month of May, Jacob Miller, late sergeant of artillery in the United-States Army, was engaged as armorer and drill-master; and, under the direction of the Chairman of the Military Committee, the citizens wishing to drill were formed into companies and squads for that purpose, and daily drills were held at the armory. During the year 1861, the drills were fully attended every evening, and various squads were drilled in the daytime.

By the courtesy of the New-England Guards, the town obtained the use of two field-pieces; and squads were formed for the purpose of artillery-drill.

In 1861, at request of the School Committee, the boys of the town-schools were drilled at the hall; and these drills continued during the year 1862.

Subsequently, the Committee, deeming it inexpedient to continue drilling boys under twelve years of age, and finding those older able to conduct their own drills, have left the matter entirely in their hands; and they have procured uniforms, a stand of arms, and equipments, and maintained a regular system of drill and discipline, very creditable to them, without drawing a single dollar from the Town Treasury.

In the month of February, 1862, the body of Herbert S. Barlow was interred in the Town Cemetery; and thus commenced the list of heroes of Brookline who fell in their country's cause.

In July, 1862, the President of the United States called for three hundred thousand men to form new regiments, and to recruit the old ones. On the 12th July, a meeting, called by the selectmen, was held, "to take into consideration what course it will be best for the town to take in enlisting its proportion of men, and to secure such enlistments as soon as possible." At this meeting, and a legal town-meeting held 19th July, 1862, it was voted to appropriate the sum of twelve thousand dollars for the purpose of paying bounties to volunteers, and for the relief of families of volunteers. On 2d August, 1862, the Committee voted, "That the Selectmen be requested to call a town-meeting, for the purpose of enabling the Committee to state what progress had been made in enlisting the quota of the town." On the 4th of August, the President of the United States issued a proclamation, stating that a draft for three hundred thousand men would be made on and after Aug. 15, and that the deficiency on the call for volunteers which may then exist must be drafted.

On the 9th of August, a town-meeting was held in answer to a call of several leading citizens. Hon. William H. Gardiner presided, and several patriotic speeches were made. The meeting voted, "That the Military Committee be instructed to fill up the quota of the town as soon as possible, and to offer a bounty of two hundred dollars for each recruit." Many persons came forward and enlisted before the meeting adjourned. For some weeks after, the armory was open night and day for the purpose of enlisting soldiers ; and the members of the Committee, and many of the citizens of the town who volunteered to assist the Committee, were constantly in attendance.

The Committee adopted the plan of enlisting only men for three-years' service, though the call of the President was for nine-months' men only. A large portion of the Tenth Massachusetts Battery was enlisted at this time ; and many of our fellow-citizens, who had been drilled in artillery practice by Sergeant Miller, joined this battery, and are now in the field.

The town afterwards appropriated the sum of thirty-two thousand dollars, and instructed the Committee to pay a bounty of two hundred dollars to each soldier enlisted for nine-months' service. Through the exertions of the Committee, and citizens assisting them, the town's quota was duly filled ; and a list of the names of two hundred and forty-six men enlisted for three-years' service, and eighty-three men enlisted for nine-months' service,—in all, three hundred and twenty-nine men,—accompanies the documents submitted with this Report.

In June, 1862, the Committee, finding that, owing to the large number of persons who had enlisted, and to other causes, there was no farther need of a drill-master, did not re-engage Sergeant Miller. Under Sergeant Miller's tuition, many officers, now serving with honor in the field, first learned the duties of a soldier. Soon after leaving our employ, Sergeant Miller commenced recruiting a battery of artillery, and left Boston a few weeks since in command of as fine a looking body of men, composing the Twelfth Massachusetts Battery, as any that have left ; and we confidently expect good accounts of the services to be rendered by him and his command in the field.

On 27th September, 1862, the Committee received a letter from Col. Thomas Aspinwall, enclosing the sum of three hundred eighty dollars twenty-nine cents ; being two-thirds of net proceeds of a lot of land belonging to Col. Aspinwall, "sold by auction for benefit of our soldiers engaged in the suppression of the present Rebellion ;" which sum has been handed over to the trustees of the Relief Fund established by subscriptions of citizens of the town. The Committee take much pleasure in communicating to their fellow-citizens this liberal act on the part of one of her native citizens, who, early in life, entered the service in defence of his country, and has, through a long life, ably and honorably represented his country in the great metropolis of the world, and in whose breast the fire of patriotism still burns with undiminished ardor.

Appended to this Report is a statement of receipts and expenses for the current year. The books of the Committee, and the necessary vouchers, too voluminous to be printed, as also the Quarter-master's Report, giving a list of the property belonging to the town, are passed over to the town-authorities.

Much valuable aid has been rendered to the Committee by many of their fellow-citizens, which the Committee take pleasure in acknowledging.

The Committee have cheerfully rendered their services to the town up to the present time; but, believing that the circumstances which required their organization have ceased to exist, they now respectfully tender their resignation, and beg to be discharged from farther duty. Knowing, however, that their resignation must throw upon the regular town-officers a great increase of labor in the distribution of the State aid and in other ways, they would venture to suggest that some action be taken to meet this exigency of extra labor.

The Library has met with a degree of success which its most sanguine friends had hardly dared to hope for it. Five years ago, it was opened to the public with about nine hundred volumes, occupying a single room: it now contains seven times as many volumes, and occupies three rooms. The town has appropriated each year for its maintenance and increase so much money as the statute-law would authorize; and individual citizens have exhibited commendable zeal in the welfare of the Library by contributing volumes to its shelves, and money for the purchase of other volumes. Several gentlemen also have generously offered to give to the town land for the erection of a new Library Building. If the increase of the Library, and the fostering care of the town for it, are in any degree a test of its success, so far, its success is no longer a matter of experiment. It has become a fixed and favorite institution of the town. But it has not been fostered simply: the Library has been and is largely used, as the statistics given above show. The number of volumes delivered has increased each succeeding year, and all classes from all parts of the town habitually take books. Many, too, have been drawn to the rooms of the Library by the feature added about a year ago; viz., the principal English and American reviews, magazines, and periodicals. In short, we believe the same sum of money is appropriated by the town to no object which yields a better return, or is more enjoyed, than that appropriated to the Public Library.

Respectfully submitted.

JOHN E. HORR, Librarian.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Term expires 1863.

At the commencement of the year, the Board was organized by the election of Rev. William Lamson, D.D., Chairman; and F. W. Prescott, Secretary.

The town will be called on to elect, at their March meeting, three members of the Board, to fill the places of Messrs. Salisbury, Francis, and Lamson, whose terms expire with the present year.

The following tables will show the condition of the schools at the present time:—

The High School, under the direction of its accomplished principal, has maintained its usual standard of excellence.

Miss Margaret S. Littell having resigned her position as one of the assistant teachers, the vacancy was filled by the appointment of Miss Abby Bartlett, a former pupil of the school, who has discharged her duties to the entire satisfaction of the Committee.

The Evening School for Adults, which for some time had seemed of doubtful utility, has been discontinued. The Committee feel satisfied that the appropriation formerly made for that purpose can be more judiciously expended in enlarging the usefulness of the other schools.

It is a matter of much regret that the study of music has been greatly interrupted during the past year by the continued indisposition of the teacher, Mr. Lincoln. The departments of Music and Drawing have been often commended in these Reports. It is a narrow and insufficient view which looks at them as mere accomplishments. They are valuable, not only as affording a needed relaxation from the tedium of continued study, but considered in respect to their moral influence: as affording in all after-years a refined enjoyment; as cultivating the habit of close observation of natural beauty, and thus bringing the mind into intimate communion with the purest sources of instruction,—they deserve to stand in the very first rank of educational influences.

The Committee are happy to be able to report, in general, a prosperous and satisfactory condition of the schools. Without claiming that our schools are in all respects perfect, and by no means wishing the town to remain satisfied with any degree of excellence to which the schools have yet been brought, they still feel that they may point with pride to what has been accomplished, as affording happy augury of what may yet be accomplished. There seems no good reason why, with a population of such a character as ours, and with resources so abundant, our schools should not compare favorably with any in the Commonwealth. The excellence of a school depends, more than on any thing else, on the zeal and capacity of the teacher. Shaped by his hand, the most unpromising material is sometimes made to produce the best results. We may congratulate ourselves on possessing a corps of teachers, all of whom are diligent and faithful, and some of whom possess certain marked and peculiar qualifications for their duties. Without designing to make any invidious distinctions, the Committee cannot refrain from expressing their hearty appreciation of the patient, affectionate, and untiring fidelity with which, in certain instances, where from various local causes the difficulties are very largely increased, the responsible duties devolving upon the teacher have been discharged. It is to be feared that the community at large does not appreciate this work that is done daily at our own doors. We all recognize the liberal charities, the prompt and wide-spread benevolence, that are so ready to remedy evils; but the unobtrusive watchfulness and care that prevent evils, we are not so apt to applaud. It is enough to say, that the influence of some of our teachers is an influence not confined to the schoolroom. Their duties sometimes take them to abodes where they meet with little sympathy or help; where they even encounter opposition; where, in some instances, they are brought in direct contact with the lowest vice. A school conducted successfully, in the face of such obstacles, is clothed with the moral dignity of the noblest philanthropic enterprise. The Committee are the more inclined to call attention to this subject, because they believe that here is furnished example of the only method by which a teacher can attain to eminent usefulness in his calling. He must be willing to go beyond the routine of his daily duties ; he must learn to look upon his profession as involving not alone the mechanical performance of certain tasks, but the consecration of a life ; he must strive to make his influence felt beyond the circle of his official labors : above all, he must feel that the child is not for the school, but the school for the child ; and must accustom himself to regard his pupil, not as part of a machine, but with personal interest and affection.

In discussing the prospective usefulness of our schools, there is one subject of great importance, for which the Committee wish to claim the immediate attention of the town. We refer to the urgent necessity that now exists for increased accommodation. With our continually increasing population, we have completely outstripped our present school arrangements. By next summer, the High School will have thirty scholars more than can be seated, on the present plan. This difficulty must be met by moving from the High-School building one of the Pierce Primary Schools, which has been allowed to occupy a room in the lower story ; but, in order to make this change, accommodation must, of course, be provided for the Primary School. The most proper and feasible way to accomplish this seems to be to extend the Pierce Primary-School building according to the original design. The structure, as it now stands, is only a single wing. A centre building is a part of the plan originally proposed. Such a building, if erected, would furnish ample accommodation for all present wants, and probably for a long time to come. To build it is simply to carry into effect a plan which the town has already adopted. The High-School building was erected for a High School ; and, after incurring so much outlay, to sacrifice the interests of the High School to a Primary School, as is now done, seems neither economical nor just.

But this want of increased accommodation is, if possible, still more urgently felt in the schools at Pearl Place. For the last six months, there have been one hundred and sixty scholars crowded into two rooms, which should never be allowed, at the utmost, to have more than one hundred. Owing to some fault in location or construction, the ventilation of the rooms, at the best, is difficult; and consequently, when crowded, as they now are, the atmosphere becomes, at times, almost intolerable. It is needless to say, that, with such a state of things, the usefulness of the school is very much impaired. No teacher, however faithful and zealous, can contend successfully with a crowded and ill-ventilated building. Her own energies are relaxed; her pupils are dull and listless; the exercises inevitably drag; and oftentimes, before the hours of instruction have expired, it becomes a positive martyrdom to remain in the schoolroom. The Committee feel assured, that if their fellow-citizens would take pains to visit certain of our schools, and spend a morning in listening to the exercises, especially on days when the windows cannot be kept open except at extreme risk of colds, they would ask no further evidence of our urgent need of increased accommodation. The necessity is, in fact, one that admits of no discussion. It must be immediately met.

The difficulties at Pearl Place may perhaps be best obviated in this manner:—

If a suitable building or room could be procured near the junction of Boylston and Walnut Streets, the pupils now struggling for accommodation in Pearl Place might be removed to it; and, at the same time, the school on Bradley's Hill be discontinued, and its pupils be distributed between the Heath-street Primary, the South Primary, and the proposed new school. Thus any increase of schools or teachers would be avoided; the dwellers on Bradley's Hill would gain a better school, as compensation for longer distance; and the town would be happily relieved from further maintaining a school, which, so far as its accommodations are concerned, would be a disgrace to the poorest school-district in the Commonwealth.

The Committee submit these suggestions with a conviction of the urgent necessity of some immediate action. They are aware that the pride of the town is more easily roused when schools of a higher grade are in question; they are aware, that, to some, it may seem of little moment how the Primary Schools shall be accommodated. But the Primary Schools are the foundation of the public-school system: they are its most vital and important part. If it should be necessary to sacrifice any part of the system, we could far better afford to do without the schools of higher grade. Only a portion of our children ever reach the Grammar Schools; only a much smaller portion ever reach the High School. Those who do, are, almost without exception, such as would enjoy ample opportunities for obtaining a thorough education, if such opportunities were not provided at the public expense. But the Primary Schools include all classes, and mostly such as would remain in comparative ignorance but for the liberal provision of the town. The Primary Schools touch the bone and sinew of the population. They afford the best exemplification of the working and value of our public-school system. They are not so attractive as the schools of higher grade; they are not calculated to awaken the same interest in the community at large: but they have a more solid use, and they even better deserve to be liberally cherished by the State. Every Primary School should be made not simply healthful and convenient, but, so far as possible, should be made cheerful and attractive. The young are easily affected by outward influences. Every thing in the schoolroom should awaken their love of neatness and order, and refine and elevate their character. An outlay of a few dollars is often sufficient to transform a schoolroom from a dreary and repulsive den into a bright and pleasant room, in which some of the dearest associations of childhood may be made to centre. The education of the young can never approach perfection till such joyous element is infused into the school-life, and the more refined and nobler instincts of the child's nature are awakened to some degree of spontaneous exercise.

While disposed to commend the general progress of the schools during the past year, the Committee are still sensible that considerable difference exists in different studies. The most successful department is mathematics. The recitations, both in written and mental arithmetic, show, in most cases, a degree of proficiency worthy of all praise. It may, however, be questioned, whether, after all, so much time and pains are well spent in acquiring a skill that can be useful only to an accountant. A knowledge of the fundamental rules of arithmetic should, of course, form a part of public-school training; but whether a study of the more abstruse principles is of advantage to most minds, may be seriously doubted. For some reason, this seems to be a favorite study with the teachers; and the text-books in this department have been brought to a higher degree of excellence than in any other. The text-books in arithmetic are, in fact, the only text-books in use in our common schools of which we have any reason to be proud. This may in part explain the fact, why this study is pursued with so much enthusiasm.

The studies which the Committee have to note as most deficient are those studies where the memory is called into play; where the tendency is very marked, of suffering the mere exercise of memory to take the place of a real intellectual apprehension. Of these studies, the most conspicuous and important is that of history.

When we consider that in our public schools the vast majority of our citizens receive their only training; that here they have the earliest shape given to their moral and political convictions; that at this period they are informed with the facts and events from which all their subsequent conclusions are derived; that here, if ever, they must be imbued with those general views, and be enriched with those lessons of past experience, on which will depend their just performance of their duties as members of the body politic, and without which they are not fit to exercise the rights of freemen, — surely the study of history will be viewed as second in importance to no other study.

When, further, we consider the nature of the study itself; when we reflect how manifold and striking are its lessons; how rich it is in illustrations that appeal by turn to every sensibility of our nature; how fitted it is, by the variety of these illustrations, to every class of minds; how powerfully it moves the imagination, the moral sense, the intellectual faculty, that delights to trace the relation of causes and effects; when we remember how well calculated it is to inspire an intelligent love of country, and how it gratifies that patriotic impulse so congenial to the young, — and what study can compare with this for interest? — what should excite such enthusiasm, both in pupil and instructor?

Yet, in point of fact, what study is so dry and profitless as this? What can be conceived of more tedious and lifeless than a recitation or examination in history in our public schools? Page after page is recited, word for word, from the text-book, usually with no indication on the part of the pupil that he is narrating events which ever possessed the least living interest for any human being. That history is, after all, but the story of men and women like ourselves; that the events were real events; that they should awaken in us admiration or abhorrence, sympathy or disgust; that the whole has any vital relation to our own life and duty, — are inferences that seem to be very seldom drawn.

The Committee are not disposed to throw the whole blame on the teachers for the miserable manner in which this noble study is so frequently slurred over. The text-books in this department are the poorest that we have. They are written with a dulness that surpasses all comprehension. The bloom and fragrance of history are crushed out, and the dry and withered leaves arranged in dreary compends for the pupil to commit to memory. Thus memory is the only faculty called into exercise; when history should be made to appeal to every faculty and emotion of the pupil's nature. Still, an enthusiastic teacher may do a good deal to redeem the study from the pernicious consequences resulting from miserable text-books.

Much has been said, recently, of the importance of military education in our public schools. In their last Report, the Committee commended this important subject to the notice of the town. While sensible as ever of its importance, the Committee feel that our public schools may be made, in another way, to conduce even more directly to the welfare of the State. Surely, in a free country, the political education of the citizen cannot be viewed as of less moment than his military education. If it be of vital consequence that he be trained to the use of arms, that he may defend his liberties, surely it cannot be of less consequence that he should be instructed in what those liberties consist. We are, therefore, of opinion, that the course of study in our public schools should be in such a way modified, as to give greater prominence to those moral and political studies which contribute to the education of the good citizen. Surely the schools which are supported by the State owe the State this return. Under a wise direction, our schools might thus be made the nurseries of that manly and intelligent public virtue which befits a people obeying a government of laws rather than a government of men. The maxim of Aristotle is as true now as ever, "that what contributes most to preserve the State is to educate children with reference to it."

The Committee have ventured to make these suggestions respecting political education, not so much because they anticipate any immediate movement in this direction, as to indicate the tendency which is showing itself among leading minds. With all the praises that have been lavished upon our public-school system, the true theory of public education is still imperfectly recognized among us. The system is clearly capable of accomplishing much more than it now does. The present dangers that threaten our national existence awaken new inquiries respecting the sources of enduring nationality. Those who view with anxiety the impending future — and who is there among us that does not ? — cannot but feel a deep interest in these inquiries. The problem that next presses for solution on those to whom is intrusted the direction of public schools, is the problem on which the free States of antiquity labored with such diligence, — how to render education more directly subservient to the welfare of the State. Those countries of the Old World which have given most attention to public education already recognize its significance in this respect. It remains to be seen, whether the method which has been applied with so much success, in Austria and Prussia, to the training of obedient subjects, may not be applied in this country with equal success to the training of intelligent and loyal citizens. Says a leading English writer on this subject (Mr. J. D. Morell), “ Much of the political education of a people is, of course, spontaneous. It is only gradually, and by the training of long experience, that nations acquire the power of self-government, and that the individual finds his own position, politically speaking, in the community. There are, however, many things of great importance to the citizen of a free country, which can and ought to be taught; the want of which, moreover, is fraught with serious evils both to the individual and the State. These are, the nature and functions of government; the obligation every man is under to yield a portion of his personal liberty to the public good; the duty of obeying all the just laws of the community; the nature and rights of property; the relation of capital to labor, and of the employer to the employed; the laws of the production of wealth, and the ethics of commerce. The want of some elementary knowledge on these matters naturally gives rise to sedition, conspiracy, and revolution, on the one hand; or to misery, pauperism, and consequent vice and degeneracy, on the other. Every child, therefore, should be trained to know and act upon the fundamental ideas of social economy and the primary duties of citizenship.”

All which is respectfully submitted.

BROOKLINE, Feb. 26, 1864.

SELECTMEN'S REPORT.

To the Citizens of the Town of Brookline.

THE following Report of the Selectmen, Overseers of the Poor, and Surveyors of Highways, is submitted; viz.:—

POOR.

There has been more expense in this department during the past year than was anticipated at the time of our last Report, in consequence of the sickness and death of Miss Harvey; the expense of which will be seen by reference to the Treasurer's Report. There has also been an increased expense of supporting those whom we have been assisting heretofore, owing to the advance in the prices of all kinds of provisions. There are now six persons supported by the town, at an annual expense of about five hundred and fifty dollars; and we are pleased to report, that the expenses of this department are no larger. There have been many calls from outside for relief; which, in some cases, we have deemed it best to supply.

HIGHWAYS.

The streets and ways of the town have been much improved during the year. The appropriation for the previous year having been much less than for several years previous, they had become very much out of repair; and, in order to get them up to their former standard, we were obliged to go to much greater expense than we otherwise should have done. Yet we do not see how less could have been done, and the streets and ways brought to and kept in their former excellent order. We think that good highways are a source of as much enjoyment and pleasure to all our citizens as any of our public institutions; and we hope that in no coming time will this part of our public expenditures be neglected.

Dudley Street has been made and graded through from Walnut to Warren Street, according to the vote of the town passed at the last annual meeting ; and is now a pleasant and convenient avenue to those residing in that section of the town, and those having to pass and re-pass from the northern and western to the eastern part of the town. In relation to the Milldam roads, we would add, that an order concerning the Milldam roads, and freeing the same from tolls, was introduced at the last session of the Legislature, and referred to the Committee on Roads and Bridges. This Committee notified the Selectmen of this town, as well as the authorities of the city of Boston and the towns of Brighton and Watertown ; and the Selectmen, in pursuance of the vote of the town in 1861, deemed it their duty to employ counsel, which they accordingly did. The first hearing before the Committee, subsequent to the retaining of counsel, took place on the 10th of March. At this and the subsequent hearings, the city of Roxbury appeared by their city solicitor, the town of Brighton by its selectmen and counsel, the town of Watertown by a committee, and the Boston and Roxbury Mill Corporation, the Boston Water-power Company, and the Commissioners on Public Lands. The hearings lasted through March 10, 11, and 13. On the 1st of April, the Committee, accompanied by the officers and counsel of the different municipalities and corporations, examined the Milldam, and the various roads connecting therewith, which now belong to the Commonwealth. On April 8, a further hearing was had before the Committee, and bills were submitted to them, embodying the views of the different municipalities within which the roads lay, with a view to their being freed from toll, and laid out and accepted as public ways. A bill was subsequently reported in the Senate, providing for the appointment of commissioners, and the distribution by them of $50,000 among the towns of Brookline, Brighton, and Watertown, and the city of Roxbury, upon the roads being laid out and accepted as town-ways. This bill, after being amended and fully debated through several stages, passed the Senate. When it reached the House, it was referred to the Finance Committee ; before whom another hearing was had, involving the whole questions at issue. This Committee reported that the bill ought to pass ; but, notwithstanding this report, the House rejected it on the 27th of April.

It is a singular circumstance, that every Committee which has thoroughly investigated this subject has come to the same result ; to wit, that the roads ought to be free, and that the Commonwealth ought to give the towns in which they lie a compensation to put them and keep them in repair. All the facts and arguments were produced before the Committee on Public Lands in 1861 ; before the Committee on Roads and Bridges, and the Committee on Finance, in 1863 ; and each Committee reported in favor of taking off the tolls. The only Committee reporting adversely to this view was the Judiciary Committee, in 1861; which heard no evidence, but only brief arguments upon the power of the Legislature to continue the tolls, in spite of the agreement to the contrary between the Commonwealth and the Boston and Roxbury Mill Corporation.

The subject has been again brought before the Legislature at its present session; but the Selectmen have not deemed it best to employ counsel, without further instructions from the town.

In 1859, the city of Boston procured from the Legislature an act (ch. 222, acts 1859) authorizing the laying of a third main pipe from the reservoir in Brookline. This act contained the proper provisions for the protection of the rights of Brookline and Roxbury, and for the payment of damages to all persons injured. The city of Boston, dissatisfied with some provisions of the act, did not accept it, but proceeded to make a private arrangement with the Boston and Roxbury Mill Corporation, but without the consent of the Commonwealth; under which a new main pipe was laid in the Punch-bowl Road and the Milldam, the fee of which roads was in the Commonwealth. A deed has now been made from the Commissioners on Public Lands to the city of Boston, by which the Commonwealth "doth give, grant, alien, and convey unto the city of Boston the right, easement, and privilege of maintaining its water-pipe in the Milldam and other lands of the Commonwealth, in and near the said city of Boston;" but this instrument contains no provisions guarding the rights of Brookline or Roxbury, or of the land-owners on the line of the water-pipe.

The deed is now before the Legislature for its approval, in accordance with the provisions of chapter ninety-five of the Resolves of 1863, which was drafted by the counsel employed by the Selectmen. This deed, if approved, must seriously affect the rights of the town, if it should become liable to maintain and support the Milldam and Punch-bowl roads, now belonging to the Commonwealth.

SIDEWALKS AND DRAINS.

A new sidewalk has been made on Brighton Street, a portion of the way between Boylston Street and the Brighton-street Station-house; which is the only portion of new work done in this department. The rest of the sidewalks in town have been repaired, and kept in good order.

There has been a new and large drain laid from Walnut Street through Elm Street, and across Washington Street and Boylston Streets at their junction, thence leading into the brook near the railroad station ; and, thus far, has answered all our expectations of draining the great flow of water from Walnut Street, which has heretofore caused much trouble and inconvenience. We have purchased a right of way from Philip Duffey, and laid a drain through his estate to the brook, to drain Boylston Street near its junction with Washington Street, and also purchased a right of way to drain from Boylston Street through Kerrigan's Avenue to the brook ; which will afford facilities for draining the street in that vicinity very much needed. In consequence of these improvements, the appropriation has been overdrawn ; yet we did not deem it expedient to defer them, as the opportunities for their accomplishment might not occur again very soon.

We would call the attention of the citizens to the subject of sewerage and drainage ; yet we have done it so often, and no action been taken, that it possibly does not seem of so much importance to them as it does to us. But when we look back, and see how much might have been saved to the town, both in money and trouble, if some well or even ordinary defined system of drainage had been established, we venture to suggest the subject again, and think we should be remiss if we did not.

FIRE-DEPARTMENT.

There has been but little active duty for our firemen in our own limits during the year, for which we should be truly thankful : yet they have maintained their reputation for promptness and energy ; and, if occasion had required, we feel that they would have responded with their usual zeal and energy.

Owing to extensive repairs having to be made on the engine, the appropriation for this department was not sufficient to meet the expenses.

POLICE.

It has been necessary during the past year, in order to protect the property of our citizens and to preserve the peace of the community, to have a police on duty a portion of the Sundays, and a part of the nights ; and, by taking those precautionary measures, no serious damage has been done, nor disturbance taken place. Those intrusted with the performance of the above duty have performed it faithfully, and to the promotion of order and the public good.

MILITARY PURPOSES.

Under this appropriation, State aid has been furnished to a large number of individuals (as per Treasurer's Report), and, as such, was but a just earnest to the families and dependants of our gallant soldiers; but much has been added by private contributions, that we cannot give any particular account of. We would also say, in this connection, that the ladies of the town, also, have responded nobly in providing and furnishing articles of comfort to our sick and wounded soldiers in the hospitals and camp, and in aid of the Sanitary Commission, as well as for all other calls upon them for aid in the cause of suffering humanity; and great would be their reward, could they but know how many wants have been supplied, anxieties relieved, and sorrowing hearts made glad, by their patriotic beneficence.

STATE AID AND RECRUITING PURPOSES.

This appropriation was made November the 27th, 1863, to enable the Selectmen to enlist and fill the town's quota of men, under the call of the President, made on the 17th of October last, for three hundred thousand men to fill up the ranks of the regiments now in the field; the number for this town to furnish being seventy-two men. Agreeably to the expression of the citizens at that meeting, we at once opened a recruiting-office in one of the rooms occupied by the town in Guild's Block, and continued to enlist men as they could be obtained under that call, until there were enlisted and put into camp, and receipts taken for, seventy-five men, agreeably to General Order Number Thirty-two, besides two men credited to this town, who had enlisted previously; making, in all, seventy-seven men. We then closed for a few days, when again the summons came for more men; the additional number for this town being forty-eight,—making, in all, one hundred and twenty men. We accordingly commenced our labors again, and have enlisted, up to the present time, ninety-three men. We have had but about eight re-enlistments that we have heard from thus far. We feel, that, although willing and ready to do all and even more than our share in contributing to suppress the Rebellion, we have been called upon for more than our proportion of men; which, we think, will be shown by the following statements.

By an enrolment of this town made by the Assessors in August, 1861, they obtained six hundred and sixty-seven names of males between the ages of eighteen and forty-five, a large number of whom were physically unfit for service, and many aliens (of the latter, about one hundred); and we have no doubt, that, of those remaining, not more than two-thirds would pass a surgeon's examination for military duty; which would leave us only about three hundred and seventy-eight men to depend upon. We also find, by the enrolment made by order of the Provost-Marshall for the Third Massachusetts District in June last, including the first and second classes, the whole number was eight hundred and sixty. At the draft made in July last, one hundred and forty-four persons were selected from whom to obtain the number requisite to fill the town's quota of ninety-six men. Of those so selected (and we think that they were a fair average), only twenty-eight were held to service; the remainder being aliens, and persons physically unfit for military duty. If we take the United-States enrolment and draft as a basis, we find that it gives us nineteen and four-ninths per centum. Allow it to be twenty per centum, and it leaves us only one hundred and seventy-two men fit for military duty.

The town has furnished thus far to the army four hundred and twenty-four men, — six substitutes for drafted men, twenty drafted men who paid the commutation-fee, eight re-enlistments, thirteen to the navy, besides several who have enlisted on the quotas of other towns, and some who are serving as officers in the army, as also one enlisted on our quota, and not mentioned in our Report of last year. The following is a list of the names of those who have enlisted under the last two calls, as also of those who were drafted, served in person, furnished substitutes, or paid commutation; viz.: —

Making a total of four hundred and sixty-eight men; which, we think, is a good record for this town.

Many of our brave men have fallen in the field, sealing with their blood their devotion to the Union cause. Many have suffered from wounds, and bear honorable scars received in their country's service. To all of them we owe a debt of deep and lasting gratitude, and of heart-felt sympathy with those who sorrow for their loved ones, who have fallen while bravely doing their duty.

LIGHTING STREETS.

All the street lamps have been lighted during the past year. It was proposed to discontinue the lighting them during the summer months; but a petition of the citizens, numerously signed, was presented to the Board, requesting that the lighting be continued through the year. Accordingly, the lighting has been continued. If the same number is to be lighted the next year, it will be necessary to make a larger appropriation for that purpose.

An examination of the guide-posts and boards has been made ; and, with a few exceptions, they are all in good order ; and measures have been taken to replace and establish all that are dilapidated or destroyed.

All which is respectfully submitted.

BROOKLINE, March 1, 1864.

TRUSTEES' REPORT OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

To the Citizens of the Town of Brookline.

THE Trustees of the Public Library respectfully present the following Annual Report of the condition of the Library, in accordance with the Rules and Regulations adopted by the Town.

They have great satisfaction in being able again to assure the citizens of the town of the unabated success and usefulness of the Library. The following statement shows the increase of books in each year since the establishment of the Library. It was opened to the public Dec. 2, 1857, in a room taken off from the lower hall in the Town House. The books, numbering a thousand, filled about one-half of the space of five alcoves.

Year.	Volumes.	Year.	Volumes.
1857	1,000	1861	4,751
1858	2,137	1862	5,360
1859	2,856	1863	6,239
1860	4,118	1864	6,817

Since the Library was first opened, two additional rooms have been fitted up for its accommodation ; so that it now occupies thirty-seven alcoves which are entirely filled, and two alcoves which are about two-thirds full. No further space can be devoted to the Library in its present location, without encroaching upon rooms necessarily occupied by the various boards of town-officers. As the ratio of increase in the number of books has thus far proved regular, and it is not probable that it will abate, it must be evident that a building devoted to the Library must before long be provided to meet the rapidly increasing wants of this favorite institution. We earnestly commend this subject to the consideration of the town.

The following statement will show how extensively the Library is used by the inhabitants :—

Philbrick, Esq., Edward Pope, Redwood Library, J. H. Shedd, Esq., George D. Sohler, Esq., and S. F. Whitney, Esq.

The Library is in a highly satisfactory condition. The results of the last year, as shown in the foregoing statistics, have been very gratifying to its friends. A large number of volumes have been added by purchase and gift; and the continuous and largely increasing use of the Library attests the regard in which it is held by the citizens. During no previous year have so many volumes been delivered; and the consultation of books, and the reading of reviews, magazines, and papers, at the rooms of the Library, have far surpassed such use in any preceding year. The rooms are frequented by the citizens of every class and age from all parts of the town. Indeed, with the present accommodations, it would seem that the privileges could hardly be extended or more fully enjoyed, unless the Library be opened to the public more frequently, or unless the volumes most called for be multiplied. The former course may be practicable: the latter would be of questionable wisdom.

We do not think it extravagant language to say, that the town now possesses a library, in respect to which it may feel some degree of just pride. We do not presume to intimate, that a library which has been established but six years, and contains but seven thousand volumes, is comparable in value with a library of fifty thousand volumes judiciously selected; nor do we mean to say it is all it ought to be, nor all that we confidently hope and expect it will become: but we do say, that, in proportion to its number of volumes, there are few libraries which meet more directly the wants of a reading public. Our Library contains a large number of useful works on theoretical, practical, and applied science of recent date; a few works on similar subjects of more ancient standing, but of high character; also many works on topography, geography, and travels; works on every department of natural history; a large number of works on civil history and biography; a store of English literature; and some of the best translations from the ancient classics; the best dictionaries, atlases, and encyclopædias; also a careful selection of books particularly adapted to the youth.

Among the current publications regularly received at the Library are the following: "American Publisher's Circular," "Army and Navy Journal," "Atlantic Monthly," "Blackwood's Magazine," "Continental Monthly," "Cornhill Magazine," "Edinburgh Review," "Harpers' Monthly," "Hunt's Merchants' Magazine," "Intellectual Observer," "London Illustrated News," "London Punch," "London Quarterly Review," "Macmillan's Magazine," "National Review," "New-Jerusalem Magazine," "North-American Review," "North British Review," "Popular Science Review," "Scientific American," "Temple Bar," and "Westminster Review." There are also furnished by the citizens complete files of the "Boston Daily Advertiser," "Boston Daily Courier," and the "Boston Post."

Such a Library is an honor to the town, and a source of rational entertainment and of never-failing instruction to the citizens. The 17,575 volumes which have been taken from the Library during the last year cannot have been read without producing a large influence, and that mainly on the side of good. The aggregate intelligence of the town is greater, to say nothing of the pleasure afforded by the entertainment.

A Library, of whose privileges the citizens so generally and so eagerly avail themselves, we believe still deserves, as it has already received, the fostering and jealous care of the town. But we seriously submit to you the question, whether the town should much longer keep it in this hall; whether, indeed, it can afford to keep it in a wooden building, so liable to be burned as is this. There are some books here, which, if destroyed, money could hardly replace. A neat fire-proof building, which should be an ornament to the town, and which should identify the Library as distinct from any other building, would also enlist still further the interest and pride of the citizens. If the town possessed such a building, we have good reason for believing that there are those who would make handsome donations of books and money, which they are now unwilling to give, apprehending, as they do, the danger of their destruction by fire. And allow me to suggest, that there is already in the care of the town a very considerable sum of money, which perhaps could be appropriated to the Library or to a Library Building. In 1743, a citizen left to the town a legacy for educational purposes, which, in 1845, was taken from the trustees of the legacy by the town, and expended on the Town Hall, as there were to be two schoolrooms in the building. Would not the town honor the generosity and desires of the testator by appropriating this legacy to the erection of a Library Building, thereby connecting his name with the Library? It may be, too, if some action with reference to a Library Building be publicly initiated, that some of the wealthy and generous citizens would take pleasure in promoting with their aid the progress of an institution, which not only promises immediate and continual results to the town, but also, in all probability, would be as permanent as the town itself. Suffice it to say, the town needs more and safer accommodations for the Library.

Respectfully submitted.

THE Board of School Committee of the Town of Brookline respectfully submit the following Report:—

At the commencement of the year, the Board organized by the election of Rev. William Lamson, D.D., Chairman; and F. W. Prescott, Secretary.

The town will be called upon to elect, at their March meeting, three members of the Board, to fill the places of Messrs. Parsons, Prescott, and Diman, whose term of service expires with the present fiscal year.

Before proceeding to the discussion of the present condition of our schools, we beg to quote and adopt from the Report of a former Committee the following remarks:—

“In previous Reports, occasion has sometimes been taken to distribute encomiums among teachers, or, in particular instances, to withhold them; to criticise the several schools with more or less particularity; not unfrequently to institute comparisons between different schools by implication; and thus to reveal to the public eye those things in each school which were worthy either of special commendation or censure. This course is sometimes necessary, and, undoubtedly, has its advantages; but it has also its disadvantages. If it be adopted, it is not always possible to avoid doing silent injustice, to say no more. Different teachers encounter different embarrassments in the discharge of their duty. They have various excellences and faults: with the best intentions, they make errors. No one school or teacher can be rigidly and fairly tried by another. A sensitive mind may be wounded even by an accidental omission, as truly as by an unfavorable notice.

“Against this danger, the present Committee need take no precautions in the submission of their Report. They can bear their testimony at the outset most cordially to the ability and fidelity of the teachers in general. They commend warmly the excellences, which are not few, and which are obvious in all. They are not blind to individual deficiencies. These, they believe, may be corrected by admonition or other measures in private, which is better than by giving them publicity and permanence.”

Acting upon these suggestions, we shall not criticise the character of the schools individually as much as has sometimes been the custom.

The following tables will show the statistics of the schools at the present time:—

It will be seen, that, during the past year, there have been under the supervision of the Board sixteen schools; viz., twelve primary schools, one intermediate, three grammar-schools, and one high school.

At the time of offering our last Report, it was known that arrangements must be made for affording further accommodation for the schools in Pearl Place; and we so stated at that time. These arrangements were so far carried out, that, during the summer vacation, the schoolhouse was moved from Pearl Place to a very eligible position on the Ward Farm, and another wing added, containing two well-ventilated rooms, which will probably afford sufficient accommodation for some years to come. We have thus been enabled to dispense with the school on Bradley's Hill. This change is undoubtedly an important one. When the schoolhouse was built in Pearl Place, the neighborhood was not nearly as thickly settled as at the present time; and though the building was in a low, flat, and somewhat damp situation, yet there was a tolerable room for the circulation of air around it: but, of late, the neighborhood had become so crowded, that it was a very unsuitable place for a schoolhouse. The school was, moreover, constantly liable to interruptions and improper intrusions.

The present position is entirely away from all evil influences ; is pleasant, airy, and salubrious ; and not likely for many years to be intruded upon. The name of schools has been changed from " Pearl Place " to " Ward " schools.

We also called attention in our last Report to the fact, that the High School was becoming so crowded, that it would be necessary to remove from that schoolhouse the Pierce Primary School, which had been permitted to occupy temporarily a part of its lower floor ; and, in order to this removal, that it would be further necessary to carry out another portion of the original plan of the Pierce Primary Schoolhouse by putting up the main building, in addition to the one wing which alone was first erected. This has given us two good rooms ; for only one of which is there necessity at present. The plan of the Pierce Primary Schoolhouse contemplates still another wing, which will not probably be needed for a year or two. The crowded condition of the High School is thus relieved, and the Pierce Primary School much more pleasantly provided for than it was formerly.

A petition has been presented to the Board from the inhabitants of Longwood, asking for a primary school in that part of the town. We are satisfied that such a school is called for, and would recommend that the town take steps to afford the accommodation.

Several changes have taken place among our teachers. Some have been lost to us ; and one, at least, whose loss it will be very difficult to make good. In August last, Mr. Whitney resigned from the High School, and Miss Churchill from the Harvard-street Primary School. These losses have been supplied ; and, as we have good reason to hope, we have been fortunate enough to obtain valuable successors. Miss Goldsmith, who has been long favorably known as teacher of the Newton-street School, has been obliged by ill health to resign her position ; and Miss Rogers has been appointed her successor. She has not been long in the school ; but we have great hopes that she will prove a valuable teacher. Finally, Mrs. Head, formerly a most efficient teacher in the Harvard-street School, and more lately teacher of the Ward Intermediate School, has sent in her resignation. Such has been the refining and elevating influence of her presence in the school, where she has been unwearied in her exertions for the moral as well as intellectual improvement of her pupils, that we cannot but feel that it will be exceedingly difficult to fill her place.

PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

The existing By-laws provide no regular course of instructions for the Primary Schools, except so far as they state in general terms the amount to be accomplished before entering the Grammar-schools. Last September, a Special Committee was appointed to inquire into the condition of the Primary Schools, and to report a uniform plan of study. This Committee found the schools differently divided into from five to seven classes. They reported, moreover, that the prominence given to arithmetic had caused the important branches of reading and spelling to be greatly neglected. They reported a uniform plan of study, which divides the course into five classes, and defines distinctly what is to be accomplished each year. This plan reduces somewhat the requirements in arithmetic, with a corresponding increase of the requirements in reading and spelling. It has already been introduced into the schools, and will be printed in the revised copy of the By-laws which will soon be issued.

GRAMMAR-SCHOOLS.

Of these, the largest, and therefore most important, is the Pierce School.

The resignation of Miss Wheeler makes a vacancy in this school, which the Committee are using their utmost exertions to fill in a manner which shall be conducive to the best interests of the school.

The Heath-street Grammar and Ward Schools are about as heretofore.

HIGH-SCHOOL.

The High School, with a full corps of teachers, and with larger and more convenient recitation-rooms than heretofore, is better prepared than it has been to carry out the plans originally made for its conduct. In its teachers we have entire confidence; and we have no hesitation in saying, that the school fully maintains its high position.

MUSIC AND DRAWING.

The instruction in these interesting and refining accomplishments has progressed favorably during the past year. In our last Report, we expressed our regret that the study of music had been much interrupted by the continued ill health of the teacher, Mr. Lincoln. This misfortune, we are happy to state, has, during the past year, been done away. Mr. Lincoln has returned to his duties with renewed health, regularity, and vigor, and, of course, with renewed success. When Mr. Lincoln's health admits of his devoting his usual energies to teaching, his peculiar faculty of arousing, interesting, and instructing large classes of young people must produce its legitimate effect.

PHYSICAL INSTRUCTION AND DRILL.

Although not prepared to offer any suggestions in this connection at this time, yet we do not like to pass over in silence a subject which we have so often urged upon the attention of our fellow-citizens; being fully convinced that a proper combination of physical and mental instruction, even with only the same number of hours devoted to both as are now given to the latter alone, would produce a much higher and more available condition of mental culture than can be produced by the present system of forcing the mental powers to the neglect of the physical. Making no argument on the points, that the present unfortunate condition of our country requires that every citizen should receive such military education as may fit him to answer promptly and efficiently his country's call, and that at no time can such education be so easily, so quickly, so economically, and so advantageously acquired as in youth, we are satisfied, that, for mere school-purposes, the military drill is the best form of physical instruction, because of the habits of manly deportment, watchful attention, and prompt obedience, which it produces. We have reason to expect, that, before the close of the present session, our Legislature will give us a plan for military instruction in all the schools of the State; and, if the result should justify our expectations, it will be a source of proper pride, that one of the strongest evidences of the feasibility of such a plan was given to the Legislature by a corps of Brookline boys, who, almost unaided, had made themselves one among the best drilled companies of any age in the State.

In conclusion, the Board are happy to report that the schools continue in a prosperous condition. But, in this age of rapid advancement, merely to continue in good condition, or not to improve as fast as our neighbors, is to retrograde. When we find we have faithful teachers, who have been with us long enough to learn the peculiar wants of their neighborhood, the strong and weak points of their schools; who have gained the confidence of the community by their fidelity, their earnestness, their tact in teaching, — it is our duty to retain such as jewels, which, once lost, cannot without great expense be replaced. We should cherish them, and teach them to feel that their value is appreciated, and that we would not willingly let them go from among us.

We have such teachers. Have we done our entire duty by them as we expect them to do theirs by us? In these times of enormously increased expense of living, to give our teachers merely what we agreed to give them in other times, and when their expenses were so entirely different from what we know them to be now, is to punish instead of rewarding them for the faithful performance of their duties.

Such has been the increased expense of living, that many of the teachers, who were satisfied with the salaries which they received before the commencement of this unhappy war, are now straitened for the means of living decently; and it becomes us to make such provisions as shall at least be an approximation to their former pay.

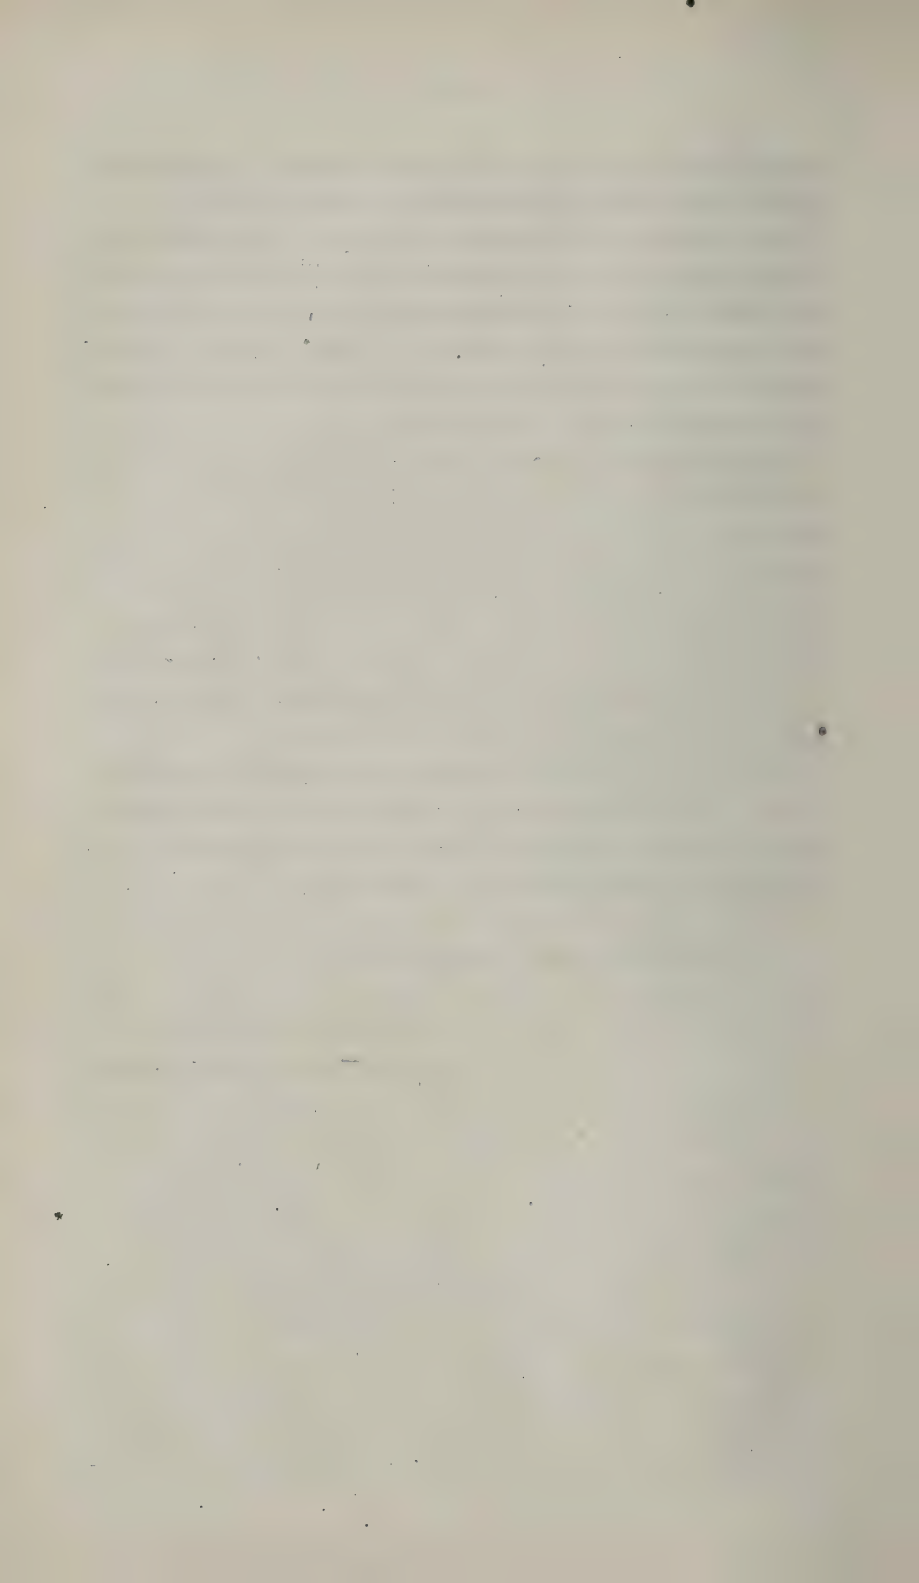

It may be argued that the taxes caused by this war are onerous, and that the town cannot afford at this time to be generous; but we can at all times afford to be just. It would, moreover, be the very worst possible economy to let these go elsewhere to seek a living, while we give the same amount to inferior teachers, or are obliged to give a much larger amount to teachers, who, if originally equally well qualified, must spend years in obtaining the local experience which enables our present teachers to be all that we require.

In view of these considerations, and numerous others which readily present themselves, the Board cannot doubt that the town will give us such an appropriation as will enable us to increase the salaries of most of our teachers.

All which is respectfully submitted.

F. W. PRESCOTT, SECRETARY,

For the Board of School Committee.

BROOKLINE, Feb. 24, 1865.

SELECTMEN'S REPORT.

To the Citizens of the Town of Brookline.

POOR.

THE expenses of this department have been kept within the appropriation during the past year; yet we can hardly hope to do it for a like sum the year to come. There are now six persons supported by the town, at an annual expense of about seven hundred dollars.

HIGHWAYS.

The streets and ways of the town have been kept in their usual repair during the past year; but as the subject of the highways is in the hands of a Committee appointed for that purpose, we have no doubt but what they will give the citizens their views in full, in relation thereto.

POLICE.

The police have done good service in the town during the past year, and have added greatly to its quiet and security.

FIRE-DEPARTMENT.

We are happy to record, that, although there have been many alarms of fire during the past year, there has been no serious damage, except in the burning of Mr. Banks's barn on Chestnut Street, and Mr. Cusick's house on Washington Street. In the latter case we feel that the town is under great obligations to the firemen, who, by their activity and promptness, prevented a wide-spread conflagration; and, in every instance, we feel that they have done all that they possibly could under the circumstances, and, that in accordance with their motto, their, "aim is the public good."

MILITARY AND RECRUITING.

After vainly endeavoring to find how we were situated in relation to our military quotas and credits, with but poor success, we finally, on the 16th of May last, ascertained that this town was deficient, on all calls, fifty-three men, for which a draft was made by the District Provost-Marshal; but as we had already procured and put in sixty-five men, which were subsequently credited, the men that were drafted were notified that they would not be called for. We also procured and had placed to our credit two hundred and seventy-five men, which, with the substitutes placed to our credit, made a total of three hundred and forty-seven men on the call in July last for five hundred thousand men. The quota to be furnished by this town was ninety-eight, on which we furnished three-years-men; but, as that call was for only one year, we claim that the United States should allow us for the amount of military strength furnished in excess of that call, which was equal to one hundred and ninety-six men for one year. Our present military position may be expressed as follows:—

May 16. — Due United States on the calls of February and March, 1864, fifty-three men: on call of July last (for one year's men) ninety-eight, making a total of one hundred fifty-one men; which, deduct from our credits of three hundred and forty-seven leaves us a surplus of one hundred and ninety-six three-years' men, besides the surplus strength furnished on the July call, which is equal to one hundred and ninety-six men for one year.

This town has furnished to the government, since the breaking out of the present rebellion, eight hundred and eighty officers and men in all departments of the service; and at no time has there been in the town over five hundred persons liable to do military duty; and of those we very much doubt, if over three hundred would pass the examination of a surgeon as fit for military service.

The United-States enrolment of this town has been carefully revised, and reduced nearly to its proper numbers; so that, in future calls, we feel that our quotas will be more equitable than heretofore.

We cannot close this article without referring with deep regret to the many brave men from this town, who have fallen in this fearful struggle for our nation's existence: gladly would we speak of them as they deserve, if it were in our power; but it is not. Their names should be inscribed high on the scroll of fame, and held in grateful remembrance by all future generations. We can only say to their bereaved friends, that they have our heartfelt sympathy in this their sorrow; and we, in behalf of the town and their fellow-citizens, gratefully tender our thanks to those who have returned to us, who have survived the fearful ordeal through which they have passed, in discharge of their duty to our common country; and to all who are now in the front, engaged in defence of law and good government.

PURCHASING LAND AND ERECTING SCHOOLHOUSES.

Under this appropriation, we have purchased an eligible lot on Newton Street, on which to erect a new, or enlarge the present schoolhouse; which, — owing to the great expense of building, and the present room not being more than two-thirds filled with scholars, — we did not feel justified in undertaking the present year. A lot has been procured in a good location in Longwood, on which we have erected a substantial and commodious building, suitable for a primary and grammar school. The plan of said building is such, that it can be easily enlarged whenever it shall become necessary to meet the increasing wants of the inhabitants in that vicinity. Through the liberality of the Hon. David Sears, of Boston, who is the owner of much real estate in the vicinity of the schoolhouse, we were enabled to secure the present location; he having generously donated a large part of the present lot for school purposes.

LIGHTING TOWN BUILDINGS AND STREETS.

The appropriation for this department has been insufficient to meet its expense during the past year. The Gas Company have notified us that they shall increase the price per lamp to thirty dollars a year; which, with the lamps on Beacon Street, which has to be lighted with oil, will largely increase the expenses of this department.

The guide-posts and boards are in good order, in all places where they are required by law to be maintained by the town.

EIGHTH ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

TRUSTEES OF THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

To the Inhabitants of the Town of Brookline.

THE Trustees of the Public Library respectfully present the following Eighth Annual Report of the condition of the Library, in accordance with the Rules and Regulations adopted by the Town.

It gives the Trustees great pleasure to be able again to assure the citizens of the town of the continued success and increasing usefulness of the Library. First opened to the public in December, 1857, in one of the present rooms, with about one thousand volumes, half filling five alcoves, it now occupies four rooms and numbers seven thousand five hundred and twenty volumes, filling entirely thirty-nine alcoves.

The following are the statistics of the past year, 1864-5:—

Number of volumes belonging to the Library	7,520
Number added during the last year	703
Number added by purchase	350
Number added by donation	353
Number of pamphlets added	479
Number of volumes delivered	19,206
Number of individuals taking books, about	1,100

The following statement shows the condition of the Library, and its rate of increase in each year since its commencement:—

Year.	Volumes.	Year.	Volumes.
1857	1,000	1862	5,360
1858	2,137	1863	6,239
1859	2,856	1864	6,817
1860	4,118	1865	7,520
1861	4,751

The following statement exhibits the constant increase from year to year in the use made of the Library by the inhabitants:—

Year.	Number of books taken out.	Year.	Number of books taken out.
1858	2,000	1862	15,005
1859	no return.	1863	17,575

At the beginning of the concluding year, the Library occupied three rooms; but it was soon evident that additional accommodations were greatly needed. By the kindness of the School Committee, the Trustees were allowed to open a communication between the room used by that Committee for their meetings, and the rooms then devoted to the Library. This new room has been fitted up with shelves, which are already partly filled. The School Committee will continue to use the room for their meetings; but as they need it but infrequently, the inconvenience arising from its occupation for a double purpose will not be seriously felt.

It is, however, the duty of the Trustees to inform the citizens of the town, that it is impossible to devote any further space to the Library in the present Town House. The only rooms on the ground floor not already used for the Library, viz., the Selectmen's and Town Clerk's rooms, cannot be used for that purpose while they are occupied by those officers. And, as the Library is steadily increasing both in numbers and in value, it is manifest that the necessity of a fire-proof building, sufficient for the accommodation of the books and of the reading public, is fast becoming urgent, if not imperative.

There are other reasons why such a building should be erected as soon as possible. First. The erection of a handsome durable structure, in which valuable books would be safe, and in which the public could read them with convenience and comfort, would, it is believed, greatly stimulate donations and bequests. It is a matter of surprise to the Trustees, that so many citizens have been induced to make valuable gifts to the Library, when it must be known that in a wooden building, closely surrounded, as the Town House is, by wooden dwelling houses, a few moments might reduce both building and books to ashes.

Second. The Library can never fully answer the end its projectors had in view, until it can be open every week-day and evening, and until it can afford at least two large reading-rooms for the use of those who have no proper apartment of their own for reading, or who wish to consult a greater number of books than it would be convenient to take to their homes. Such conveniences as these are the more necessary in a town like this, since it affords within itself so little of that recreation for the youth of both sexes, which is so necessary to the heathful development both of mind and heart. And it cannot be doubted, that if rooms well lighted, warmed, and ventilated, were open at least every week-day evening for readers of both sexes, a sensible improvement would soon be marked in the morals and manners of that large number of persons who have no room of their own in which to read, if they would, but who would be attracted by the conveniences of a public room in which they had equal rights with all other well-behaved citizens; and that many persons, thus once drawn within the magic circle of learning and virtue, would either abandon or fail to contract those habits of idleness or dissipation which are the natural consequence of the resorts to which a want of something better drives many a hopeful youth.

Third. It is perhaps not irrelevant for the Trustees to suggest, that, looking at this subject as a question of business alone, it would be of great pecuniary advantage to the owners of real estate in the town, if they were able to present to purchasers such an inducement to settle in the town as a Public Library accessible at all reasonable times to the citizens of the town. It is safe to assert, that the small burden which the erection of a suitable Library building would impose upon the large taxable property of the town would be more than repaid in the increased value of that property due solely to the benefits of such an institution.

Without enlarging upon these hints, the Trustees are of opinion, that whether it be for the purpose of preserving the valuable property the town already has, or of attracting additions to it, — whether the subject be looked at from a moral or from a financial point of view, it behooves the citizens of the town to take early steps towards the erection of a suitable building for the Library.

The Trustees have had it under consideration to open the Library to the public, at least one more afternoon and evening in the week. To do this without imposing a greater burden upon the Librarian than the Trustees would deem just, it will be necessary to make a larger appropriation for the compensation of the Librarian and his assistants. The present compensation is entirely inadequate for the present services; and in view of this fact and of the proposed addition to the duties of the Librarian, it will be necessary to increase the next annual appropriation for Town Officers.

The Trustees take great pleasure in announcing, that the past year has been full of good fortune to the Library.

The munificent gift of ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS has been made by Mrs. Samuel Philbrick.

Donations of books, pamphlets, &c., have been received as follows ; viz., from, —

C. E. Abbott, Esq., three hundred and thirty-one pamphlets.

W. I. Bowditch, Esq., one hundred and forty-two volumes, ninety-two pamphlets, four maps.

S. A. Fowle, Esq., four volumes.

Col. Charles E. Griswold, twenty volumes.

G. F. Homer, Esq., ten volumes, nine pamphlets.

Arthur and George Searle, Esqs., one hundred and eighteen volumes, twenty-five pamphlets, three atlases.

Gifts have also been received from Mrs. N. W. Brackett, a Citizen. the City of Roxbury, Arthur Fay, Esq., Rev. J. M. Finotti, Dr. T. E. Francis, J. W. Goddard, Esq., George Griggs, Esq., G. S. Hale, Esq., Nathan Hale, Esq., Mrs. Edward Head, Richard Hills, Esq., Dr. William Nichols, jun., C. L. Palmer, Esq., E. S. Philbrick, Esq., Messrs. Rand and Avery, Hon. A. H. Rice, J. H. Shedd, Esq., Dr. Augustine Shurtleff, J. W. Thornton, Esq., William Warren, Esq., and Elbridge Wason, Esq.

Mrs. Philbrick's gift enabled the Trustees to undertake the making of a new Catalogue of the Library, and to furnish it to the citizens of the town, at a price considerably below its cost : a work, which had for some time been greatly needed, but which the funds at the disposal of the Trustees, until the receipt of the donation, did not seem to warrant them in commencing. This Catalogue, printed in their best style by John Wilson and Son, containing one hundred and seventy pages, will be ready for delivery in a few days ; and will greatly facilitate the examination of the Library by those who use it. The Trustees deem it but justice to say that the credit of this useful but laborious work is due to Mr. John E. Horr, the Librarian, who has devoted to its compilation the greater part of his leisure time during the past year.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

R E P O R T.

HAVING, as we were able, discharged the duties of our office for another year, we respectfully present the following Report:—

Our Board is composed of nine members. In consequence of the resignation of one of our number, Rev. John C. Ager, whose place has not yet been filled, the work has devolved on the remaining eight, for the latter half of the year.

The town will be called on to elect, at their March meeting, three members of the Board, to fill the places of Messrs. Brooks and Wharton, whose term of service expires with the present fiscal year, and the place of Mr. Ager who has resigned.

The Board is divided into three sub-committees: one on school-books, one on finances, and one on the nomination of teachers. Our plan of service embraces a monthly meeting of the full Board, during the term-time of the schools, and an annual and semi-annual examination of each school.

At the monthly meeting, one or more schools are assigned to each member of the Committee, to be visited by him during the month; and a report is rendered by each one, of the condition of the schools visited by him the previous month. The intention is, that every school in town shall receive at least one visit from some one of the Committee every month; and that the whole Board shall have a monthly report from all the schools.

These reports, with the public examinations, together with free conference with the teachers at other times, are supposed to keep the Committee well informed of the actual condition of the schools intrusted to their care. This plan has been carried out during the year as fully as professional and other engagements of the members would permit. The position of the Board, involving the expenditure of so large an amount of the annual income of the town, and the oversight of interests so dear to every home, and so important to the character of the community, is one of great responsibility. We have felt this, and have endeavored with conscientious fidelity to meet the trust committed to us.

Our schools are divided into three distinct grades,—the Primary, the Grammar, and the High Schools. This system of gradation is strictly adhered to, excepting in one instance, that of the Ward Schools, where it has been deemed expedient to have a school intermediate between the Primary and the Grammar.

The schools, taken as a whole, were never, we think, in a more satisfactory condition than they are at the present time. We have a corps of competent and faithful teachers, and the recent examinations revealed a degree of success and progress highly gratifying to the Committee. In regard to several of the schools, it was felt that little more could be desired than that they should continue to exhibit the same character of promptness, energy, and thoroughness; and if, in some others, room for improvement was discovered, it is hoped that will soon be realized.

PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

The school on Bradley's Hill has been discontinued, and an additional school opened, to meet the increasing demands, in the Ward schoolhouse. Miss Caroline Allen had charge of this new school the first half of the year; but she has since been transferred to the Newton-street School, and Miss Mary E. Rogers has taken her place in the Ward School. The resignation of Mrs. Head, the tried and valued teacher of the Ward Intermediate School, led to the appointment of Miss M. A. Magoon to fill her place. All the other teachers have filled their places for years, some of them for many years, and are, it is believed, faithful and successful in their work.

The new schoolhouse, authorized by a vote of the town, has been built at Longwood, and will be ready to be occupied in a few days.

It has long been, and still is, the opinion of the Committee, that the stone building in which the South Primary Schools are kept is badly located, and in every way most unfit for the purposes of a school. The upper room is somewhat airy and cheerful, but the lower room is dark, damp, incapable of ventilation, and such as must be prejudicial to the health of both teacher and pupils. Besides, there are no suitable playgrounds for the children, without encroaching on private property.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

There are three of these. The Pieræ Grammar School still has the valuable services of Mr. D. H. Daniels, as Principal. Miss C. L. Wheeler, having resigned the place of Assistant in this school, Miss Lizzie Gerry received the appointment, and has given the highest satisfaction to the Committee and parents. The recent examination showed the departments of this school, that of the Principal, and each of his Assistants, to be well conducted. The reading, in several of the classes, was very fine.

The Heath-street Grammar School is still taught, without assistance, by Mr. Thomas E. Lanman. The school has been gradually rising in the estimation of the Committee for a series of years. The last examination reflected great credit on the teachers and scholars. The average of attendance has been brought up finely, being for the last term ninety-five per cent.

The Ward, formerly Pearl Place, Grammar School, has changed teachers during the year. Mr. Charles E. Abbott resigned the position in the spring; and Mr. David Bentley, a teacher from Milton, succeeded him. The discipline and progress of the school under the new teacher have been good, and we hope to have the pleasure of seeing a class from this school fitted and ambitious to enter the High School.

HIGH SCHOOL.

The High School, under its efficient and accomplished Principal, Mr. John E. Horr, aided by his excellent Assistants, has fully sustained its well-earned reputation during the year. It will not suffer, we think, by comparison with the best schools of its class in the State.

SALARIES OF TEACHERS.

The question of the salaries of the teachers has given your Committee much solicitude. On the one hand, when taxes are so multiplied and increased, we have been reluctant to swell the amount of appropriation asked for. On the other hand, the depreciated state of the currency, and the consequent greatly increased expense of living, have rendered it necessary that the salaries should be adjusted somewhat to the altered state of things. We could not ask good teachers to continue on the same nominal salary which they received when the dollar was more than twice its present value. In the settlement of the delicate questions which have come before them in this connection, your Committee have used their best judgment. The appropriation required for the year to come will be considerably in advance of that of any previous year; but, it should be remembered, the number of schools has been increased. The town has nobly met the demands hitherto made on its treasury by the School Committee; and, we doubt not, it will do the same now. The education of our children is costing much, — to some, on whom taxation presses heavily, — it may seem too much. But it is an expenditure that will yield a large return, better than the best dividend-paying stocks. The national crisis through which we are passing, and the scenes in which the children of our schools of to-day are soon to be actors, are such as will call for educated, disciplined minds. Let it be remembered what responsibilities are waiting to press on the children who are now gathered in the schoolrooms of New England, how much will depend on their culture and intelligence; and we shall feel, that, cost what it may, they must be educated. We cannot afford to depreciate the character by cheapening the price of their education. It was one of the sententious sayings of Dr. Lyman Beecher, "That uneducated mind is educated vice."

CONCLUSION.

In conclusion, permit us to urge on parents and pupils the very great importance of punctuality and promptness in attendance on the schools. There has been great improvement in this respect. The records of some of the schools exhibit a highly creditable average of attendance, and we find in these schools a corresponding progress in the studies. The best teachers, and the utmost fidelity on their part, together with the most careful superintendence on the part of the Committee, will fail of a satisfactory result, if the attendance is tardy and irregular. The absence of one scholar for one session is an injury to the whole school, and should never occur, unless from absolute necessity. We earnestly commend this topic to the thoughtful consideration of both parents and pupils. In this connection, one word about truancy. The law on this subject has not been enforced the last year, and there are children whose regular attendance can be secured only by the fear of the penalty. Teachers have complained to the Committee, and the Committee have borne the complaint to the truant officer; and he replies, that he is powerless, because there is no accessible trial-justice before whom the truant, when arrested, can be brought. The State designs that all her children shall be educated, and has framed laws to secure this. We submit, ought not provision to be made to execute these laws?

For the Committee,

WILLIAM LAMSON, CHAIRMAN.
F. W. PRESCOTT, SECRETARY.

POOR.

The expenses of this department have been kept within the appropriation for that purpose. There are seven persons supported by the town, at an annual expense of about Six Hundred Dollars, one of whom is boarded at the Insane Asylum, at Worcester; besides which there has been a small amount expended in affording temporary relief in extreme cases, which, though not always literally in accordance with the legal demands upon the town, has, we hope, enabled some persons to avoid the State Almshouse without incurring much more cost to the town than would have been incurred by sending them there.

HIGHWAYS.

The action of the town in adopting the report of the Special Committee on this subject, and requesting the Selectmen to carry out the recommendations there made, has relieved the Selectmen from the direct supervision of the highways. In accordance with the action of town, Mr. J. Herbert Shedd was engaged to take charge of the highways for the year, and to inaugurate the new system. We append his report concerning the operation of the same.

Abutments on portions of Walnut Street and Washington Street, were made to relay their walls and rebuild the fences along the roads, arrangements were made to improve the streets, by taking land upon lease terms or by gift.

The surface and grade of High Street has been improved and a cul-de-sac across it from materials blasted from the centre of the street, the expense being defrayed from the special appropriation for that

The department has always been in an efficient condition. There has been a new volunteer company organized, under the name of the "Good Intent Hose Company," who take charge of extra hose and the ladders and ladders, by means of which the efficiency of the department in our opinion, increased. The apparatus is in good order, and efficiently manned by a well-disciplined and well-behaved set of men.

TOWN BUILDINGS.

The building which was begun last year for a new schoolhouse, at Longwood, has been completed; but, owing to the great cost of all items connected with building, the amount spent upon it has somewhat exceeded the appropriation.

The condition of the privies of the Pierce Primary School was found to be such as to become a nuisance, owing to their being located in the rear, where no good ventilation could be had or cleanliness could be enforced. It was thought absolutely necessary for the pupils' health, that they should be removed, and we accordingly built such accommodations above ground as can always be kept in good condition. As this change was not contemplated, and as there was no appropriation for this special purpose, the amount spent upon town buildings is somewhat larger than the appropriation.

Other roads were out of shape, having a bad cross-section, many cases of much higher grade than originally constructed; and they wear away, keeping up their travelling condition as well as possible. In each of these cases our labor was probably quite as expensive as the "keeping up" of a well-constructed road would have been.

We have permanently improved some of the roads by broken stone or gravel; and, as a whole, I believe, the roads of the town are in more permanent condition, and can be kept in repair at a less expense than when the experiment was begun.

The great drought of the past season has made the care of the roads unusually expensive, and twice during the year the roads have been washed by uncommonly heavy rains, which made great repairs necessary.

An appropriation was made for underground drains, which has not yet been expended. I waited until autumn for bids, as that is the best season for doing the work. After a bid had been accepted, and when it was too late to make new arrangements, I was notified by the contractor that it was impossible for him to obtain men to do the work. I think this matter is one of great importance, and I hope the appropriation will be renewed.

The experiment has satisfied me that the plan reported by the Special Committee is in general a good one, and, with the modifications which experience will suggest, I think the best results may be obtained.

In conclusion, let me say, that the disadvantage of my residence out of town is great, and it will be best, if possible, to obtain the services of a competent person residing in the town, and who wishes the new plan to succeed, for your Superintendent hereafter.

Respectfully submitted,

J. HERBERT SHEDDEN

POLICE.

This department remained essentially on the same basis as before until November last, when, owing to the numerous breaches of the peace, and attempts at burglary and violence in the neighborhood, we felt the need, in accordance with the wishes of numerous citizens, who expressed in a petition for that end, of employing a much larger police force. A considerable addition to the police force was accordingly made, mostly on night duty, for the time, by which the expenses overdrove the appropriation by a considerable sum, as will appear in the Treasurer's report.

think it best for the town to purchase one of the stone-cracking machines, such as is now being introduced in some of the neighboring towns and cities.

During the season we have generally employed six men and a foreman, with such number of horses and drivers as was found necessary from time to time. Extra men have been employed as they were needed. The expenditure on the highways for labor amounted to $3,114.33, some of which was in preparing materials for future use.

Expenditure for sidewalks	$ 472 15
“ for gutters, culverts, and drains, including two new culverts, two new cesspools, &c.	547 88
Expenditure for implements and their repairs	$ 133 29
“ “ superintendence, &c.	252 31
“ “ purchase of materials	111 57

The item of labor on the highways includes carpenter's labor, and materials used on the bridges.

We have some broken stone on hand ready for use, and some carried to depots ready to be broken.

The men who were employed upon the work were probably as efficient and faithful as any who were available, but the general habit of doing little for good pay in the public service, may have had its effect upon some of them. Efforts were made, with some success I think, to bring the work up to a proper standard. The foreman has never before had management of road work, and much allowance should be made on this account for want of efficiency, if any, in the men: his experience during the past year would be of service at any future time. If managed with equal ability, I think much more work would be done, in a given time, under the new plan than under the old.

The roads were not kept so free from loose stones as could be desired. Greater efficiency in this respect can probably be secured in the future. Whether the roads were in their usual condition when we began work, I cannot say. By the last Annual Report, it seems that less than two thirds the money appropriated for the year before had been expended on highways, and less than one third upon the sidewalks.

Some of the roads were covered with a soft, unfit material that it would be folly to cover with better, and our only course was to let it wear away, while we kept the surface in as good travelling condition as practicable.

Further improvements are recommended upon Walnut Street whenever satisfactory terms can be had from the abutters. We would recommend an appropriation of five hundred dollars to pay for the above improvements on Washington Street, west of corner of Park Street, and of the same sum for improving Walnut Street, whenever opportunity presents itself.

The County Commissioners having relocated and established the lines and bounds of Washington Street from the boundary line between the City of Roxbury and the Railroad Bridge, and assessed one half of the expense of the damages upon the town, it will be necessary to make an appropriation to meet the same.

TO THE SELECTMEN OF THE TOWN OF BROOKLINE: —

GENTLEMEN: At your request I submit a simple statement of a few facts in regard to the repairs of the highways since the middle of last April. At that time I reluctantly took charge of an experiment, ordered by the town, in accordance with the report of a Special Committee on the subject, and have since endeavored, so far as circumstances would admit, to carry out the plan suggested in that report. It will be evident to you that the plan could be only partially tried, as no appropriation had been made by the town for the purchase of horses, carts, or other implements, and the roads being ready for the extensive spring repairs usually given, were not in a condition to be simply "kept up."

The plan reported by the Special Committee supposed the roads to be first put in the condition required to be maintained, and that their construction should be of a permanent character; but with the roads as we found them, and an appropriation only for repairs, the new system could not be entirely carried out.

With immediate "repairs" to make, amounting sometimes almost to "construction," and no material ready except such as could be found in the ordinary gravel pits, we were obliged to go on with the work, according to the plan recommended by the Committee, but in a sort of transition state between the old and the new. It is clear that another year at least is required to show most favorably the new plan as proposed, and unless an appropriation is made, especially for the purpose of supplying the best material and newly constructing portions of the roads, perhaps, two or more years will be necessary to show the best effects of the change. For the supply of these materials economical

LIGHTING STREETS AND BUILDINGS.

There have been eight new lamp-posts erected, making eighty-two in all, besides the Posts lighted by oil on Beacon Street. The increased price charged by the Gas Company has caused a slight expenditure above the appropriation. The posts have all been repainted, and the lanterns repaired.

MILITARY.

The close of the war has happily relieved the town, in common with the whole country, from the necessity of keeping up very large expenditures lately incurred.

Information having been asked for by a Committee of the Legislature concerning the expenses of the town for military purposes during the war, the following statement was sent in reply, which will be of interest to our citizens, viz:—

We feel it proper to congratulate our fellow-citizens that the Rebellion is over, and this great expenditure of blood and treasure has ceased, although we shall feel it for long years to come in increased taxes and expense in all departments of trade and subsistence.

The guideposts and boards are in good order in all places where the law requires they shall be maintained by the town.

Williams, and Boston Public Library.

The year has been marked by continued prosperity and usefulness, and in no former year has there been a more substantial progress. In one year only — that of 1859-60 — has there been a greater number of volumes added; but at no former period has the working of the Library, in all its details, been more agreeable, harmonious, and successful. During this time, the Library has been under the charge of Mr. John E. Horr, as Librarian, with the aid of two assistants upon two of the Library days. The arrangement made, at the commencement of the year, with the Librarian, secured his services for two days only in the week; but, during the year, he has been occupied at least for one extra day in each week, without compensation. For this, and for other valuable services rendered to us, our excellent Librarian is entitled to the thanks of the citizens, and all interested in our Library. More gratuitous labor has been performed for the Library, during this time, than at any former period. It will be for the public advantage, in the judgment of the Trustees, that the services of assistants should be obtained for the delivery of books, for all the afternoons and evenings upon which the Library is opened; and that the time of the Librarian should be devoted to the important duties of receiving, arranging, and cataloguing of the books, and other details, as well as the general superintendence. The Library Committee have devoted more time than ever to the interests of the Library. In the early part of the year, one of their number visited several of the neighboring town libraries, and, in the examination of them and in conference with their officers, obtained valuable suggestions for the conduct and improvement of our own institution..

ADDITIONS TO THE LIBRARY.

As will be seen from the above table, 982 volumes have been added. The Board hope soon to be able to print a supplement to their catalogue containing these additions, and that they will have the means to print an annual supplement. Beside the popular literature of the day, the choicest of which may be found upon our shelves, there have been added many valuable works, of a graver character as well as of more permanent interest, among which are the following:

Webster's new Quarto Dictionary; Sprague's Annals of American Pulpit; Lange's Commentary; Victoria History of England; Hamilton's Philosophy, 2 vols.; Martin's France, 2 vols.; Baron Egloffstein's Mexico;

Gentleman's Magazine ; 18 vols. London National Review ; with volumes of the Intellectual Observer, Popular Science Review, Cornhill and Macmillan's magazines, with the various reviews ; but we shall more particularly refer to the periodical department hereafter, as, also, to the valuable additions in the Agricultural and Young People's Libraries.

AGRICULTURAL LIBRARY.

A prominent feature of our year's work has been the addition to our Library of the Brookline Agricultural Library, a valuable collection of works belonging to an association of our public-spirited citizens, who have generously given them to the town, to be incorporated in its Public Library. The subscribers to, and owners of, this collection were about eighty in number, nearly all of whom were visited by our Librarian and Library Committee, and who, not only readily, but joyfully, presented their books to us. The number of volumes thus presented was 173, with the beautiful book-case containing them. At the request of the donors, several duplicate volumes have been exchanged for other works of the same general character. These books are now in our rooms, in the original case, preserved together as the Agricultural Library. Among them are: Hovey's Fruits of America, 2 vols., splendidly illustrated; Loudon's Arboretum, 8 vols., with other works of Loudon; Hooker's Botanical Miscellany, 3 vols.; Gilpin on Landscape Gardening; Low on Landed Property and Estates; 20 vols. of Transactions N. Y. Agricultural Society, 1845-64; Stephen's Farmer's Guide, 2 vols.; Thompson's Gardener's Assistant; McIntosh's Book of the Garden, 2 vols.; Books of the Farm; Rural Encyclopædias, and works on Horticulture, Agriculture, Chemistry, Cattle, etc. With these valuable additions, our Agricultural Department is quite complete. We hope to make this a specialty, from year to year, and to add to it the magazines on this subject, and other works.

THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEPARTMENT

Is an important part of the Public Library, and has received its due share of attention. We have added to it, during the year, about 150 volumes. In September last, the Board appropriated one hundred dollars for this object, in the purchase of about 130 of the best juvenile works in our language. We could use to great advantage two or three hundred dollars yearly in this department. Much care and sound judgment are to be exercised in the selection of the books for the young ; and the management of this department will require patience and constant and anxious attention ; but we think that no part of our work is more promising, and that much of the immediate benefits and of the future hopes of our Public Library are for our young people, and in laboring for them, we think, we are doing a good work. We commend this part of our enterprise to the attention and liberality of all good citizens.

THE PERIODICAL DEPARTMENT

Continues to be an attractive and useful part of our work. Upon our tables, with facilities for reading, are to be found the best of the English and American magazines and reviews. As soon as volumes of each are completed they are bound and ready for circulation. Under our present rules unbound periodicals can be taken from the rooms only from one library day to the next. This is a privilege, we believe, not permitted in other public libraries. The following periodicals are regularly received at the Library rooms: Of the foreign publications, Blackwood's, Cornhill, MacMillan's, Sunday, and Routledge's Boy's, Magazines ; London Builder, Illustrated News, and Punch ; Temple Bar, Chambers's Journal, Intellectual Observer, and the Edinburgh, London Quarterly, North British, Popular Science, and Westminster Reviews. Of American publications, — Army and Navy Journal, Atlantic Monthly, Bibliotheca Sacra, Christian Examiner, Harper's Monthly Magazine, Hunt's Merchants' Magazine, New Jerusalem Magazine, North American Review, Our Young Folks, Scientific American, United States Service Magazine, Working Farmer, and Country Gentleman.

USE OF LIBRARY ROOMS.

Our Library, from its origin, with very imperfect accommodations for those waiting for books and the officers delivering them, has been most liberal in all provisions for the public. All restrictions imposed have been those which necessity demanded for the common benefit. Early in the past season the Board became convinced that the necessary work of the Library could not be performed in the present contracted rooms, while these rooms and the alcoves were open and free to visitors. Of the rooms occupied for this purpose, all were in constant use for the delivery and return of books,—one is occupied by the Librarian, where his duties demand his constant attention; another is improved for covering books and their examination, and sorting for the binders; and in the third are the table of the assistant librarians and desks for delivery and return of books. This is the common routine of library work. It is obvious, that in these narrow quarters the proper performance of these details requires comparative quiet and freedom from interruption. Upon this subject we find a valuable suggestion in the last report of Mr. Jewett, the Librarian of the Boston Public Library, to the Trustees of that Institution:—

“If but one person had the right to use the Library, he might range in it at will, and who can doubt that his profiting thereby might be vastly greater than it can be if he is restricted to the borrowing of one book at a time, and is debarred from free access to the alcoves. But it is obvious that such privileges cannot be accorded to many persons without greatly impairing the usefulness of a public library. The books would inevitably be displaced and lost, and the library would soon fall into hopeless confusion."

In accordance with these views, the Trustees, in September last, made provision for the taking out of books by card, and also fitted up the most commodious of the Library Rooms as a Reading-room. This arrangement is the best for the public that the present town buildings afford, and gives a reasonable accommodation for the work of the Library. No other public library permits any greater freedom of access to its books and alcoves.

During the year, except in the usual August vacation, the Library Rooms have been open on the afternoon and evening of every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.

CIRCULATION OF BOOKS.

The Board have found it advisable to prescribe certain limits in the use of the books of the library. Some books are of such value and of such a character, that they are marked for "reference," and are not to be taken from the library. New books and such popular works as are in great demand, must be returned within one week after the date of taking from the library, without transfer or renewal. With 1,200 borrowers on the list, and many applicants for each new and popular book, it is manifest that this rule is reasonable; and that the keeping out of favorite volumes, in a particular neighborhood, or for several weeks, by the old system of transfers from one borrower to another or from one card to another, without returning them to the library, is not in accordance with the impartial distribution of the library advantages.

All books in the Library, — except those noted as “reference,” and those marked to be returned within one week, as above, — embracing the large majority of volumes, may be retained by the borrower two weeks; or, in the language of the rule, may be retained seven days, and renewed once to the same person. To avoid any misapprehension, the Board construe the rule as allowing two weeks to borrowers; the retention of such books more than one week being deemed a renewal. To recapitulate, then, the present Library regulation is: new books, and those in great demand, are to be returned within one week; all others, in two weeks.

LOSS AND ABUSE OF BOOKS.

The Librarian reports, as the result of a careful examination, that seven volumes are missing from the Library; among them, Saxe’s Poems; Andrews’s Latin Lexicon; Vol. 3 Mrs. Sherwood’s works; also, Young Folks, March, 1865; Routledge’s Boy’s Magazine, Feb. and Nov. 1865. But two or three instances have occurred of wilful abuse of books. We notice, occasionally, the turning down of leaves, and pencil marks in the volumes, both of which we consider to be against our own rules, and those of every well-regulated library.

The books in the Young People's Department, as carefully examined from week to week, appear to have received a good deal of rough usage, and some of them are found in a state the reverse of cleanliness. It appears to the Trustees, that all Library books, when taken from the rooms, should be received and used by clean hands, and deposited in a place not more uncleanly than the shelves of the Library alcoves. Quite an amount will be necessary annually for binding those volumes, which are most circulated, and for replacing worn-out volumes of the like character.

WANTS OF THE LIBRARY.

In addition to the imperative demand for increase of room, and safe and convenient library accommodations, we need more pecuniary means for a suitable increase. The amount, at present, allowed to be raised, by law, for the annual maintenance and increase of our Library is $529.00. The town also appropriated, last year, $320.00 for the care of the Library. If the Library continues to be opened three days, as at present, in each week, a larger sum will be requisite. It is important, we think, to retain our present Librarian, and to give him ample assistance. Devoting to this object more than three afternoons and evenings of each week, and always busy, he has at no time been able to find his work finished. He has never been able, for instance, during the year, with his other library calls, to keep up the catalogues of the new books for the use of the public; but, giving him suitable assistance, on all Library days, in the delivery of books, will enable him to perform promptly all required duties, and to furnish catalogues, for public inspection, of the newly-added volumes.

It will not, we think, be considered unreasonable progress to add, by purchase, the next year, to our Library, five hundred volumes, being more than one hundred less than last year.

This will require	$ 700 00
Supplement to Catalogue	100 00
Binding books	100 00
Replacing worn-out volumes	100 00
Periodical Department	150 00
Contingencies	50 00

Being a total of at least $1,200.00, in addition to appropriation for care of Library.

We hope to receive from individual donations a number of volumes, equal, at least, to the above estimate of purchase. The liberal and unconditional donation of Mrs. Samuel Philbrick, of one thousand dollars, in the year 1864, not only procured for us our valuable catalogue, but has enabled us, with the town appropriations, to pass through the last year with reasonable progress, although by December our funds were very low. The Trustees solicit contributions of books and money for the present use of the Library. There is a practical and easy way of adding substantially to our books for circulation, which we commend to our friends. Let every family in the town, using the Library, in each year, present to the Library one good book, which they have read and approved; and if a recent and popular book, so much the better. Of good and approved popular works, there is no fear of having too many copies. A large supply of good miscellaneous reading will be thus furnished to our book borrowers, and our Library funds be relieved for the purchase of more expensive works. All donations of money and books will be put to excellent use, and gratefully acknowledged, as well as tenderly cared for.

LIBRARY BUILDING.

The subject of a fireproof building, for our valuable Library and its additions, has been often presented in the previous reports of this Board; and it is hoped that the time of argument has passed, and that of action has arrived. The entire public sentiment of our community seems to demand this apparent necessity. It is now eight years since the Brookline Public Library was opened to the citizens, with about nine hundred volumes. It now contains eighty-five hundred volumes; and, to say the least, is as valuable as any of the public libraries of about that size. Its conveniences for the delivery of books, and its accommodations for the public, while waiting for books, are quite inferior. It has reached its present dimensions, by no large contributions, but by that constant progress which its utility and popularity have gained; and the treasures which it now contains, and the good work which it has wrought in our community, certainly deserve from the public the long-desired Library Building.

At the suggestion of many citizens, the refusal of an eligible lot has been procured, under most favorable conditions. The Trustees are unanimous upon this subject, and expect to present to the town, at its approaching annual meeting, the project of a Library building upon a central and beautiful site. If the views of the Trustees, and the many citizens favoring them, shall be adopted by the town, with the requisite appropriation, our next annual report will record the completion of this enterprise, and the erection of an attractive and commodious edifice upon a lot of land forever dedicated to the uses of a Public Library, and which shall be to our town at once a benefaction and its crowning ornament and glory.

All which is respectfully submitted.

REPORT.

Our public schools are the glory of New England. Several years since, in a parlor in Manchester, England, in company with a merchant of that city, the conversation naturally turned on the difference between that country and ours. We remarked on much which we had seen to approve and admire in England, but added that they want our system of schools, throwing their doors open and offering their advantages to the children of the poorest equally as to those of the wealthiest. We then described one of our High Schools, taking that of Brookline as an example, giving the course of study, embracing as it does, besides the common branches, Algebra and Geometry, French and Latin, Natural Philosophy and History, Rhetoric and Composition, Music and Drawing, and assured him that all these were offered free of cost to the child of the humblest laborer in the community. He seemed surprised for a moment, but then replied: "We do not want such facilities of universal education. The true theory is, to give to each class the education suited to their calling. There must be in every society hewers of wood and drawers of water. Such culture as you speak of would make the laboring classes discontented with their lot. They have no need of it, and it would do them injury."

But we do want American children to have just this culture. When they come to the position and responsibilities of citizenship in this republic they will have need of it. With universal we must have universal intelligence. The man who influences, by his ballot, in the decision of the most vital questions of State and National government, needs the education to fit him to examine these questions, and intelligently to vote for himself. Millions of uneducated voters, or of those who can barely spell out an English sentence, or write their own names, must be a dangerous element in our population. The Government, nominally democratic, would in fact be but the worst of tyrannies. The purity and perpetuity of our Government, therefore, depend, in a larger measure than we can estimate, on our schools. These underlie the whole, as does the granite foundation the stately edifice. The late civil war has demonstrated this. The men who made up the vast armies of the North, the rank and file no less than the officers, were impressed with a deep and educated patriotism. They were, the great majority of them, graduates of our common schools, and many of them of our higher seminaries and colleges, and were capable of understanding, appreciating, and discussing the questions involved in the struggle. It was the spirit of the army, more than its numbers or its merely material resources, that sustained it through the dark years of conflict and made it finally victorious.

But the war is ended. The year since we made our last Report has been the most eventful in our Nation's history. Peace has concluded the most bloody and terrific war in the annals of civilization. Our patriot armies have been disbanded and have returned to the peaceful industries of life, disappearing as the snow-flakes on the bosom of the lake. But if they needed the culture of our free schools to make them intelligent soldiers, still more do they need it to make them intelligent voters, on the great questions which have been thrown up for decision by our national convulsion, and on which the character and destinies of the nation for all time seem to depend. It is not on the few men in Washington that these momentous decisions are suspended, but on the popular sentiment, the sentiment of the millions, which can quickly and effectually make itself felt in the high places of the land. It is with reason, therefore, that our patriotic statesmen and legislators are at this time with special interest the subject of the universal education of the people.

It is a matter for congratulation that during the four weary years of war, while our very national existence was hanging in the balance, our schools were neither closed nor disturbed. Day after day throughout the loyal States, the studies of learning, morality, and true patriotism have been pursued, and, with the return of peace, we may rejoice that there has been no break in our educational processes.

In reviewing our own schools for the year, while we are conscious of defects, we take pleasure in expressing our confidence that their progress and condition are as satisfactory as at the close of any preceding year. We have been able with few exceptions to retain our corps of tried and faithful teachers, and we are convinced that, unless there is a necessity or a strong reason for a change, permanence is desirable in the teacher's office.

PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

The changes of teachers here, as might be expected, have been more numerous than elsewhere. There have been three resignations. Miss Deering, of the Harvard Street School, Miss Mary E. Hodgden, of the Pierce School, and Miss Ellen Goldsmith, of the Walnut Street School. These were all tried, faithful, and very successful teachers. Their places have been supplied by Miss S. J. Cooledge, Miss Fanny Hodgden, and Miss Eliza Kenrick. The Committee have a growing conviction of the importance of the Primary School. It is the foundation of the educational superstructure. Here the first steps are taken, and the earliest habits formed, and these habits go with the pupil, modified but never eradicated, through all his subsequent course. It is a mistake that any one can teach a child his alphabet and his first lessons in reading and spelling. There

tion where tact, patience, good judgment, fertility of

 We would respectfully suggest to young ladies, who, completed the course in our public schools, are desirous ing, that, if practicable, they spend at least one year in e of our excellent State Normal Schools, thus adding to her acquirements, a knowledge of the art of teaching.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

In these there has been no change of teacher during the year, nor do we think any change desirable. The three Principals, Messrs Daniels, Lanman, and Bentley, are gentlemen of fine culture and of large experience in their work, and the schools under their care are doing all that could be expected, giving, it is believed, to parents as well as to the Committee the highest satisfaction. Mr. Lanman was compelled by the state of his health, to give his school, with the consent of the Committee, into the charge of a substitute for a few months. The Committee and parents were glad to welcome him back to his post at the earliest moment that his health permitted. The Ward Grammar School, under Mr. Bentley, exhibited at the late examination the fruits of good discipline and thorough teaching in a very high degree. Several of the recitations were nearly faultless. We confidently expect a considerable class from this school fitted and desirous to enter the High School.

HIGH SCHOOL.

This school fully sustains its well-earned reputation. Mr. Horr, the excellent Principal, and his corps of accomplished and laborious assistants, have pursued their work during the year with their accustomed fidelity and success. There has been one change in the teachers of this school. Mr. E. B. Drew, a young gentleman of rare qualifications for his work, the first assistant under Mr. Horr, we have been compelled very reluctantly to part with. He infused a singular life and energy into the classes under his care, and we hoped to retain him for years to come. But he received an appointment too flattering to be declined, to an honorable and advantageous position in a foreign country, and his resignation was accepted. His place was supplied very acceptably, by his classmate, Mr. Knapp, but the offer of a more lucrative position in one of the schools in Boston drew him from us. His successor is Mr. Shute, a graduate of Harvard, and a young gentleman who comes to us with the best recommendations from the highest sources. The other teachers in the High School are the same who have filled their positions with so much credit to themselves and satisfaction to the Committee for successive years. We think we have here a school that may safely challenge a comparison with the best in the State.

In our schoolhouses there have been no changes beyond necessary repairs. The building at Longwood, which at the time of our last Report was just completed, has been furnished in one of its rooms, a teacher appointed, and a school has been in operation there during the year. The Committee have been disappointed in the number of scholars, being far less than they had reason to expect, and hardly sufficient to justify the expense of erecting the building and sustaining a distinct school. One of our oldest and most successful primary teachers has been transferred to this school, and it is hoped the result will be a large increase in the attendance.

It is an old story, but we repeat our conviction that the stone building on Walnut Street is in every respect a most unfit place for a school. The lower room is low, damp, poorly ventilated, and altogether cheerless in its aspect.

It may not be the time to agitate a question that would involve any large expenditure in building. But some of the Committee have been for years disturbed by the thought that we have too many schoolhouses, and too many small schools. We throw out the inquiry, whether the time is not near when it will be expedient to erect one large good schoolhouse in some central location, so as to accommodate all the pupils who now constitute the schools in Walnut Street, Heath Street, and Newton Street. All these schools might then be in charge of one Principal with competent assistants. Three objects would be gained by such a change, first, more convenient and healthy schoolrooms, second, better instruction, and third, a diminution in the number of teachers and consequently in the expense of teaching.

The subject of truancy again claims a word. The lack of an enforcement of the truant law has been seriously felt by some of our teachers. Officers were chosen at the annual meeting of the town, but they declined to serve. At the adjourned meeting others were chosen, but with no better success. The result has been that we have been without a truant officer, and truants have known it, and have governed themselves accordingly.

We have felt called upon by a sense of justice to increase the salaries of our faithful teachers. While the expense of living had doubled, and the compensation for labor and for other professional services had greatly increased, it was not right that the teacher should receive only a trifling advance on what he received before the war. We have accordingly made an addition to the salaries of nearly all the teachers. In doing this we have only followed in the steps of the authorities in neighboring cities and towns, without keeping pace with them. We do not doubt that our action in this respect will receive the hearty sanction of the tax-payers in the town. Good schools are expensive, but we cannot afford to have inferior ones.

In conclusion, we think we have reason to congratulate our fellow-citizens on the progress of our schools for the year past, and on their present condition. The expense is great, but the returns are adequate. With our public schools to train the intellect, and with our free public library to meet the cravings of that trained intellect, we ought to be among the foremost of New England communities for culture and intelligence.

The town will be called on at their March meeting to elect three members of the Board of School Committee, to fill the places of Messrs. Lamson, Salisbury, and Francis, whose term expires with the present fiscal year.

For the Committee,

WILLIAM LAMSON, CHAIRMAN.

CHARLES U. COTTING,
EDWARD G. TILESTON,

BROOKLINE, Feb. 25, 1867.

SELECTMEN'S REPORT.

POOR.

FORTUNATELY for the town of Brookline we have still no Poorhouse, and no immediate use for one. Paupers, which the town are called upon for support, are boarded out as before, and the expenses have been kept within the appropriation.

HIGHWAYS.

The Superintendent of Highway repairs employed during the year 1865, Mr. J. H. Shedd, having removed from the town and resigned his place, the Selectmen employed Eben W. Read, Esq. to take charge of the roads during the year. The amount appropriated would perhaps have defrayed all the expenses, but for the unusual falls of snow in the month of January, which called for a considerable expenditure, besides the voluntary aid contributed by many citizens who turned out with their teams to assist in the work. Some complaints may have arisen in regard to alleged neglect in opening roads in certain places, but we believe that all reasonable pains were taken to accommodate all, and if some parties had to wait longer than others before being "dug out," they will be disposed to make due allowances after seeing the large amount of work that was to be done upon short notice. Of course the Superintendent of Highways could not be in several places at once, and three members of the Board devoted their own time to the work for several days. The copious rains and sudden thaw of this large body of snow had occasioned more or less unusual damage in sundry places, requiring a considerable outlay in the Spring, but we have suffered less in this way than many neighboring towns.

The sum of $ 500 was appropriated last spring to purchase land to widen Washington Street at corner of Washington Place, but your Board never carried out the arrangement, for the reason that they could not get in return the equivalent which was expected to be got when the appropriation was made, and did not feel justified in paying the money without securing thereby some permanent improvement in the street at that point. The matter rested till a petition from certain citizens brought the County Commissioners on to view the premises, to consider the expediency of laying out the proposed widening as a County road. The Commissioners have not yet taken any definite action in the case.

The new culvert under Aspinwall Avenue was built during the summer in a substantial manner, with stone walls and a brick arch, costing but a trifle more than the sum appropriated.

The sum of $ 5,000 was appropriated for building a sewer between the Railroad depot and the Milldam road, but your Board found themselves unable to act for want of legislation, which we hope to obtain during the present session. The recent freshet has given new proof, if any were needed, of the importance of providing an unobstructed channel for the brook at this point, also showing a great lack of capacity in the culvert under the Milldam road. The cheapest way to provide for this latter trouble would be to open a new culvert alongside the other, perhaps, but a better way seems to us to build a sewer along the Western side of the Milldam road from this culvert to the next one, where the brook comes back, about six hundred feet further North, for such a plan would not only relieve the old culvert when overcrowded, but serve as a permanent drain for the property lying alongside, now suffering for lack of drainage and in a most unwholesome condition. A timber sewer bedded in the salt mud would be durable and could probably be built of sixteen feet transverse area for about $ 3,000. Perhaps the Commissioners of Public Lands, who are responsible for this Milldam road, can be induced to provide an additional culvert and relieve the town of this expense for the present, but if not, this sewer appears to be the only alternative.

It is perhaps worthy of remark in this connection that, with both of these proposed improvements for the drainage of that district, there would still be complaints from the inhabitants of several houses whose lower floors are from one to two feet below tide water. The only remedy for such cases lies in raising the houses, which should never have been built at such a level. But the town can alleviate the general condition of things to a very considerable extent by giving free exit to the waters of the brook now obstructed at various points, and, though requiring an expenditure of some $ 8000 in all, it does not seem proper to allow that portion of our citizens to remain without at least an effort to remove some of the surplus water with which they are often encumbered, and provide a channel for the permanent drainage of that part of the town.

In answer to a petition from the inhabitants of West Roxbury, the County Commissioners have decided to lay out Pond Street, so called, as a public highway, from its junction with Washington Street, near the Roxbury line, to Chestnut Street, passing through the property of the Brookline Land Company. The town of Brookline will therefore be called upon in all probability to put this street in repair, as far as it lies within their limits, during the coming season at a cost of $ 2000 or more.

POLICE.

No change of any importance has been made in the Police organization. The sum spent exceeds the appropriation by $ 108.95. There have been one hundred and forty-seven arrests made during the year, and ninety-eight stray travellers lodged. The arrests were made for the following causes, viz. :—

For Drunkenness	45
Larceny	15
Liquor selling	18
Disturbing the peace	12
Vagrancy	4
Keeping dog without license	1
Truancy	7
Assault and battery	15
Stealing fruit	12
Total	147

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The only fires of importance during the year have been in the destruction of three barns, and though one of these was in the most crowded parts of the town, no adjoining buildings were injured. The fire department has been maintained in an efficient condition, and has probably saved in some cases very extensive damage.

TOWN BUILDINGS.

No changes of any importance have been made except at the Heath Street School House, where two new rooms have been provided without enlarging the outside of the building. Ordinary repairs have been executed, amounting, with the work at the Heath Street Schoolhouse, to about $ 100 over the appropriation.

LIGHTING STREETS AND BUILDINGS.

Nine new lamp posts have been erected during the year, making ninety-one in all. The expenses have overrun the appropriation by the sum of $ 209.39.

STATE AID AND MILITARY PURPOSES.

The sum of $ 1758.50 has been spent, of which $ 1430 will probably be received from the State Treasury for account of State Aid.

Under the vote authorizing the Trustees to erect upon said lot a suitable building for the Public Library, and appropriating for the same a sum not exceeding twenty thousand dollars, no action has been taken further than advertising for plans, and agreeing upon the ground plans and style of architecture as presented by Louis Weissbein, Esq.

From estimates made by him, and based upon the present cost of building material, it is apparent to the Trustees that a building which the liberal Town of Brookline would consider "suitable" cannot with prudence be commenced immediately; they ask the clemency of the Town upon their seeming remissness of duty in not carrying out the wishes of the inhabitants, and must plead in extenuation their unwillingness to enter upon a work which could not be finished within the appropriation. Another year it is hoped that money can be raised sufficient with the amount re-appropriated by the Town, to erect a building expressive of the taste of the citizens.

The town will be called upon to elect four Trustees for three years. Also two to fill the vacancies in the board caused by the resignation of T. P. Chandler, Esq., who has been a most efficient member from the commencement of the Library, and of Wm. D. Philbrick, Esq., who has filled the office of Treasurer for several years most acceptably.

All which is respectfully submitted.

REPORT.

THE town of Brookline has for some twenty years enjoyed the reputation of having spent as much per pupil on its public schools as any town in the State. It is very natural to infer from this that our schools are among the best, or at least good enough. Yet this is by no means a necessary consequence, and we should soon be left behind in these days of competition, if we relied upon our previously earned reputation for excellence. There has been quite an active competition in this respect, productive of general improvement among the other towns; but we have, perhaps, all fallen into the same errors to some degree. The standard aimed at has been in some cases too artificial, tending to stimulate a precocious development of brain at the expense of physical vigor, particularly in large towns, where the medal system and its consequent hot-bed stimulus of emulation has rather tended to destroy health than to develop a "sound mind in a sound body," and to dwarf the intellect by driving it hard in very narrow ruts, rather than to enlarge and develop it. The best intellectual results can never be obtained in an enfeebled body, for breadth and strength, as well as acuteness, are desirable in all intellectual efforts.

The true test of the success of a school, in our opinion, does not consist so much in the number of pages of history, geography, grammar or chemistry, which can be repeated by rote, as in the number of useful ideas which the pupil may have gained. It is clearly of little use in English studies to force the pupil to commit to memory what he does not well understand, when he can be made to understand it, if explained and illustrated orally by the teacher, to the end that the pupil may not repeat the words like a parrot, but be sure to stow away in his brain the new facts for his or her use in after life. To be sure, the teacher must exert himself to do this, but it will certainly be a pleasant exertion which awakens thought and interest in the pupil, while the latter can remember the mere words with half the labor, if thoroughly understanding their meaning, that would otherwise be required to commit them by rote.

The schools of Prussia and perhaps those of some of our sister towns are ahead of us in this respect. So also are some of the private schools, which are multiplying in such numbers, i. e., they devote more time than we to object teaching and oral instruction. In fact we fear that if we do not make a considerable effort, these private schools will soon divert all the more intelligent class of pupils whose parents can afford to patronize them, leaving our public schools to lose character and tone to a lamentable extent.

It cannot be denied that the system of private schools in and about Boston supplies a legitimate demand, that could be met by nothing else; but this sort of instruction is expensive, and it is our duty to do the best we can for the children of parents who cannot afford to support private teachers. We must see to it that our system of public instruction is at least as efficient as the nature of such an organization will admit, and, if possible, induce by its excellence the children of all to avail themselves of it. The private teacher may have many advantages for perfecting the art of teaching, which the teacher of a town school has not. He is not hampered by by-laws or by the attendance of a large class whose irregularity and early abandonment of school-life demoralizes the discipline or lowers the standard. He can choose his pupils, and need not be encumbered with dull ones, while the parents, who pay him, are not apt to allow what they pay for at such high rates to be lost by irregularity of attendance for insufficient reasons. He can confine his attention to a small number and thereby afford to give each one more detailed instruction than can be possible among a large number of different grades of intellect. All this makes it easier for him to depart from text-books and use oral instruction, but the teacher of the public school has equal if not greater advantages, such as the thorough basis for discipline, the independence of parents, and the democratic and unexclusive tone, which, if well managed, can create an esprit de corps, rarely attainable in a private school. In fact, though the difficulties are no doubt considerable, we think they can be met and overcome, if the question were regarded in its true merits and its importance duly felt. It is a peculiarity of the American character, of which we may be justly proud, that we do not long hesitate to act, after seeing wherein improvement is needed. Where there is a will, there is generally a way found to overcome the obstacles, and we often look back with surprise to find how little effort it cost us.

The parents themselves can aid in the improvement of the Schools to no small degree by their more frequent presence, not only on examination day, but at such times as they can attend during the term. We shall be very glad of the encouragement that would thus be afforded to teacher and pupil, and hope all parents will not only feel at liberty to come into and watch the progress of our schools at such times as they find convenient, but will find themselves fully repaid for doing so by the moral stimulus that would be thus afforded. Such visits need not interrupt the routine of the school and would be of great use.

PRIMARY SCHOOLS.

Several changes have taken place in the teachers. Miss Eliza G. Stearns has been employed on trial at the Newton Street school, vice Miss Caroline Allen resigned. The very limited number of children now resident in this district renders the school quite small, as will be seen by the subjoined tables, while the standard has considerably depreciated, chiefly from the fact of the small numbers and the limited demand for a school in that remote district. The crowded condition of the Heath Street Primary School induced the Committee to make a change in the arrangement of the small recitation rooms, whereby one stairway was dispensed with, and more room obtained for the scholars. Miss Susan M. Rowe was placed in charge of the lower classes of this school in place of Miss Harriet A. Stearns, who was removed to the South Primary School, and Miss Hannah E. Emerson continued in charge of the Heath Street Primary, with the addition of the lower class of the Grammar School. Mrs. Head, who had been in charge of the South Primary, resigned in September last, and Miss Eliza F. Kenrick, her assistant, was promoted to her place, which she appears to fill with great credit, while Miss Harriet A. Stearns has charge of the lower room as her assistant. Some temporary relief for the crowded condition of this lower room was obtained by removing a partition and bringing into the room a space formerly occupied by a large closet or lobby, but the unsatisfactory character of this building and its surroundings must soon call for the erection of a better building to accommodate the large number of children who attend school from that district.

In the last Report your Committee expressed their disappointment in the fact that the Longwood School was so poorly attended. The town now seems to have been misled in providing an additional school for that district. We then hoped that the change of teachers there spoken of might induce a larger attendance, but such has not been the case. Miss Adelaide Pope, who had had several years' successful experience at the South Primary School, was kept in charge of the Longwood School till recently, when she resigned on account of the state of her health, and her place has been filled by Miss Fannie A. Smith. But the school does not yet seem to justify the town in having erected the building. In fact, your Committee have had the matter of its entire abandonment under serious consideration, and would now present the question for the action of the town, for we cannot feel that we are warranted in maintaining a separate school there for a dozen pupils, to whom it would not be a great hardship to attend the Harvard Street School as before.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

The only change of teachers during the year was at the Pierce Grammar School, where the resignation of Miss McReading, assistant, was followed by the appointment of Miss Eliza Boies, whose success in Dorchester promises to render her a very desirable teacher. The Heath Street Grammar School has been modified by bringing in the aid of Miss Emerson from the Primary School to teach the lower class in connection with the first class of the Primary School, whose lower classes are taught by Miss Rowe, as above stated. In this connection we would say that the improvement in the appearance of this school in regard to thoroughness of instruction and general intelligence of the pupils has been very marked. They seem to have been less subject to the benumbing routine of text-books than usual among pupils of that age, and, if a similar gain can be effected in all the other schools, we shall soon see no good reason for so many private schools finding support within our town as at present.

HIGH SCHOOL.

The High School has prepared its highest class for Harvard College in a creditable manner, and we regret to say that there does not seem to be another class of so large a number to take its place. The assistant teacher in this school, Mr. Shute, resigned last Autumn, and the Committee availed themselves of the services of Mr. Arthur M. Knapp, who had for a short time occupied the same place before Mr. Shute's appointment.

The town will be called upon at the March meeting to elect three members of the Board of School Committee, to fill the places of Messrs. Parsons, Prescott, and Sanford, whose term expires with the present fiscal year.

The resignation of Dr. Lamson will render necessary the election of a member to serve for the remaining two years of his term.

The Board are unwilling to part from Dr. Lamson without expressing their regret at his loss, and their appreciation of the able and kindly manner in which he has for several years performed the duties of their Chairman.

For the Committee.

REPORT OF A COMMITTEE

ON

BROOKLINE,

PRINTED BY JOHN WILSON AND SON.

R E P O R T.

To the Citizens of the Town of Brookline.

THE undersigned, appointed a Committee "to take the whole subject of repairing the Highways of the Town into consideration and report thereon," respectfully report: —

Our common roads must continue to afford the principal means of transit to the greater part of the community; and to their improvement, we think, a portion of that public spirit which now prevails, may be profitably directed.

In their contributions to support the public burdens, no tax is apparently paid with more cheerfulness by our people, than that which is assessed for the repairs of the roads. But the funds appropriated to this object are often sadly misapplied: no regular system of repairs has been pursued. The Surveyors are liable to be changed at every annual election, after becoming partially skilled, and their place supplied by those wholly unused to the work. The duty is an arduous one, and the compensation trifling. It would, therefore, be unreasonable to expect that attention to be paid to the theory and practice of road-repairing, requisite to obtain the knowledge and skill with their practical application, necessary to secure good roads.

Every Surveyor, therefore, has a plan of his own: which, though he may not have more than an ordinary share of confidence in his individual judgment, he thinks at least as good as that of his neighbor, and he acts accordingly; while the public find poor roads, though they have made large appropriations to get good ones. A temporary repair, such as may last till the next wintry deluge shall sweep it away, seems, frequently, the farthest bound to which the common notions of road-making have extended; as if the annual appropriation was designed for the benefit of the present year, and that alone.

The defects of the common method of constructing and repairing roads must be attributed to a want of experience. Nor have we, who inhabit a country comparatively new, been the only sufferers. The long-travelled countries of Europe have, almost equally with ourselves, endured the inconvenience incident to the want of a settled system on this subject. A writer in the "Encyclopædia Britannica," referring to the roads of England, says they were in a wretched condition previous to 1748; and from 1760 to 1774, 452 Acts were passed for their amelioration. A writer in the "Quarterly Review," in 1820, gives the testimony of several experts, from which we derive the following facts: The Superintendent of mail coaches, under the Postmaster General, states that there is a great want of skill in forming the roads, and keeping them in repair, particularly near London; that the whole town of Egham had been covered with gravel, unsifted, eight or nine inches deep, from side to side, of which the consequence was, that the Exeter mail lost ten, fifteen, or twenty minutes every night. Four principal coach proprietors all concur in their opinion of the badness of the roads near the metropolis, and in complaining of their too great convexity, and of the unskilful manner in which the materials are applied. They say three horses would draw the mail on Mr. Telford's roads with as much ease as four on the road from London to Dunchurch; the excellence of Mr. Telford's roads consisting principally in the smallness of their convexity. The drivers represent the crossing backwards and forwards through the gravel, heaped sometimes in the middle of the roads near London, as "tearing the horses' hearts out." On the improved roads, sixteen miles can be travelled with more facility than twelve miles on the old. McAdam specifies several roads "as managed with the least skill, and, consequently, at the heaviest expense." An enormous reduction in the expense of maintaining roads is effected by a better system. Several cases are specified. The reduction in certain cases being from twenty-two to fifteen pounds per week. The Committee of 1811 estimated the saving which would be made to the country by putting the roads in a proper state of repair, at five million pounds annually.

The roads of Sweden are described by Mr. Cripp's Commission, as being the most beautiful they ever beheld. They appear to the eye to be perfectly flat, but upon trial by the spirit-level, there is a slight degree of convexity. The "Encyclopædia Britannica" informs us, that in France the highways are under care of the Minister of Public Works, and kept in repair out of the general taxes; the great roads being generally in good condition, but the cross roads in a most wretched state. Sir H. Parnell, in his "Treatise on Roads," in 1833, describes the roads of England as formerly being treated as our roads now are. The materials, instead of being cleaned of the mud and soil with which they are mixed in their native state, were laid promiscuously on the road, creating unnecessary expense in carrying material to the road, and afterwards nearly as much in removing it.

The condition of the roads of England and France, as above described, has since been very much improved. The agitation caused by intelligent and public spirited men, and the consequent careful inquiry into the principles of the construction and repair of roads, has resulted very favorably. Good and permanent roads, built by McAdam, Telford, and other skilful engineers, are very generally found in England and France, which may well be studied by us as examples.

Gillespie says the common roads of the United States are inferior to those of any other civilized country. Most of their defects arise from an ignorance either of the true principles of road-making, or of the advantage of putting these principles into practice. "The money levied is more than double of what is necessary for executing, in the completest manner, the work, which is often executed in a very slovenly manner, and sometimes not executed at all." The evil results of negligence and inexperience are very great, where the citizens are, without much regard to their habits of life, called in their turns to serve the annual office of Surveyor of Highways.

If not in Brookline, it is true in some towns, that, if such persons mean to signalize themselves, during their being in office, the first step is often to undo what their predecessor has done, or has not perfected; and the love of self and of friends determines them to make sure, while they have it in their power, that some favored roads are put into proper order. If the Surveyor is, on the contrary, an unwilling officer, or if the attention to his own affairs prevents his giving his time to the duties of his office, he pays the bills and wages without much knowledge of their nature and accuracy, and one of the laborers becomes, in fact, the road Surveyor. But, in every case of nomination, there is this evil: that, as soon as the Surveyor has, by a year's apprenticeship, begun to know something of the nature of the business, his place is filled by another, who comes in for the same time to take lessons at the expense of the public. The Surveyor may sometimes be a man who makes his sense of public duty subordinate to private advantage, or to feelings of good neighborhood: consequently, much time is wasted; and, not unfrequently, the public funds are so appropriated, that, under pretence of doing the public service, private interests are subserved.

Not because it is practised in Brookline, but because it is common in many towns, we must take occasion to reprobate one practice in connection with our system of repairing highways,—it is the custom of permitting every person either to pay his tax, or work it out, at his option. This custom derives its origin from the feudal system, and is a remnant of the personal service which the lord of the manor exacted of his vassals,—one of the few relics of a barbarous age, which the spirit of our free institutions has not yet shaken off. At a time when rents were paid in kind, and when the convenience of a circulating medium was comparatively unknown, there might be some necessity for resorting to this expedient; but now, when the product of every man's labor can be so readily converted into money, we see no valid reason for retaining it. Men unaccustomed to the kind of labor required in repairing a road, however industrious their habits may be, cannot be employed upon it to the public advantage.

Those who are suitable might obtain the employment of the Surveyor, if they desired it, without placing him under an obligation to employ them whether competent or not. The most competent men would be employed to do the work, if the Surveyor were furnished with the means, and left at liberty to use them to the best advantage. And, as far as an inferior class of laborers are admitted, whether they are indolent or unskilful, the public are certainly the sufferers. The personal labor system should be entirely abolished; as half the amount, now levied in days' work, expended under the supervision of a proper superintendent would produce a superior result.

PROPOSED SYSTEM.

The first step in endeavoring to improve our system should be to place the repairs of the roads under the charge of a professional road-maker of science and experience; and on his skill will depend the condition of the roads, more than on local circumstances or expenditures.

All the horses, carts, and implements necessary for repairs, should be the property of the town, and kept at the public expense. A few men should be employed by the year to take charge of the public property used on the roads, in addition to their other labors, and to prepare materials for use, at such times as they may not be otherwise employed. Probably five men in the summer, and four men in the winter, would be enough to keep the roads in admirable condition. They would need two good horses, and implements of the value of $1000, more or less, consisting of carts, snow-ploughs, a roller, barrows, shovels, picks, scrapers, &c. Additional men could occasionally be employed by the day, when extra work is needed. With such an arrangement as this, under a good superintendent, it is our deliberate judgment that half the money heretofore appropriated for the care of the roads would keep them in as good condition as formerly; and an equal appropriation would much increase the comfort of the traveling public, as well as materially increase the reputation, already good, of the Brookline roads. As to the economy of employing a single superintendent, we could cite two towns in our neighborhood, the only ones employing a single superintendent which have come to our knowledge, and show that the cost per mile for repairs in those towns is much less than in any other town with which we are acquainted. We will give some facts in regard to the care of the roads in Waltham, one of the towns above referred to, for which we are indebted to Mr. A. R. Carter, the present efficient Road-Superintendent, and to Mr. S. B. Whitney, who is largely entitled to the credit of the system there pursued. There are about fifty-one miles of public ways in that town; and for seven years past, while Mr. Carter has been employed, the annual expenditure for repairs of roads and streets, including sidewalks, has averaged $3,357. This rate is less than one-fourth the cost per mile of the repairs of the Brookline roads; and, in our opinion, the material is no better, and the travel quite as destructive as in Brookline, though the subsoil on which the road-bed rests, is generally better in Waltham than in Brookline. We will add, that the reputation of the Waltham roads has always been good,—better, indeed, than that of any other town about us; and, perhaps, not excepting Brookline. Mr. Carter says, of Waltham,—

“The Town owns three good horses, with carts, snow-ploughs, tools, &c., &c., valued, at present prices, at \$1,200. A competent person is appointed to take charge of the work, heretofore at a salary of \$600 per annum. His duty is to manage the teams and direct the men, &c. There have been, usually, eight workmen employed in the summer months, and six during the winter ; heretofore at wages varying from \$1.00 to \$1.12 $\frac{1}{2}$ in summer, and 60 cents to 75 cents in winter. Most of the time in winter is spent in digging gravel, and preparing it for use, drawing it to places of easy access, so that, during the summer season, a street or way can be speedily and neatly repaired. The preparation of gravel in winter, I consider a very important feature in our success. During the short days of winter, the workmen can excavate and prepare more road-material than during the hot days of summer ; and the stuff is ready for instant use, so that a spot needing repair can be mended before it becomes very bad from constant wear.

“ In early spring, as soon as the frost is fairly out of the ground, the workmen go over the roads with picks and hoes, filling ruts, cleaning out drains and water-courses, and picking off the loose stones ; any bad spot is noted ; and, as soon thereafter as practicable, those places are mended. From April to December, at intervals of about six weeks, the workmen pass over all the roads and streets, and pick up and remove all the loose stones or rubbish found thereon. During the very hot weeks of summer, it is so managed as to employ the men about culverts, or other similar work, so as to relieve them from the very severe labor incident to other work connected with the department.”

We should recommend that a larger force, in proportion to the number of miles of road, be kept in Brookline than has been employed in Waltham, in order to insure constant care over all the roads. The importance of constant oversight and care in “ keeping up a road ” cannot be over-rated. This is a very different thing from “ repairing a road,” though the two are often confounded. By the former, a road is always kept in good condition ; by the latter, it is only in good condition at intervals, being a part of the time unfit for travel by reason of the new materials in excessive quantity, and a part of the time worn into ruts and hollows, which increase in geometrical ratio by the heavier blows of wheels falling into them. A road kept in the best condition receives least injury from travel, and therefore requires the least expenditure for its maintenance. Supposing the road to be in good condition, that is, in proper shape and free from holes, ruts, mud, and dust, it requires the daily attention of permanent laborers to keep it so, by removing the result of the daily wear of the materials, whether in the shape of mud or of dust; and by constantly adding, in small quantity, new materials to replace those lost by the wear.

APPLICATION OF MATERIALS.

Mr. Penfold, whose experience in the care of roads cannot be questioned, says, "It is one of the greatest mistakes in road-making that can be committed, to lay on thick coats of materials, and when understood will be no longer resorted to. The substance should be carefully kept up; a cubic yard of stone to a square rod will be quite enough for a coat, and will be found to last as long as double the quantity in thick layers. There is no grinding to pieces when the surface is loosened and the material so applied."

Henry Law, an English engineer of much reputation, says, "It is certain that more roads are spoilt from having too much material put on them, than there are from having too little. Roads should be always under repair; every road should be divided into lengths, on each of which an intelligent laborer, who thoroughly understands his business, should be placed, to attend constantly and at all times to the proper state of the road, for which he should be responsible. His office would consist in keeping the road always scraped clean and free from mud, in filling any ruts or hollow places, the moment they appeared, with broken stones, which should be kept in depots formed on the sides of the roads, and one of which, holding thirty cubic yards, should be provided in each quarter of a mile. Each man should be provided with a wheelbarrow, shovel, pickaxe, and scraper. Additional laborers could be engaged at times when more work is required. Those who have tried the two methods find it is vastly cheaper to prevent a road from getting out of repair, than it is to restore it again to a proper state. Not only should the mud be carefully scraped off, but, in dry weather, the roads should be regularly watered, not alone on account of the passengers, but for the good of the road. Scrapers are indispensable for preserving the roads in a proper state and free from mud.

Prof. Mahan in his "Elementary Essay on Road-Making," says: "The repairs should be daily made by adding fresh material upon all points where hollows or ruts commence to form. The surface on which fresh material is spread should be broken by a pick to the depth of a half inch to an inch, and the fresh material well settled by ramming. The importance of keeping the road surface at all times free from an accumulation of mud and dust, and of preserving the surface in a uniform state of evenness by the daily addition of fresh material, whenever the wear is sufficient to call for it, cannot be too strongly insisted upon. Without this constant supervision, the best constructed road will, in a short time, be unfit for travel; and with it, the weakest may at all times be kept in a tolerably fair state."

Sir H. Parnell, the author of an excellent "Treatise on Roads," says: "The business of repairing roads should always be managed on a regular and fixed plan. The following matters requiring particular attention: 1. The quality of the materials. 2. The quantity to be put on per mile per annum. 3. The preparation of the materials. 4. The method of putting them on the road.

"1. The hardest materials should be used, and they are much cheaper brought from a distance, than soft near at hand. The smooth surface resulting from the use of hard broken stone, much lessens the labor of horses. Gravel when it consists of pebbles of the hard sort of stones, will make a good road, particularly when the pebbles are large enough to be broken, otherwise it will not; for it wears so rapidly that a road made with it is extremely defective with respect to that perfect hardness it ought to have.

"2. The quantity must be regulated by the use of the road. The materials should be quarried, carted, and broken by contract. They should be packed in depots in regular shaped heaps, so as not to interfere with the use of the road.

"3. Stone should be small and cubical. Gravel should be sifted to separate all less than three-fourths inch diameter, from the rest, and all large pebbles should be broken if they exceed one inch diameter.

"4. The material, after being properly prepared, should be laid on in small quantities at a time ; care should be taken to fill ruts or hollows as soon as they appear. In those places which have become much worn, a coating of one and a half inches of materials should be laid on when stone are used ; and not exceeding one inch in thickness when gravel is used. New materials should be added when the surface of the road is wet and somewhat softened.

"A regular plan should be arranged and strictly adhered to for keeping the water-channels and drains of a road always open and free from dirt. Once a year all should undergo a general repair and cleaning. The whole road also should be put in every respect into a complete state of repair so as to preserve it from being broken up during the winter. A road should be scraped so often as never to have one half an inch of mud upon it ; this is particularly necessary when materials are weak ; for if the surface is not kept clean it will be rapidly worn away.

"The superior condition of roads, at all times, crossing unenclosed land, shows how valuable a full exposure to the sun and wind is in contributing to the preservation of roads."

A writer in the "Encyclopædia Britannica," says: "In improving an old road by the common method of heaping on new materials, there is a wasteful expenditure of means ; for most old roads usually contain abundant material, if properly lifted and applied. Roads should be scraped clean in wet weather, and watered in dry."

Gillespie says, "The operation of applying new materials demands several precautions. To prevent a weak place from being neglected because the materials are not at hand, they should be kept in depots, never more than a quarter of a mile apart, and carried thence in barrows. They should be applied after a rain, as then they will more easily unite, and no coat more than one and a half inches thick should ever be applied at any one time. A cubic yard to a superficial rod will be quite enough at once. The broken stone will then soon become incorporated without having their angles worn by motion, and will be of as much service as double the thickness applied at once. To avoid retarding the travel, and increasing the draught too much, a new coat should not be put on any continuous space larger than six or seven square yards. If several depressions are found very near each other, cover the worst, and attend to the next after the first has become solid. The ruts which are formed, should not be filled with loose stone, for this would make longitudinal ridges of harder material; but as Penfold says, 'The laborer should work the rake backwards and forwards on each side of the rut and across it; and if he do it with his eyes shut, he will do more good than by taking pains to gather all the stones he can find to place in it.' "

We recommend that the roads of the town be divided into districts, each having a length of about five miles of road, more or less, depending upon the care required to keep up the road, all under the care of a single superintendent; and that one laborer be appointed to each district, who shall be held responsible for the good condition of the road under his care. His whole time, during the summer season, should be spent upon the road, and we have no doubt his labor would keep in the most perfect order five or six miles of well made and well drained road, including the gutters, culverts, and sidewalks. We think this arrangement may be profitably adopted during the present season, notwithstanding the fact that no depots of materials are ready; for nearly if not quite all the roads in town have abundant material now upon their surface, which needs only to be lifted and properly worked in the bad places. Indeed, material has been applied so freely, in former years, that the grade of our streets is, in nearly every instance, higher than when it was constructed.

QUALITY OF MATERIALS.

On the quality of the new materials to be applied, and the mode of application, will depend, more than upon any thing else, except the skill of the superintendent, the economy of management, and the comfort of travellers. We have in all our gravel pits, and in many other places in town, great quantities of small, round stone, hard and tough, which would make excellent material for repairs, if properly broken. These may be easily broken by men during the winter, or a machine invented for the purpose, and now extensively used for breaking stones for roads, and for crushing the gangue of metal at mines, may be procured to do the work economically and effectually. The surface, renewed by this material, would last much longer than one renewed by gravel, and would be much smoother and harder; another important consideration lies in the fact that gravel is not abundant in Brookline, and it is easy to see that the want of it would soon be severely felt, if the old method of repairs is to be continued.

The writer in the "Quarterly Review," before quoted, says: "The materials should be homogeneous in size upon a road of well ordered materials; wheel-carriages will then pass without any jolt or shake; and consequently without that action and reaction between the wheels and stones which is the real cause of the bad state of the roads. Round gravel and round pebbles never make a tolerable road; but broken stone will combine by its own angles into a smooth, solid surface that cannot be affected by the vicissitudes of the weather. When a road is well formed and covered to the depth of eight or ten inches with well-broken materials, the next object is to maintain it in good repair: and here the whole art and mystery consists in constant scraping when the weather is wet and dirty; in continually filling the ruts, and in giving free access to sun and air. When fresh material is necessary, it should be laid on while the road is in a moist state, and immediately after it has been scraped."

Bloodgood says, in his "Treatise on Roads," "The form and size of the stones which compose the surface stratum, have a powerful influence on a road's durability. If their form is roundish, it is evident they will not bind into a compact stratum; if they are large, whether the form be round or angular, the stratum cannot be solid: and if they are of mixed sizes and shapes, though a very strong and solid stratum may be formed at first, yet the wheels of carriages and the feet of animals, operating with unequal effect on the small and large stones, would soon derange the solidity of the stratum to a certain depth; and consequently, by admitting rain and frost to penetrate it, accelerate its decay. A constant state of moisture, even without any derangement of surface, contributes to the wearing of roads by friction; hence, one requisite to durability is a free exposure to the sun and air: and another is, keeping a road clear of mud and dust."

Gillespie says, "The roundness of pebbles which form the chief part of gravel, prevents them from perfectly consolidating, except under much travel. Gravel may be too clean; it should contain earthy matter enough to unite and bind together its pebbles. But usually the gravel contains too much earthy matter and should be sifted; the fine material being used for sidewalks. Gravel over a hard surface will be worn away rapidly. Stones for roads should be broken into angular fragments, that they may form a compact mass; no rounded stones should ever be used. No large stones should be used, for a blow from a wheel or a horse's hoof will loosen them from place, and keep the road loose and uneven. McAdam examined old roads and found the expense of their repairs in pretty exact proportion to the size of the materials used. The erroneous idea that the evils of an undrained, wet, clayey soil, can be remedied by a large quantity of materials, has caused a large part of the costly and unsuccessful expenditures in making broken stone roads. The use of a heavy roller will greatly facilitate the consolidation of the road. Where the materials of the road are very brittle stone, they wear away very rapidly in dry weather, and their consumption may be much lessened by watering the road judiciously; not so little as to form a crust which adheres to the wheel, nor so much as to make the draught heavy. A moderate use of the watering cart preserves the materials from pulverization, and keeps them settled in their places, at the same time that the comfort of the traveller is greatly enhanced. This is particularly necessary on roads in this country during our hot and dry summers; for after a long drought the crust of the road sometimes becomes so dried out, that it ceases to bind, and permits loose stones to be detached from it, to the great injury of the surface. An excess of moisture must, however, be avoided, since it increases the grinding power of the pulverized stones, as marble is sawn and jewels are cut with their own powder combined with water. A road properly kept up by daily attention needs no repairs: but if it be put in order only at intervals, the injuries to it, which have been increasing in geometrical progression, will render very serious repairs necessary. It will be found cut into ruts, deep holes, and irregular projections, and must be put into shape, and restored to its proper cross-section. Only a single thin coat of stone should be applied at a time; not more than a cubic yard to a rod superficial. The surface of the old road may be lightly picked up or 'lifted' with strong short picks; merely burying the point of the pick one or two inches deep, so that the new materials may be more readily united to the old ones. When the road to be repaired is one which had been originally formed of large stones, and of superfluous thickness, no new materials should be brought upon it; but the old stones should be loosened with picks, gathered by strong rakes to the side of the road, and there broken to the proper size. The surface of the road having been put into proper shape, the broken stones are to be returned to it, being scattered uniformly and thinly over the surface. Only a small space of road should be thus broken up at once, say six or eight feet in length, but the whole width. The old plan would be to fill up the holes with an additional supply of the same large materials; but the method here recommended produces a great saving in expense."

Henry Law says, "There are two methods of solidifying the surface of a road; one by the mechanical form of the materials forming a bond, the other by the use of some binding matter like earth. The preference must be decidedly given to the former. Angular stone should be thoroughly cleaned; round pebbles should not be free from other matter. Great care should be taken to keep the ruts filled, and to induce carriages to travel over all parts of the road."

GRADE AND WIDTH.

A few facts on the grade and width of roads may not be out of place, though perhaps not expected from this committee. Gillespie says: "As to grade, experiments on French and English roads have shown that a horse can draw only one-fourth as much on a grade of ten feet in a hundred, as upon a level road; only two-fifths as much on a grade of five feet in a hundred, four-fifths as much on a grade of two feet in a hundred, and nine-tenths as much on a grade of one foot in a hundred. No relief is given to the muscles of horses by an undulating road. The horizontal length of a road may be increased twenty times the height which is to be thus saved. A horse's extra exertion may be assumed at double his usual exertion; though he can for a short time exercise a tension of six times the usual amount. Five feet in a hundred is considered the maximum grade allowable. This is the maximum established by the French Government Board of Engineers, the minimum established by them being eight-tenths of a foot in a hundred. Rain does much more injury to a road of high grade. By the revised statutes of New York, 'All public roads to be laid out by the commissioners of highways of any town, shall not be less than three rods wide.' 'It shall be the duty of the commissioners of highways to order the overseers of highways to open all roads to the width of two rods at least which they shall judge to have been used as public highways for twenty years.' 'All private roads shall not be more than three rods wide.' The French roads are divided into four classes, with widths from sixty-six feet to twenty-six feet, according to their importance. The prescribed widths of English roads are from sixty to twenty feet. American roads are often eighty feet wide." On a narrow road the traffic would wear the road more severely than when spread over a larger surface. The wind and sun also exercise more influence in keeping the surface of a wide road dry.

CROSS-SECTION.

The cross-section or transverse profile of the surface of a road, is of great influence upon the cost of repairs, and upon the convenience and safety of travellers; we shall quote the opinions of several writers upon this subject, whose views are entitled to weight. The writer in the "Quarterly Review," before quoted, says, "In the formation of roads one of the most prevailing faults is, that of giving them too great convexity; a fall of three inches, McAdam says, from centre to side, is sufficient for a road thirty feet wide." Mr. Edgeworth says, "In all these schemes for carrying off water from the roads by the inclination of the ground, it seems to have escaped the attention of those who proposed them, that no lateral inclination of the ground, consistent with the safety of the carriages, would empty a rut of three inches deep. So far is this from being the case, that even down a moderate slope, where any dirt remains upon the roads, the water will be obstructed. Where the roads are exposed to sun and wind the effects of heat and ventilation are more powerful than any surface drainage that could be accomplished for drying a rough road."

Gillespie says, "In cross-section, the usual though improper shape given to a road to make it crown, has been a convex curve; this is very faulty in consequence of its slope not being uniform, and giving too little inclination near the middle, and too much at the sides. The water, therefore, stands in the middle of the road and washes away its sides. It is worn down very unevenly; for all carriages, to avoid the danger of overturning on the steep sides, will take the middle of the road, which is the only part of it where they can stand at all upright, while the road ought, on the contrary, to be so formed as to induce vehicles to traverse it equally and indifferently in every part. This excessive travel in the middle soon wears it into ruts and holes, so that more water will actually stand upon such an originally convex road, than on one reasonably flat. When carriages are forced to travel on the sides, they cause great additional wear to the road, from their constant tendency to slide down the sides, owing to the oblique angles at which the direction of gravity meets the surface. As this sliding tendency is at right angles to the line of draught, the labor of the horses and the wear of the wheels are both greatly increased. The scraping of the surface by the sliding wheels is very serious, the material being thus displaced very rapidly. Whenever vehicles are obliged to cross the roads and mount the central ridge, they must overcome the same resistance of gravity, as when they are drawn up a longitudinal hill. The best transverse profile for a road on level ground is that formed by two inclined planes meeting in the centre of the road and having their angle slightly rounded by a connecting curve. The inclination will thus be uniform, and the road will escape most of the evils incident to the curved profile. The degree of inclination will depend on the surface of the road; being greatest where the road is rough, and lessening with its greater smoothness. On a rough road the inclination may be increased to one in twenty, and diminished on a road smooth or paved, to one in forty, or one in fifty. Up to the limit of one in twenty, the transverse slope should increase with the longitudinal slope of the road, which it should always exceed, or at least equal, in order to prevent the water running too far down the length of the road, and gulying it out; for the water runs off in the diagonal of a rectangle, the sides of which are proportioned to the steepness of the two slopes."

Henry Law says: "The majority are averse to a road being much curved in cross-section. The only advantage in crowning the surface of a road is to facilitate surface drainage. Now the only reason why carriages use the centre of the road in preference to its sides, is on account of the rounding form; as it is only there the carriage can stand upright. McAdam thinks that more water actually stands upon a very convex road than on one which is reasonably flat. The wear of roads is greater when crowned excessively. The sliding and scraping motion is very injurious. Many accidents and much danger have arisen from the practice of forming roads with excessive convexity."

Many of the roads of Brookline have a convexity which is very objectionable and dangerous. We have known serious accidents to occur in consequence of it, and also much inconvenience. Again, Law says: "Generally speaking, the cause of bad roads is their imperfect, transverse form, and the improper manner in which the road-materials are used. Whatever the measures adopted for repairs, the road must be brought to the proper form of section before much improvement can be expected. This should be done by cutting down those parts which are too high, and raising the depressed parts. The course to be pursued is that of lifting the road; that is, loosening and turning the surface to about four inches depth, removing the improper materials; after which, fresh materials should be laid on thin, never exceeding three inches at one time, and ordinarily not more than two inches. Where the surface is thin, and new materials are to be added, the surface should be just loosened, so that the new may be rapidly incorporated with the old material. The best time for repairs is in a wet time."

SIDEWALKS.

The condition of that portion of the road devoted exclusively to the use of pedestrians, is, in such a town as Brookline, as important as that of the carriage-way. Most of the persons in this town transact their daily business in Boston, and reach the city by other means than their own conveyances. These persons, therefore, are, for the most part, compelled to walk, in Brookline, to and from the railroad, horse-car, or omnibus; and the town is therefore bound to furnish them, at all seasons of the year, an easy and cleanly path to travel on. That they do not have this, during the whole of the winter and early spring, and during continued wet weather at other seasons, is a well-known fact.

With the amount of expenditure for roads in this town, even if no other material than gravel be used, by a proper system of deep drainage, the sidewalks may be kept hard, smooth, and free from mud at all times. With attention to the repair of the existing sidewalks, and the construction of additions to them, the town might, in a few years, have permanently good sidewalks on every principal street. And it would no longer be the case that ladies, young children, and invalids, would be prevented by the state of the path, from taking necessary walking exercise. And persons liking Brookline scenery and Brookline society, would have more inducement to settle in the town, from the increased facilities for enjoying these great advantages.

QUALITY OF THE SURFACE.

The surface of a road ought to be hard and smooth as possible, to reduce the resistance to the smallest possible amount. Smoothness is not only essential to comfort, but even more so to economy of labor, of carriage wear, and of road wear. Carriages passing over a smooth road are not only drawn more easily, but do much less damage to the road, than when the wheels strike like sledge-hammers into hollows, deepening them, and thus increasing the force of the next blow. Hardness is essential to the preservation of smoothness. A solid, unyielding foundation is one of the first requisites for a perfect road. General Morin made experiments to show the resistance to draught on roads of different surfaces, with the following results:—

Carriages on springs, drawn upon a new road covered with gravel five inches thick, required in tractive force	$\frac{1}{8}$ the load.
Upon a solid causeway of earth with gravel $1\frac{1}{2}$ inches thick, required in tractive force	$\frac{1}{10}$ "

Upon a causeway of earth, in very good condition, required in tractive force	$\frac{1}{28}$ the load.
do. broken-stone road, — very smooth, — required
in tractive force	$\frac{1}{48}$ "
do. broken-stone road, — moist or dusty, — required
in tractive force	$\frac{1}{30}$ "
do. broken-stone road, — with ruts and mud, — required in tractive force	$\frac{1}{20}$ "
do. broken-stone road, — with deep ruts and thick mud, — required in tractive force	$\frac{1}{10}$ "
do. pavement, required in tractive force	$\frac{1}{38}$ "

How important it is to keep the best made road in good condition!

Gillespie says: "The surface of a road being hard and smooth, — well made of broken stone, — a horse can draw three times as much as he can upon a gravel road. Men should be stationed on a new road to rake in the ruts and keep off round stones. No large stones or coarser gravel should be placed at the bottom; for by action of frost and vibration of carriages, they are sure to rise to the surface, like materials in a shaken sieve, and the road will never become firm and smooth."

Sir John Macneil found the power necessary to move a ton on an old broken-stone road to be 65 pounds. On a road of gravel, (good thickness on earth), to be 147 pounds.

Professor Mahan says: "Great importance is attached, by the French engineers, to the use of the iron cylinder for compressing the materials of a new road, and to minute attention to daily repairs. By the use of the roller, the cost of repairs during the first year after construction is diminished, and less thickness of materials may be used. Too great attention cannot be given to keeping the road-surface free from mud, and even dust. It should be constantly cleaned by scraping and sweeping."

Bloodgood says: "The continued smoothness of a road during its wear, depends on small stones being used in every part of the stratum: for if the lower part of it, as is generally the case in the old style of forming roads, consists of large stones, as soon as it is penetrated by the wheels or water from above, these stones will work up, and produce a road full of holes and covered with loose stones. Smoothness and hardness are the chief qualities to be secured in a road. An ivory ball rolled on a Turkey carpet, will suffer a visible relaxation of its course; but, with the same impelling force, will advance further over a superfine cloth; still further over smooth boards; and it will scarcely seem to abate its velocity over a sheet of pure ice. Gravel roads cannot be so hard as broken-stone roads. If the foundation of a road be not equal to the pressure it has to sustain, the whole fabric, though in other respects ever so well constructed, must fail in permanent stability, and the hardness of it will be imperfect, from its elasticity."

The Highway Law of New York requires the overseers of highways, "To cause the noxious weeds on each side of the highway within their respective districts, to be cut down or destroyed twice in each year; once before the first day of July, and again before the first day of September: and the requisite labor shall be considered highway work." . . . "It shall be the further duty of the overseers of highways, once in each month, from the first day of April until the first day of December, to cause all the loose stones lying on the beaten track of every road within their respective districts, to be removed; and to cause the monuments erected, or to be erected, at the boundaries of highways, to be kept up and renewed, so that the extent of such roads may be publicly known."

The most important point of all, both in economy and comfort, is the constant attention that removes a stone the day it appears on the road, and puts a shovelful of new material where it is wanted, before a rain or other cause makes a cartful necessary, instead.

Loose stones are a great cause of injury to the surface of a road. On being struck by a wheel, or the foot of a horse, they act like a stone-hammer in breaking up the surface; and a hollow once begun, is rapidly increased. The injury to carriages, from the shocks, is also great; and, measured in the aggregate, for a town like Brookline, the result would be surprising. They are also an annoyance to travellers, a trial to horses, and in every respect troublesome and expensive, if allowed to remain upon the surface; but if removed and broken, they furnish excellent material for renewals. The workmen should constantly attend to the removal of stones, as soon as they are loosened. We cannot express too strongly our conviction of the importance of picking up or lifting the surface when new materials are to be added. When this is done, the incorporation of new with old material is rapid, and the road is soon smooth and fit for travel. On the contrary, when material is added to the old hard surface, it is ground to pieces, as though between two mill-stones, making much mud and dust before being incorporated in the road.

DRAINAGE.

Only one other point will be presented by us for the consideration of the Town; the all-important one of drainage. No road can be permanently a good one, in which water may stand, either upon the surface, or within a depth of three or four feet of it. The best road will be torn to pieces by the constant upheaval of frost; no amount of care or attention being sufficient to prevent it.

On the other hand, it is well known that a perfectly dry road, of whatever materials formed, provided the surface is smooth, is a good one.

The Earl of Lonsdale,—for some time the able superintendent of the metropolitan roads,—in a speech at an agricultural gathering in Carlisle, said: “Many of you, I dare say, know that some portion of Middlesex is low and flat, with a strong clay. We found that what we called shallow draining, took a little water off the surface of the roads, but did not strengthen or harden the foundations. The roads were soon in as bad a state as ever. After various consultations upon the subject, with a friend of mine, we determined to drain five or six feet deep. From that moment their maintenance did not involve half of the previous expense." He goes on to say, they had extensive powers, and relates how violent opposition was made by land-owners, who afterwards thanked him warmly for persisting in deep drainage. Experiments have been made, which show that, in well drained land, about twenty-five per cent. of the bulk is occupied by air, and that water may therefore percolate even through frozen earth, which held no stagnant water at the time of freezing.

Gillespie says: "The drainage of a road is one of the most important elements in its condition. All improvements are useless, till the water is thoroughly got rid of; and a bad road may often be transposed into a good one, by merely providing for carrying off immediately all the water which falls upon it. The water standing beneath the surface causes great injury to the road, in lessening its ability to resist wear and tear." Henry Law says: "Too much attention cannot be paid to the drainage of roads." Professor Mahan says: "A system of thorough drainage is essential to a good condition of roads. The water should be kept from the under soil at least three feet deep." And again: "It is of the first importance that the surface be kept dry." Bloodgood says: "The first operation in making a road should be to secure the soil from under-water; that is, thoroughly drain it. Next secure it from rain-water, by a surface impervious to water; for which purpose avoid all water-absorbing substances, like clay, earth, chalk, &c. Roads constructed to exclude water, do not break in severe winters." Again: "If roads, by a proper system of drainage, be kept dry, they will be maintained in a good state, and at proportionally less expense. In roads where gravel, or earth and stones are used, the earth or clay, in wet weather, is mixed with the stones, and, absorbing moisture, becomes soft, and allows the stones to move and rub against each other, when acted on by the feet of horses, or wheels of carriages. This attrition of the stones against each other, wears them out surprisingly fast, and produces large quantities of mud, which tends to keep the roads damp, and by this means increase the injury."

Attention to the quality of materials; promptness in the repair of defective places, to maintain the smoothness and hardness of the surface; care in keeping up a proper cross-section, and faithfulness in maintaining thorough drainage, are even more important in this country than in Europe, on account of the severity of our winters, and our liability to protracted droughts in the summer. The destruction of imperfect roads by freezing, and the loss of the binding quality of earth or gravel by drought, render the advantages of such close attention to the condition of our roads, much greater here than in a milder climate.

All which is respectfully submitted.

SELECTMEN'S REPORT.

POOR.

The poor whom the town has to make permanent provision for, have been boarded out as heretofore; and in some few cases temporary relief has been afforded to persons whom the Overseers considered suitable objects of assistance, and the expenses have been kept within the appropriation.

HIGHWAYS.

The streets of the town have been kept in their usual repair during the past year. The amount expended has exceeded the appropriation by a small amount. This excess is caused in part by the increased cost of labor, and partly by the fact that we have been obliged to purchase the greater portion of the materials used in repairing the streets. We have also been obliged to put in some new cesspools and drains which were not anticipated.

The sum of $1,500 was appropriated for the improvement of Walnut and Washington streets, as laid out and ordered by the County Commissioners. The changes in Walnut Street have been made. Upon an examination of Washington Street it was deemed advisable to lower the grade from the junction of Walnut Street to a point near the Gas-House. This has not been done because, in the opinion of your Board, the work could be done to a better advantage in connection with the grading of Pond Street, than if the two were done separately; and the order to make Pond Street not being received from the County Commissioners until midwinter, the proposed change could not be carried out. The cost of grading Pond Street will probably be somewhat above the estimate of last year, as the culvert at the junction of Pond and Washington Streets has fallen in and must be rebuilt; and as the material owned by the Town for making roads is nearly exhausted, we advise that some action be taken to secure more immediately, and also to inquire into the expediency of procuring a stone-crushing machine for the use of the Town.

In answer to a petition of citizens sent in to the County Commissioners five years ago, for the laying out and widening of Harvard Street, the Commissioners have ordered that said street be widened on the east side, from Aspinwall Avenue to a point opposite the residence of Nathaniel Harris, Esq.

SEWER IN THE VILLAGE.

The brook from the railroad depot across the Milldam road, having been laid out as a sewer, proposals for building the same were advertised for, and the work placed under contract. Operations have been commenced and considerable progress made in the execution of the work.

In May last, application was made to the Commissioners of Public Lands for an additional culvert across the Milldam road, which they have since put in. This, it is hoped, may prove sufficient to carry off the water. Should it not, the remedy will be to construct a sewer on the western side of the Milldam road, as proposed in last year's report.

POLICE.

The number of arrests made during the year has been one hundred and thirty-six. Number of travellers lodged at station house, one hundred and two.

There is an increasing necessity that this Department be well filled and properly attended to. We consider it prudent to use preventive measures where there is any probability that the law will be violated. We therefore recommend the same appropriation for this purpose as last year.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

No serious fires have occurred within the town during the past year. The rolls of the Engine and Hose companies are full, and the Department is believed to be in as efficient condition as in former years.

RESERVOIRS.

In accordance with a vote passed at the last annual Town Meeting, a Reservoir holding thirty thousand gallons has been built at the corner of Harvard and Beacon Streets; and in view of the fact that in the greater portion of the town there is no adequate supply of water in case of fire we suggest the importance of increasing the number.

LIGHTING TOWN BUILDINGS AND STREETS.

Fifteen new lamp-posts have been erected during the year, making in all one hundred and six gas lights, and there are also twelve fluid lights. Total, one hundred and eighteen lights.

REPAIRS OF TOWN BUILDINGS.

No changes have been made in any of the buildings. The necessary expenditures of this Department have exceeded the appropriation, although nothing has been done but what was absolutely necessary, and more might have been done to advantage.

STATE AID AND MILITARY PURPOSES.

The amount expended has been $1,134 25, the whole of which will be received from the State Treasury for account of State Aid.

PURCHASING LAND AND BUILDING SCHOOLHOUSE FOR THE SOUTH
PRIMARY SCHOOL.

Under the vote passed at a Town Meeting, in November last, we have purchased of E. C. Emerson, Esq., a lot of land on Boylston street, containing about one acre.

Plans and specifications for the building have been prepared, and the work will be put under contract and commenced as soon as the weather permits.

In conformity with the vote of the Town, passed December 5, 1867, we have also purchased of Messrs. Collins & Chase, John Gibbs, and George S. Cushing, the several lots of land as recommended by the Committee on Land, for a Public Library Building.

BEQUEST.

Our late citizen, J. Sullivan Warren, Esq., left to the town in his will the sum of one thousand dollars, under the following provisions, to wit: "I give and bequeath to the Town of Brookline, the sum of one thousand dollars; the income is from time to time to be expended in planting trees along the highways of said town. And I authorize the disbursement of said income through the agency of any Society for planting trees, if said Town shall so decide." This sum, less the government tax, has been received into the Treasury, and now awaits the action of our citizens, and we hope that this is not the only donation we shall receive from our liberal citizens, for the various public improvements of the Town.

CEMETERY.

The lots in the cemetery are all sold, and there is no vacant land for the burial of those unable to purchase lots; and we recommend the purchase of some place in which such interments can be made. The number of interments in the cemetery, during the past year, are twenty-nine.

Guide Posts and Boards are erected and maintained in all places in the town required by law.

REPORT.

THE number and general organization of the schools has not been changed during the past year. The number of pupils has somewhat increased on the whole, though the attendance is still extremely irregular in some cases.

The buildings in which the schools are held have been kept in good repair, and afford ample accommodation for the present, except the stone schoolhouse, occupied by the South Primary School. We are happy to say that the Selectmen, as will appear by their Report, have already secured a lot of land on which to erect another building for the accommodation of this district, and there is every reason to suppose that this school will soon be well accommodated.

The instruction and discipline of the several schools has been made the subject of the usual monthly inspection, and we feel gratified in observing a general improvement in the standard aimed at, inasmuch as less reliance than before has been placed upon the letter of the text-books, and more pains taken in imparting ideas in a form that may be at once intelligible and attractive to the minds of the pupils.

Early in the past year your Committee undertook the revision of their by-laws and district boundaries, and during the month of September last the revised code was adopted and printed.

An unusual number of vacancies has occurred during the year, among the corps of Primary School teachers, and, as your Committee have always considered this one of their most responsible and important duties, they have endeavored to be guided in the selection of candidates for filling these vacancies, by the real worth, intelligence, and training of the applicants. Preference has been given, generally, to graduates from the State Normal Schools, believing that the training given in these institutions is well qualified to produce the desired results.

At the suggestion of several ladies of the town who had been active for several years in the gratuitous teaching of sewing to a large class of girls at the Ward School, an experimental attempt has been made to introduce the teaching of sewing into our public schools. Two teachers of the Ward Primary School, Miss Magoon and Mrs. White, have been employed, for a few weeks past, in teaching sewing to such girls as chose to avail themselves of the privilege, during two hours after the short session on Wednesdays and Saturdays. There is no special provision made in the Statutes of the Commonwealth for teaching sewing in common schools, neither is there for the teaching of music and drawing, for which purposes we have employed teachers for several years. We trust, however, that the experiment now being made in regard to the teaching of sewing, will commend itself to the good sense of every one interested in the welfare of the children. In the city of Boston the teaching of sewing in the public schools is no longer an experiment, having been regularly taught in all their grammar schools for some years past. The Superintendent of the Boston schools recently expressed it as his opinion, to the writer, that this was one of the most important branches there taught to all the girls attending those schools. It is certainly very evident that a large number of our school girls have no more chance of learning how to make their own clothing at home than they have opportunity to receive instruction in arithmetic, grammar or geography, while their position in after life will probably render it by far more important that they should know how to make a shirt than to enumerate the rivers of Asia. Indeed, it may be important for many who may never be required to apply their own hands to the needle, to become acquainted with the details in early life, in order to be better qualified to supply their wants through the hands of others.

Such an acquaintance with detail is, in our opinion, quite as likely to conduce to their usefulness in after life, as a superficial knowledge of other “accomplishments,” sometimes thought more ornamental and more desirable than the ability to cut and make simple garments. The experiment in our schools has not yet had sufficient time to prove how far it may succeed, or how important it may become, but we hope it may meet the approval of our fellow-citizens, and be allowed a fair trial.

In accordance with the views expressed in the last Report of your Committee, concerning the importance of abandoning the routine of text-books and giving more oral instruction, the geographies of Prof. A. Guyot have been lately introduced into our schools. The system of this author leads the teacher to depend less on the letter of the text-book than in any other system of school geographies that has come to our notice, and at the same time presents the facts that are usually so dry and distasteful, in a way that renders them somewhat attractive, and likely to make a lasting impression on the pupil's mind.

In their last Report, your Committee spoke of their disappointment in not finding the inhabitants of Longwood disposed to avail themselves of the schoolhouse then recently erected there, to an extent that justified the expense of the school and building. The resignation of Miss Fanny Smith, who taught there at that time, gave the Committee an opportunity to transfer to this point one of their best tried, and most faithful primary school teachers, from a school of much greater numbers, hoping that this teacher, Miss Emily Reed, would draw to her class some larger portion of the children of the numerous petitioners at whose request the school was founded. But we have again been disappointed in this respect, and have to report the school as still maintained for the benefit of a mere handful of children, and, of course, at an expense wholly disproportionate to their numbers.

The subjoined tables show the average attendance at the several schools, and the present position of the teachers.

SPECIAL REPORT

OF THE

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

OF THE

UPON THE

LIBRARY LOT AND BUILDING.

MARCH 29, 1867.

BOSTON:

J. E. FARWELL AND COMPANY, PRINTERS.

37 CONGRESS STREET.

REPORT.

IN the present position of the Public Library question, the Board of Trustees desire to present to the citizens of Brookline a plain statement of the facts in the case, to which they ask a calm and impartial consideration.

The subject of a Library Building has been before the Trustees and other friends of progress in this town, for several years. It was found, that many liberal citizens were unwilling to expose their donations to the hazards incident to a wooden building surrounded by wooden tenements: and, in consequence, no general effort has been made to increase the library, by the solicitation of gifts, to any considerable amount.

Early in the year 1860, a committee from the Board of Trustees was chosen to consider the proposals of sundry citizens, who had generously offered to give land for the building. This committee addressed printed circulars to the principal owners of real estate, throughout the town; various sites were examined; and the labors and investigations of the Board, upon this subject, extended through the years 1860 and 1861. No lot, among those proposed, presented to the Board sufficient inducements for adoption, and recommendation to the town.

During this time, considerable attention was paid by the Board, its committees, and members, to plans for a Library Building. The project of uniting, in one building, the Town Hall and Public Library, received the careful consideration of the Trustees:

and at their request, three sets of plans were prepared and submitted by three competent architects, presenting the Town Hall and Public Library, in one building, and also three other designs for a Public Library alone. These plans were discussed fully, and satisfied the board, that there was no advantage whatever in uniting these buildings; but that the attempt to do so was only an embarrassment to both these improvements.

During the years 1863 and 1864, no progress was made in these matters; as the varied incidents of the war of the rebellion were then engrossing much of the private and public energies. Our report to the town, in the spring of 1865, presented a full statement of the wants of the Public Library, and its claims upon the citizens.

At a meeting of the board, Dec. 19th, 1865, it was unanimously resolved, that this subject should be immediately investigated and settled. Several meetings were holden, and different lots discussed. Upon the 27th of February 1866, the full Board, by vote, unanimously selected the lot of land upon the northeast corner of Cypress Street and Cypress Place, as the site for a new Public Library Building: it being understood, that a liberal subscription would be made by citizens of the neighborhood towards its purchase, and that the conveyance to the town should be by a good and indefeasible title. The lot, thus selected, was carefully examined, and was found to be wholly unexceptionable, in regard to its position, size, and character of the soil. Upon the 28th day of February 1866, the following agreement was executed by the citizens whose names are appended, and presented to the Trustees: —

“The subscribers agree to pay the several sums set against their respective signatures, toward the purchase by the Town of Brookline, of the ‘Appleton Lot,’ so called, on Cypress Street, for a Public Library Site. It is understood, that the Town shall purchase said lot, at the approaching annual meeting, or during the coming spring, and make the necessary appropriations for the same, and for a suitable building thereon. The lot is to be dedicated by the Town to the uses of its Public

Brookline, Feb. 28, 1866.

Geo. Baty Blake, one thousand dollars,	$1,000 00
Stephen Salisbury, one thousand dollars,	1,000 00
John D. Sturtevant, five hundred dollars,	500 00
James Edmond, two hundred dollars,	200 00
Robert S. Davis, two hundred dollars,	200 00
E. S. Ritchie, by
T. P. Ritchie, two hundred dollars,	200 00

This lot, thus offered to the Town under such favorable circumstances, was unanimously recommended to the Town, as the site of a Public Library Building, by this Board, at the annual meeting of the Town, holden March 19th, 1866. At said meeting, the committee of five citizens, previously appointed by the Town, to recommend a lot of land for this purpose, made their report, in which they “recommend to the Town the purchase of a lot on Cypress street, as recommended by the Trustees of the Public Library.” This report was made by Moses B. Williams, William Dearborn, Marshal Stearns, Edward S. Philbrick, and Benjamin B. Davis.

At this meeting, these recommendations of the Board of Trustees, and of said Committee, and also the proposal of the subscribing citizens, were presented to the town, and, after a full consideration, the following votes were passed.

1. Voted, That the Town purchase the lot of land on the corner of Cypress Street and Cypress Place, belonging to Mrs. W. C. Appleton, for the use of a Free Public Library, at a price not exceeding twenty cents per foot, and the sum of thirty-seven hundred dollars ($3,700,00) is hereby appropriated for said purpose, which sum shall be raised by taxation.

2. Voted, To erect upon said lot, when purchased, a suitable building for a Free Public Library, and that the sum of twenty thousand dollars be appropriated therefor.

3. Voted, That the Treasurer is hereby authorized to borrow said sum of twenty thousand dollars, giving the notes of the town therefor, for such amounts and on such times as may be for the interest of the town.

4. Voted, That the Board of Trustees of the Public Library be hereby authorized to receive all moneys subscribed by individuals, and the sum appropriated as aforesaid by the Town for the purchase of said Free Public Library Lot, and therewith to purchase for and in behalf of the Town the said lot for the purposes aforesaid.

5. Voted, That the Board of Trustees of the Public Library are hereby authorized and directed to procure plans for, and cause to be erected a suitable building for a Free Public Library on said lot, agreeably to the foregoing votes, and the town treasurer is directed hereby to pay all bills for the same approved by said Board.

6. Voted, That the Trustees of the Public Library be requested to procure the passage of a legislative act to enable this town to increase its annual appropriation for the Library.

In obedience to these directions from the Town, this Board proceeded at once to the discharge of the several duties thus incumbent upon its members; and, through their efforts, with those of other friends of free public libraries, aided by the representative from the town, John W. Candler, Esq., the Legislature of 1866 enacted Chapter 222 of the Statutes of that year, entitled “An Act in relation to Town Libraries,” which, in substance, authorizes the appropriation by towns of any sum of money for the establishment, maintenance, or increase of a public library therein, and for erecting or providing suitable buildings or rooms therefor.

Upon the 28th day of March, 1866, and while our committee were proceeding to execute the wishes of the town, — upon the petition of William Dearborn and fifteen other citizens of Brookline, — the town, and its officers and agents, were enjoined from completing said purchase and building, by a decree of the Supreme Judicial Court. By direction of the Board of Trustees, acting in behalf of the town, an answer to the said petition was prepared by counsel, and was filed, together with a motion to dissolve the injunction in said case. This question was argued, at length, upon the third day of April, before Judge Chapman, of the Supreme Judicial Court, by Judge Redfield and George Griggs, Esq., for the petitioners, and by George F. Homer, Esq., in behalf of the town. Judge Chapman, after consulting with some of his associates, upon the eleventh day of April, announced his decision, in favor of the town, dissolving the injunction. This decree, while it relieved the town and its agents and officers from the effect of the prohibition, did not dispose of the case, which is still pending in the Supreme Judicial Court.

But, to recur to the action of the Town. Upon the fourth day of April, 1866, at the adjourned town meeting, and after the subject had been for two weeks thoroughly agitated in the town, the votes of March 19th were brought before the Town, upon a motion for reconsideration. A very full discussion ensued, upon the whole question, embracing the lot selected and the building thereon; and the Town refused to reconsider the said votes, and insisted upon its former action, by a vote of 121 in favor of progress, against 53 in favor of reconsideration.

After the adjournment of the last named meeting, it was considered by all friends of the town library that the question of its location, at least, was settled permanently.

The lot was well known in the town, and its merits had been discussed, for several weeks, in public and private, throughout our own town and elsewhere. No other lot was offered by any citizens, in any other part of the town. This Board, therefore, took immediate measures for the purchase of the lot, and appointed George F. Homer, Esq., a committee to examine the title of the lot, collect subscriptions and appropriations therefor, and to have suitable deeds executed in behalf of the town, and to pay for the same. Some delay ensued, in order that a satisfactory title should be obtained, and, while the deeds to the town should be free from condition, restriction, or limitation, a proper acknowledgment should be given to the subscribers of the purposes of the town.

The deeds of the said lot were delivered to Mr. Homer in behalf of the town, upon the 26th day of May, 1866, and the conveyance from Mrs. Appleton to the Town of Brookline was by deed of warranty, with the usual covenants, and free from all conditions, restrictions, or limitations. The lot contains 32,638½ square feet of land.

The sum of money received by Mr. Homer, from the town treasurer for the purchase of this land, was thirty-seven hundred dollars, ($3,700 00).

The whole amount received from the above named subscribers was thirty-one hundred dollars, ($3,100,00,) as follows :

From George Baty Blake, one thousand dollars.	$1,000 00
“ Dr. Stephen Salisbury, one thousand dollars.	1,000 00
“ John D. Sturtevant, five hundred dollars.	500 00
“ James Edmond, two hundred dollars.	200 00
“ Robert S. Davis, two hundred dollars.	200 00
“ Edward S. Ritchie, two hundred dollars.	200 00

The annexed receipt, given to one of the above subscribers, and signed by the committee of the Board, will fully explain the contract of the Town of Brookline, in this matter.

“ Received of ———, his subscription of ——— dollars, towards the purchase by the Town of Brookline of the ‘ Appleton Lot,’ so called, on Cypress Street, for a Public Library Site. And said town having, at its annual meeting in March last, voted to purchase said lot for the uses of a Public Library, and made appropriations therefor, and for a suitable building thereon, under the direction of the Trustees of the Public Library ; and the Trustees of the Public Library having authorized the subscriber to collect the subscriptions made for this object, it is agreed, in behalf of said town, that said lot shall be used for a Public Library Site, and that the moneys collected shall be applied to this object, and to no other."

Of the above amounts of subscriptions and appropriation, to wit, the total sum of sixty-eight hundred dollars, (\$6,800,00) the sum of sixty-five hundred and twenty-seven dollars and seventy-seven cents (\$6,527,77) was paid to Mrs. Appleton, and the sum of seven $\frac{23}{100}$ dollars (\$7,23) for sundry small disbursements, and there remains in the Treasury of the Board of Trustees, subject to their order and appropriated to the library lot, a balance of two hundred and sixty-five dollars.

The Town of Brookline having thus deliberately determined to erect, upon the selected lot of land, a Free Public Library Building, the Board of Trustees at once proceeded, pursuant to the votes of the town, to procure plans. After consideration and discussion, at their meeting of March 20th, 1866, the Board resolved to solicit plans from architects, by advertising. This was done, and continued for several months. The result was, that six designs for the building were received from four architects, all of them meritorious, and some possessing great beauty. None of the plans, however, secured the approbation of a majority of the board.

Upon the 27th of October, 1866, at a full meeting of the Board, ground plans and elevations for a Library Building, by Mr. Louis Weissbein, were presented: and, after a very full expression of views, were unanimously voted to be acceptable. A sub-committee was appointed to confer with Mr. Weissbein, and procure working plans, and accurate estimates of the expense of building. It should be stated here, in justice to Mr. Weissbein, that he was a stranger to every member of the Board: and, while almost every individual of the Board had his favorite plan, it was at once conceded by every one, without reservation, and decidedly, that the internal arrangements of Mr. Weissbein's plans were far superior to any thing as yet offered, and were admirably suited to the wants of a Free Public Library. The elevations, by Mr. Weissbein, as before stated, after a very free discussion, received unanimous approbation.

Reliable estimates, furnished to the Trustees by the architect, of the cost of the proposed building, in different materials, are as follows : —

In Marble, thirty-six thousand dollars, ($ 36,000) ; in Brick and Freestone, thirty thousand dollars, ($ 30,000) ; and in Granite, thirty-two thousand dollars, ($ 32,000).

The Trustees, although they have had the subject under consideration, are not at present prepared to give a decisive judgment as to the material for building. Should the Town, by vote, determine to place at their disposal for this object, an amount equal to the largest estimate above named, the Board of Trustees will give the subject their most careful and deliberate attention and judgment.

In conclusion, the Trustees submit to the Town for action at the adjourned meeting, upon Wednesday evening, April 3d, the following votes : —

1. Voted, That the Board of Trustees of the Public Library, are hereby authorized and directed to erect a building for a free Public Library on the Library Lot, on the corner of Cypress Street and Cypress Place, purchased by vote of the Town of March 19, 1866, agreeably to the plans submitted in the Report of said Trustees. per the Sec

2. — Voted, That the sum of thirty-six thousand dollars, ($ 36,000), be appropriated for the erection of said Public Library Building : and the Town Treasurer is hereby directed to pay all bills for the same, approved by said Board. which sum is hereby appropriated

3. Voted, That the Town Treasurer is hereby authorized to borrow, under the direction of the Selectmen, and give the note of the Town for such part, or all, of said sum of thirty-six thousand dollars ($ 36,000), and at such time or times, as may be desired by said Trustees.

The Auditing Committee most decidedly object to the practice of officers of the Town receipting bills as agents of the creditors of the Town.

The foregoing account of MOSES WITHINGTON, Treasurer and Collector, has been examined by us, and found correct.

BROOKLINE, Feb. 23, 1869.

SELECTMEN'S REPORT.

POOR.

Those whom the town has to make permanent provisions for, have been boarded out as heretofore. Temporary relief has been afforded in such cases as the Overseers deemed worthy objects of such assistance.

HIGHWAYS.

Extensive repairs and improvements have been made that were not contemplated; having material that could only be used for filling, we improved the opportunity to raise the grade and widen Beacon Street between the highland and the railroad crossing.

Washington Street has been widened and made, between the railroad bridge and the Roxbury line, as ordered by the County Commissioners, and other improvements which were necessary have been made on said street, including the widening of the railroad bridge at its southerly end. These improvements have increased the cost of making the same, but could be done cheaper now than at any future time.

Pond Avenue has been made as ordered by the County Commissioners, and a good opportunity of procuring materials offering, we graded and made sidewalks; this, with the unexpected expense of making an entirely new stone culvert where said Avenue crosses the brook, has considerably increased the cost of making, but was in our judgment necessary and best to be done, and was money well expended. Five hundred dollars of the cost of making the culvert, and a part of said Avenue, has been repaid by the city of Boston, as will be seen in the receipts of the Treasurer's report.

The material for making roads is now exhausted.

It will be necessary for the Town to purchase a gravel bank, a ledge of stone and a stone crushing machine.

Harvard Street has not been widened, as it is evident there is some error in the lines, and in our opinion the street should be re-located from Washington Street to the Town line.

A plank sidewalk has been laid from near the meeting-house of the First Parish, to the estate of John W. Warren, the road not being wide enough to construct one of gravel.

The eastern and western branches of the Mill Dam road have been laid out as public town ways in conformity with the act of the Legislature, passed at its last session, and the portion of the tolls awarded the Town for its part of the fund, has been received into the treasury, and the roads are now free from tolls.

SEWER.

The Sewer in the Village has been completed for about seven hundred feet, and gives entire satisfaction; the remainder is under contract and will be completed early in the season.

As the town increases, and the vacant land over which drainage has been on the surface is being now rapidly built upon, the time has come in which a settled plan of sewerage should be fixed upon, and sewers should be built in all our main streets to conduct our drainage into Muddy River, the town having always enjoyed a legal right so to do.

POLICE.

The number of arrests made during the year is one hundred and sixteen. Number of travellers lodged, one hundred and forty-five. The Department has been well conducted and the general peace well maintained.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

We are glad to record that no serious fires have occurred within the town during the past year, owing in a great measure to the promptness and active energy of our firemen, who seem determined to be themselves masters of the field.

The Rolls of the companies are now full, with a good set of apparatus.

It was voted by the Town at the adjourned Annual Meeting, held April last, to procure a hose carriage and hose, and place them in the Village to be used at the hydrants; but after getting a carriage for the hose, the Selectmen were unable to procure a suitable place to keep the same, and nothing further has been done in relation thereto.

RESERVOIR.

In pursuance of the vote of the Town, a reservoir of a capacity of thirty thousand gallons has been built at the junction of Washington and Cypress streets.

We would recommend the making of a new reservoir at or near the junction of Beacon and Carleton streets the present year.

LIGHTING TOWN BUILDINGS AND STREETS.

Twenty new lamp-posts have been erected during the year, making one hundred and twenty-six gas lights and twelve oil lamps. Total, one hundred and thirty-eight.

REPAIRS OF TOWN BUILDINGS.

A much needed and important change has been made in the Ward Schoolhouse the past season, which the growing wants of the school required. Upon examination, it was found necessary to put a new furnace in the Pierce Grammar School, and to add other repairs to said schoolhouse, and to the High Schoolhouse, and as we now have twenty-three schools, it will be necessary to increase our appropriations for the Repairs of Town Buildings, or to make a separate appropriation for the care of schoolhouses.

ERECTING SCHOOLHOUSE FOR SOUTH PRIMARY SCHOOL.

A new brick schoolhouse has been erected on the lot on Boylston Street, capable of accommodating one hundred and fifty scholars, which was handed over to the School Committee in October last.

In pursuance of the vote of the town, the old Town House situated on Walnut Street, which has been occupied for several years as a schoolhouse, has been sold.

CEMETERY.

We again call the attention of the Town to the fact that there are no places within the limits of the cemetery for the burial of those who are unable to purchase. The number of interments during the past year was thirty.

The Guide-Posts and Boards are all in good order and at all points where the law requires them to be maintained by the town.

ERECTION OF LIBRARY BUILDING.

Under the authority of the following votes of the Town, the Trustees have procured plans and specifications, issued proposals, and made contracts, for the erection of a suitable building for a Public Library. The great number of rainy days during the fall months, impeded the progress of the work, but the Library will be ready for occupancy, it is hoped, early in the summer.

Appointment and report of special committee on Public Library building:—

At the adjourned Annual Meeting of the Town, held April

3d, A. D., 1867, on motion of Gen. James S. Whitney, it was “ Voted, That a committee of seven be appointed by the chair (to report at a future meeting) to examine other sites for a Library Building, and to receive subscriptions for the several lots. Also, to procure plans for a building to be erected upon the Town Hall lot, either with or without a Town Hall connected, and that the sum of five hundred dollars be appropriated therefor.”

The Moderator appointed the following named gentlemen to constitute said committee, to wit :

GEN. JAMES S. WHITNEY,	} Committee on site for Library, and Plans for a Building.

JOHN E. HERR,

At a special meeting of the Town of Brookline, held for that purpose on the 5th of December, A. D., 1867, the above named Committee presented the following report, viz : —

The Committee appointed at a Town Meeting holden at the Town Hall on the 3d day of April, 1867, to examine sites upon which to erect a building for the Town Library, have attended to the duty assigned them, and ask leave to submit the following report : —

Your Committee, acting upon the intimation given them at the time of their appointment, first considered the question of building in connection with the Town Hall. After careful examination of this matter, the Committee decided almost, if not quite, unanimously, that it would be unwise to attempt to combine a Public Library with a Town Hall in one building. The Committee, in the exercise of their judgment, being forced to abandon the idea of one building for a Town Hall and the Library, proceeded to act in reference to a location and plan for a suitable independent building. Through our sub-committee, we addressed to those of our citizens who were supposed to feel a special interest in the Library question the following circular : —

BROOKLINE, 19th April, 1867.

SIR,—The undersigned have been appointed a sub-committee to ascertain what suitable sites may be proposed for the erection of a building for a Public Library, and what sums of money may be subscribed by individuals toward the purchase of the several sites, or the erection of a building thereon.

There are at present only four sites proposed for the Library, viz : —

1. The lot now occupied in part by the Town House.
2. The lot on Prospect Street, southwest of the Pierce Schoolhouse.
3. The lot on the corner of Cypress Street and Cypress Place.
4. The lot bounded by Harvard Avenue, Harvard Street and Auburn Street.

Will you oblige us by answering the following questions : —

How much will you subscribe toward the erection of a Library Building, on either of the above-named lots?

What other lot would you suggest as suitable for the building?

How much would you subscribe toward the purchase of the lot you suggest, or the erection of a building thereon?

WILLIAM ASPINWALL,
JOHN E. HERR,
CHARLES DWIGHT.

To this circular the Committee received several responses, covering suggestions, and expressed preferences as to different sites, and propositions of liberal subscriptions in aid of the purchase of their several favorite sites, were also received from several gentlemen.

Your Committee, in view of these propositions, and the probabilities of receiving further aid, should the Town adopt any of the sites named, conferred personally, as individuals, with many of our citizens in relation to the different sites proposed. The investigation thus made forced your Committee to the conclusion that there was a very general concurrence of opinions in favor of the location which the Committee had agreed, by a unanimous vote, to recommend, conditionally, to the Town. The Committee therefore recommend to the Town to purchase about twenty-five thousand feet of land adjoining the lands of the Town, west and north of Prospect Street, agreeably to a plan, and at the prices herewith submitted. Such land being obtained, we recommend to the Town to erect a suitable Library Building upon the land now owned by the Town, known as the "Fay Lot."

The Committee, in further pursuance of their duty, have, through their sub-committee, obtained Plans from several architects, which Plans are now in the hands of the Committee, subject to the order of the Town. In reference to these Plans the Committee have to remark that they deemed a more careful estimate of the cost of two or more of the proposed buildings requisite, before an absolute decision could be reached, so as to establish fully the preference of your Committee for any one plan. In order that definite action may now be taken by the Town upon this matter, your Committee will ask leave to submit, for the action of this meeting, after this report is disposed of, certain votes in pursuance of the object for which they were appointed. All of which is very respectfully submitted.

Voted, That the sum of Seven Thousand Dollars be appropriated for the purchase of the land specified in the foregoing vote, and that the Treasurer be authorized to borrow said sum under the direction of the Selectmen, giving the Notes of the Town therefor, for such amounts, and on such time as may be for the interests of the Town.

Voted, That the sum of Thirty Thousand Dollars be appropriated for the purpose of erecting a suitable building for a Free Public Library upon the land recommended therefor by the special committee on the subject of a Library Building, and that the Treasurer be authorized to borrow said sum, under the direction of the Selectmen, by giving the Notes of the Town therefor, for such amounts, and on such time, as may be for the interest of the Town."

"Voted, That the Trustees of the Public Library are requested to cause to be placed in the walls of the Reading Room a marble Tablet commemorative of the names of our soldiers who lost their lives in the wars of the rebellion."

At the Annual Town Meeting, held March 23d, A. D., 1868, the Third Article in the warrant calling said meeting being under consideration, to wit:—

"To see if the Town will purchase land lying between the Town's land, recently purchased, and Washington Street."

"Voted, That the Selectmen be instructed to purchase for uses of the Town, the land of John Gibbs, upon Washington Street, amounting to about nineteen thousand square feet, and a part of the land belonging to Collins & Chase, measuring about fifty feet on Washington Street, and that the sum of seven thousand dollars be appropriated therefor."

"Voted, That the Trustees of the Public Library are hereby authorized to erect the Library Building upon any part of the land owned by the Town between Washington, School and Prospect streets."

The Town will be called upon to elect four Trustees for three years.

All which is respectfully submitted.

R E P O R T .

At the commencement of the year the Board of School Committee organized by the election of Mr. Thomas Parsons, Chairman, and F. W. Prescott, Secretary.

The Town will be called upon, at the March meeting, to elect three members of the Board, to fill the places of Stephen Salisbury, M. D., T. E. Francis, M. D., and John Ruggles, Esq., whose terms expire with the present fiscal year.

The opening of the new South Primary Schoolhouse, on Boylston Street, the sixth room of the Ward, and the fourth room of the Pierce Primary Schoolhouses during the year just passed, would seem naturally to suggest a brief retrospective view of our Schools as they were only a few years ago, and a comparison of their then condition with their present one.

In the summer of 1854, less than fifteen years since, the whole educational apparatus of the Town of Brookline consisted of a High School, a Grammar School, an Intermediate, and four Primary Schools. The High School, however, must have been so called merely by courtesy, and because the Town had nothing else to which it could apply the name, and felt the necessity of assuming the virtue of being on a par with its neighbors.

The Grammar School had hardly a right to the name, though Mr. Daniels was doing what he could to gain it such a right, in two rooms, occupying a part of the space of the present Library room, under the Town Hall. The Intermediate School contained pupils too old for the Primary, and too ignorant for any other school ; and of the four Primary or District Schools, two were kept, not accommodated, in dark, ill-ventilated one-story shanties, a third in a two-story building, no better, which had been altered from a stable, and a fourth was in a loft over an old harness shop in the Village.

These schools were under the charge of ten teachers and assistants, whose united salaries amounted to less than $5,000.00 per annum, and in them were placed for education three hundred and seventy-nine pupils.

Let it not be supposed that we would reflect upon the teachers. Several of them are with us now, and among our most faithful and valued. They did all that could be expected under the circumstances.

In regard to the condition of these schools, we get a tolerably correct idea from the School Committee's report for the year 1852—3; between which time and the fall of 1854, no material change took place, and we will make a few extracts.

Referring to the South-west Primary School, now called the Newton Street School, and the only one of the old schools still occupied for educational purposes, they say "The house belonging to this school is the one exception to the rule in the Town, inasmuch as it is sufficient to meet the wants of the District." This house has had the roof raised, and the windows enlarged, and been otherwise much improved since that day.

Of the South or middle district Primary School, the predecessors of the present Heath Street School, they say "Here the house is too bad to be even attended to without pain." * * "The character of the schoolhouse, its unsightliness, its uncleanness, and its unwholesomeness, form obstacles hard to be overcome," &c.

Of the North Primary Schoolhouse, which stood at the corner of School and Prospect streets, nearly opposite the site of the present High School, "The North Primary School continues in its unpleasing and uncomfortable house." * * * "The schoolhouse we are aware is in the way of all improvements."

Of the Intermediate School, "After being suspended for some weeks, at the beginning of the year, the school was reopened under its present name in Washington Hall," (the hall over Mr. Seaman's store.) "Here it proved so great an annoyance to the owners and lessees of the building, that we have lately been obliged to remove the school to a room in the Town Hall. The room is so close that the greater part of the pupils can be provided with seats only by being disposed in the rooms occupied by the Grammar School."

"The Grammar School comprises the two schools formerly called the Intermediate. The School remains in the unsuitable rooms under the Town Hall."

Concerning the High School, we will take some extracts from the School Committee's report for 1855 — 6. "The report for 1853 — 4, reveals the anomalous position in which the High School then stood. 'It is in fact,' says the report, 'nothing more, at present, than a grammar-school in which a few advanced studies are partially and imperfectly taught.' * * * The question may well come up, whether it is for the interest of the Town to continue such a school; and whether, if a High School is maintained, the tax-payers have not a right to expect a better return for their outlay."

"To this heterogeneous school, which was not slandered in these quotations, Mr. Horr was invited from the High School in Cambridge. With the highest testimonials from the President of the University, and several Professors, and the most flattering commendations regarding his success as a teacher, he was entrusted with the care of the pupils in the venerable stone building. The report of the Committee for 1854 — 5 makes acknowledgment of his fidelity, and after alluding to some of the embarrassments with which he was obliged to contend, expresses the hope that the school would in due time take its proper rank, and be enabled to carry out a full course of High-school studies."

One extract from Mr. Horr's report to the Committee of that year, 1855 — 6, and we have done with the picture.

“ This leads me to speak of the inconveniences of our school-house. I hardly know how or where to begin, for there is no light in which the subject can be viewed favorably. In his late report to the Board of Education, Prof. Crosby must have had particular reference to our house, when he says of some schoolhouses still to be found in the Commonwealth, ‘ They are wretchedly contrived, wretchedly built, wretchedly furnished, wretchedly ventilated and warmed, and are themselves abundant sources of wretchedness. Their condition is amazing ; abhorrent to every sentiment of propriety, taste, comfort, health, and would be incredible were it not attested by the eyes, and other no less credible witnesses.’ ”

So much for the condition, in 1854, of the schools and schoolhouses of Brookline, one of the richest country towns, in proportion to its population, in the United States.

The removal of the South Primary School from the old building, with not a foot of play-ground around, or belonging to it, to the fresh, clean, lofty, well-ventilated rooms in the new one, on Boylston Street, dismisses, we hope forever from our sight, the last of these abominations.

If any one doubts the moral effect, on children of any age or nationality, of such a change alone, we beg of him to go and stand five minutes in the old building, and then pay a visit to the school in the new one, and we are sure he will be convinced.

It is worthy of remark that the members of the School Committee of 1852-3 who told the town these wholesome but unpalatable truths, announced their determination not to be candidates for re-election ; disgusted, we presume, with the endeavor to make bricks for people who would not furnish them straw, and, perhaps, fearful that the standstills, the hold-backs would still be sufficiently numerous to prevent any good coming from their efforts to arouse the town to a sense of its condition.

Fortunately, in this fear, they were mistaken. They sowed good seed, which, at last, bore fruit in our present school system. Their report created great excitement; so much so, that the opponents of all progress and improvement were, for a time silenced, or, at least, overcome by the universal exclamation that these blots on our town's fair fame must be washed out.

The more refined and wealthy citizens — those who pay the principal part of the taxes — had simply been negligent. They had been contented to send their children to Boston or elsewhere to be educated, and had permitted another class to have their own way and keep the town in the condition of an old, poverty-stricken, backwoods country town. Now, however, the attention of all was attracted to the state of affairs, and nothing more was necessary.

At the Town meeting, where this report of 1852-3 was presented, a Committee was appointed to look into the matter who confirmed all the School Committee's statements, and recommended that steps be taken to remedy the evils. The result was that, in October, 1854, the Harvard Street Schoolhouse was opened. This was followed by the opening, in November, of the Heath Street, and, in December, of the Pearl Place Schoolhouses, each of them a respectable plain building, containing two well-lighted, well-ventilated, convenient, modern school-rooms, with sufficient blackboards and the other appurtenances of orderly schools.

In May, 1855, the improvements culminated for the present in the opening, and dedicating to educational purposes, of the Pierce Schoolhouse, a handsome brick structure, which would be creditable to any town, and which, containing four large rooms, with as many recitation rooms, &c., was then supposed to be large enough to accommodate all the Primary and Grammar pupils in the central part of the Town for a generation to come. That this was an error, and that the School Committee of 1852-3 were right in prophesying a large increase in the number of pupils as a necessary consequence of furnishing suitable accommodations, we have all seen.

Let it not be supposed that all this improvement was brought about without difficulty and opposition. The grumblers and standstills held up their hands, in holy horror, at the reckless extravagance of the Town, and vehemently asserted that these splendid buildings never would be filled, but would stand as monuments of wastefulness and folly. But, alas, for their prognostications, the schools have filled and been enlarged, and others built, and still the call is for more room.

Were it not aside from, and beneath the dignity of an educational report, we might draw some conclusions from all this, and from an examination of the Assessors' books, in regard to the financial benefits which the Town has received from good and sufficient schools; but we forbear, only remarking that such an examination would, we think, acquit the friends of education of extravagance in any outlay which they may have persuaded, or may persuade, the Town to make for educational purposes.

But to return. The Committee's and Mr. Horr's representations had such an effect that, on the 31st of October, 1856, the new High Schoolhouse was opened and dedicated, and, on Monday, Nov. 3, was regularly occupied; the "venerable" stone building, on Walnut Street, being still considered, by many, as too good to be thrown aside, and good enough for Primary Schools, small children not requiring much air, or light, or cleanliness, or any room to play.

In 1857, an addition containing two rooms, similar to the original ones, was made to the Pearl Place Schoolhouse, which were soon filled.

In 1858, the Pierce Schoolhouse being already found insufficient to accommodate the Grammar, and both the Primary Schools, a room was fitted up in the lower hall of the High Schoolhouse, and one of the Pierce Primary Schools was moved into it.

In 1859, it was found that the Pierce Grammar School required the whole of that building, and accommodation must be found for the Primary Schools elsewhere. One wing of the projected Pierce Primary Schoolhouse was therefore built, containing two large rooms.

In 1863, the Pearl Place Schoolhouse was removed to the Ward Farm; a farther addition was built, making six rooms in that building, and the name changed to Ward School. Only five of these rooms were required, until, in the past year, it was found necessary to furnish the sixth room for the accommodation of an assistant in the Ward Grammar School. In the same year, 1863, the central portion of the Pierce Primary Schoolhouse was erected, and the Pierce Primary School was moved into it, from the lower hall of the High Schoolhouse, leaving to that School the whole of its house, of which it stood in much need, and leaving still one room in the new structure unoccupied.

In 1865, the Longwood Schoolhouse was erected, similar, in its accommodations, to that on Harvard Street; and finally, during the past year, the South Primary, a substantial brick building, on Boylston Street, before alluded to, was erected, and the pupils released from the old stone building; and the fourth room of the Pierce Primary Schoolhouse has been furnished, and a teacher appointed to a mixed school, partly Primary, and partly a department of the Pierce Grammar School, which is already too large for the building, and to which such relief can be only temporary.

So much for the schools and schoolhouses of Brookline fifteen years since, and at the present time. We have now one High School, equal to any in the State for quality and thoroughness of instruction, for the character and dignity of its teachers, and for refinement and high tone of its pupils; and three Grammar Schools thoroughly classified, and thoroughly taught by eight efficient and faithful teachers. In all these the pupils receive, regularly, instruction in music and drawing. In the Primary department there are fourteen good schools. The whole number of pupils in all the schools during the past year has been over one thousand.

To crown the work, for it is a portion of the same apparatus, a result, in part, of the same movement, we have a noble free library, and a building, worthy of it, almost ready for its reception. The use made of this library, for the last few years, by the children of the Town, shows how great an assistance it is in the general educational scheme. The library is less than eleven years old, and already contains about 10,000 volumes, which number will be largely increased, by donations, as soon as it is moved into the fire-proof building. The number of books delivered during the past year is over 18,000, at least, half of which, as we are assured by the librarian, have been taken out by pupils of our schools. The refining influence of these nine thousand books, taken and read by the young, many of whom would otherwise never see a book at home, can hardly be over-estimated.

Do we regret what all this has cost? Has it been outlay in vain? Is it even a doubtful pecuniary investment? We are sure these questions will be answered in the negative.

Have we then arrived at a point where we can sit down quietly, fold our hands, and congratulate ourselves? By no means. In the march of improvement, on which we have entered, who pauses is left behind.

We have only arrived at the point where, in good marching order, we can see the boundless plain which stretches before us. We should use every endeavor to keep the relative position we have gained, and count nothing extravagant which contributes, in any degree, to the improvement of our schools.

We have indulged in this retrospect, because we thought it might be interesting and useful for future reference, and because we felt that it contained a moral.

We still have grumblers and opponents at every step of progress, as we had in 1852-3, and we, as every other community, always shall have that class of people, and nothing will enable us to overcome their opposition, but keeping our eyes firmly fixed on the objects we ought ever to have in view, the welfare, the happiness, the best interests of our children.

That Brookline has been, for some years, the first town in the State, in the amount, per child, appropriated for educational purposes, is well known; though this is by no means an evidence that our schools are doing more good than those of any other town; but if more money is needed for the good of the schools, Brookline can surely afford to rank higher than the two hundred and eightieth out of three hundred and thirty-five towns in the State, in the percentage of taxable property so appropriated; which was her rank according to the report of the Board of education, for 1868, the last we have.

In the ratio of average attendance to the number of children between 5 and 15 years Brookline ranks, by the same report, 43; and the year before, 160. If something has been done here, something still remains to do.

This brings us to that never-ending clog to all our exertions, truancy and irregularity of attendance.

There are few faults so injurious to the pupil or so discouraging to the teacher as truancy. If parents of truant children are wise, they will do all in their power to aid the Committee and teachers in their efforts to remove the evil. We have no wish to resort to the law, or to make the parent suffer for the fault of the child. His penalty, under the law of God, will be severe enough in the future, if the sin of the boy be not nipped in the bud. It is our intention that the Truant Officer's position be not merely a nominal one. We expect him to visit the schools where truancy prevails, once or twice a week, or every day, if necessary, to ascertain from the teachers who are suspected of being guilty, to inform the parents, search out, and, if possible, bring back to school the offenders; and we hereby call upon the parents of such children to co-operate with us fully and heartily. They should make every effort to reclaim those boys, if they would hereafter see them useful and respectable citizens.

We would say a few words in respect to irregularity of attendance. It is the custom with many to keep their children from school a quarter or half the time at certain busy seasons of the year. Sometimes they send them for an hour or two in the morning, but wish them dismissed perhaps just as their class is about to recite. These cases involve no moral delinquency, but such pupils are a positive injury to the school, however well-disposed or industrious they may be, and their irregularity is an injustice to the teacher. Such a course might not be attended with such injurious effects under the system formerly prevalent in some country towns, where there were half as many classes in school as there were pupils, and the scholars were never expected to advance beyond a certain point, because that point was the limit of the teacher's acquirements. But where as with us, there is a strict system of classification, these absentees learn little themselves and are a stumbling block to their fellows. If parents feel necessitated to keep their children from school a portion of the year, let them remove them for a time altogether; but when they rejoin the school, they should attend without interruption.

But we are reminded that the parents who stand in need of these appeals, which year after year we make, are unfortunately not those who read or take any interest in our reports. Those parents who are themselves so ignorant as not to know the injury done by irregular attendance, the infinite danger of truancy, will never be reached directly by our appeals. Many, however, who do read them, have one or more such parents in their employ, or otherwise have influence over them, and we earnestly entreat such persons to use that influence, as far as may be, for the good of children who, whatever their parentage, are growing up to be American citizens, with power to affect, for good or evil, the future of our own children.

There have been some changes among the teachers of our several schools as the tables annexed will show.

The Pierce Grammar School, as we explained above, will hereafter have four assistant teachers, and there will be four Pierce Primary Schools. All the schoolhouses except that at Longwood, are now fully occupied. The Committee have been at considerable expense in furnishing the fourth room of the Pierce Primary, and the sixth room of the Ward Schoolhouse, and have been compelled to exceed their appropriation.

The changes which have been made will relieve the Pierce Grammar School for no longer probably than the present year; and it will be necessary to take immediate steps to increase the capacity of that building. This can be done either by raising the roof and building two rooms over the present, or by building an addition in the rear, containing two rooms and the necessary dressing and recitation rooms, with entrance halls, and connecting them by a door with the room of the Principal, so that it can, like the other rooms, be at all times under his control. The latter would undoubtedly make a safer building, for so many children, than a three-story building, in case of fire, or other cause of panic; and would probably not cost a great deal more, but we leave that question with the Town.

The Sewing School, to which we alluded in our last report, has been so far a success that the Committee have felt justified in continuing it through the year, and propose still to do so.

We regret, exceedingly, that we have to report one serious loss to the schools of the Town. We have just received from Mr. Nathan Lincoln his resignation of the position of music master. For fourteen years Mr. Lincoln has been teaching in Cambridge and Brookline, but the increase in the number of schools in the former town, has rendered it necessary that he should hereafter devote his whole attention to them.

We have frequently referred to the good influence which Mr. Lincoln's music-teaching has exercised; and we can hardly speak too strongly on this subject. His pleasant, genial manner, made his visits to the schools always an occasion of enjoyment, while his peculiar faculty of interesting and instructing, made them as useful as they were agreeable. His loss will be regretted by teachers and scholars, and it will be difficult for us to find a successor so well qualified in all respects for the position he has occupied.

In submitting the following tables we would note the fact familiar to many of our citizens, that for some two months past our scholars have suffered seriously from various forms of epidemic sickness which has materially affected the percentage of attendance.

All which is respectfully submitted.

For the Board of School Committee.

JOHN RUGGLES.

Respectfully submitted,

MOSES WITHINGTON, Treasurer.

The Auditing Committee call the attention of the Town to the fact that a number of persons have been fined for the violation of the By-laws regulating cattle running at large, the past year; and that these fines have not been paid into the Treasury by the Trial Justice.

The foregoing account of MOSES WITHINGTON, Treasurer, has been examined by us, and found correct.

SELECTMEN'S REPORT.

POOR.

All those for whom the Town has to make permanent provision have been boarded out as before. Temporary relief has been given to a considerable extent.

HIGHWAYS.

Repairs of the usual kind have been made with such material as could be obtained, but the increasing travel on many of the principal thoroughfares calls for a more lasting material than the gravel which has thus far been used, and we would once more urge upon the Town the need of one or more ledges from which a reliable supply of broken stone can be obtained, with the necessary machinery for preparing such material for use. This subject was referred to a special committee a year ago, and if they are not prepared to report at the annual meeting, we would again ask that some more efficient steps may be taken to attain the desired end, either by appointing a new committee or otherwise. The use of gravel under the heavy traffic of our principal streets is not only bad economy, but keeps the streets either dusty or muddy throughout the year, and should be abandoned at once. A limited supply of broken stone has been obtained from private sources, and applied to a portion of the Brookline Avenue to the Mill Dam and to Beacon Street, but the supply from which this came is not large, and will soon be exhausted.

It has not been found practicable to put the repairs of streets under the superintendence of any one man, as recommended by the report of the special committee four years ago, though such a plan would have its advantages if the right sort of man could be obtained.

WIDENING OF STREETS.

Walnut Street has been graded to a width of 40 feet, opposite the first parish church, by cutting away the earth which was thrown into the street when the present building was erected, and a substantial retaining wall built against the church property. This improvement was carried out in accordance with the wishes of the parish committee, after conferring with them, and as parties were found ready to pay for removing the material, the cost to the town was inconsiderable when compared with the advantage gained; it was defrayed from the general appropriation for highways.

That portion of Brookline Avenue which lies between the corner of Washington Street and the first crossing of the Boston line has been graded to a width of 60 feet, to conform with the width as accepted by the town. Material for this was obtained in part from the new street between High Street and Walnut Street, and in part from the town lands near the Public Library, to which accounts the expense of this improvement has been charged. The grade of the street was raised at the same time some two feet, to secure better drainage, rendering it necessary to raise some of the neighboring buildings, the expense of which was charged in part to sewerage, and in part to the special appropriation for lighting and repairing this street. The surface of the part raised has been covered with broken stone.

Harvard Street has been graded to a width of fifty feet, as laid out by the County Commissioners for a few hundred feet North of School Street, where the widening now terminates abruptly. The Commissioners have already considered favorably the further widening of this street, which is much needed, and are now about to take some definite action on the subject. The extent of their action will depend upon the willingness of the town to pay a portion of the land damages, which question we now refer to the town. The cost of widening, as far as now done, has been defrayed from the appropriation for that purpose.

Beacon Street has been graded to its full width of 50 feet from its intersection with Washington Street easterly to the salt marshes.

As provided for by special appropriations, Washington Street has been widened by the County Commissioners from its junction with Harvard Street to a point opposite the Town House, and we are directed by that board to execute the work during the coming season. A portion of the damages to the abutters was assessed directly upon this Town, amounting to $2,275, for the payment of which, and for the cost of doing the work, an appropriation is recommended.

NEW STREETS.

Avon Street, as laid out and accepted by the Town last year, has been completed at an expense considerably exceeding the estimates and appropriation, owing to the great distance from which it was found necessary to haul material suitable for its surface.

Hammond Street, as laid out and accepted by the Town last Spring, has been put under contract within the appropriation and considerable progress already made towards its completion.

The new street from Walnut to High Street as laid out by the town in March last, is now nearly completed. For the payment of unsettled damages, and for finishing the grading of the street when the weather allows, a re-appropriation is recommended of the sum now remaining unexpended on the old appropriation. If any doubts had existed in the opinion of your Board as to the propriety of opening this street as a needed thoroughfare, they would now be dispelled by the appearance of the work since it is done, and we trust the fitness of the thing will soon be apparent to all.

The County Commissioners have laid out a street from Beacon Street, over the summit of Corey's hill, to the Town line of Brighton, ordering our Town to construct the same during the coming year, for which an appropriation is wanted.

SIDEWALKS.

In pursuance of the instructions of the Town, sidewalks of coal tar and gravel have been constructed as specified below, to a considerable extent, and one-half the cost assessed upon the abutters, from whom a large part of the amount has already been collected, as reported by the Treasurer.

Making a total length of 10,485 feet, at a cost of about $15,000.

More than half of the above were provided with granite curbstones, costing, where used, more than the rest of the work.

So much satisfaction has been expressed with this work, both here and where it has been used in other places for a number of years, that we do not hesitate to recommend its further introduction wherever the abutters consent to share the expense, but, though authorized to assess one half the cost upon the abutters, your board have thus far hesitated to construct such improvements where the abutters were not disposed to assist, preferring to await their disposition to coöperate willingly.

RESERVOIRS.

A new Reservoir has been constructed on Carleton Street, as authorized; but none upon Walnut Street. The ledge upon the latter street appears near the surface at every suitable place for a reservoir, rendering its construction so expensive as to be of doubtful propriety. We recommend, in place of this, some additional hydrants in the Cochituate pipe on Boylston Street, this being so near the wooden buildings on the lower side of Walnut Street as to be of greater utility in case of fire than a reservoir.

GRADING OF TOWN LANDS.

The work of grading the lands about the Town buildings has finally been completed, and these premises now present a more creditable appearance than ever before.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

This department has been kept in its usual state of efficiency, and the apparatus is all in good order.

HOUSE FOR HOSE CARRIAGE.

An appropriation of $7,000 was made last spring for the purpose of buying a suitable lot and erecting a Hose house on it. Some time elapsed before a suitable location presented itself; but a lot was finally found adjoining the block of Mr. Whyte, at the junction of Boylston and Washington Streets, formerly occupied by a stable, which appeared so well adapted to the purpose in size and location that a purchase was effected at a cost of $1,765.

This lot has a front of 45 feet and a depth of 46 feet, giving abundant room for the storing of a steam fire engine at such a time as the Town may require one; as also for a police station and other purposes connected therewith, together with the hose house first contemplated. A preliminary plan has been obtained with the view to erect a building suitable to such purposes, of substantial character, at a cost of about $8,000, leaving the interior to be finished for the above-named purposes as occasion may demand. As the time cannot be far distant when a steam engine will be needed here, and a suitable place for storing one can here be obtained under the same roof which is now needed for the hose house, and as it appears the best economy to erect a building covering the whole lot at once, we would now recommend an appropriation of $8,000 for this purpose.

POLICE.

The Police organization has thus far been limited to the services of about eight men, who have apparently done their best to preserve order and protect property. The great number of burglaries which occurred during the early part of the winter suggest the propriety of organizing an extended night watch, but as sufficient money had not been appropriated for carrying out such a plan efficiently, but little was done in addition to the steps previously taken. If such a plan is to be carried out an expenditure of some $10,000 will be required, and we submit the matter to the Town for consideration.

Besides the burglars there has been an increasing number of noisy and disorderly persons driving horses through certain streets at unmerciful rates, especially on the Sabbath, whom it has been very difficult to control. The nature of the offence necessarily renders arrest a difficult thing. Perhaps some legislation on the subject can be had to authorize temporary obstructions in the streets, either to aid in arresting or to prevent the occurrence of the disorderly acts, which are becoming an intolerable nuisance.

195 arrests have been made during the past year and 134 travellers lodged.

CEMETERY.

Temporary provision has been made for the burial of paupers by purchasing two lots in our old Cemetery from parties who had removed from the town. This may be sufficient for the coming year, but the great mortality among the children in the Massachusetts Infant Asylum in Walnut Street, though perhaps no greater than is always to be expected among children in such a position, has rendered the step above named imperative, and will soon need further provision.

No action has been taken in regard to purchasing land for a new public Cemetery, chiefly owing to the great press of other business of more immediate need, and the doubt whether the larger number of our citizens are not accommodated as well by the large private Cemeteries in our neighborhood as by any which we could now provide. The subject, however, is an important one, and deserves more time and attention than we have been able to give it this year. The number of interments in our Cemetery during the past year was 65.

SEWERAGE.

In pursuance of the votes of the Town on this subject, the Selectmen have caused to be built the following main drains and sewers, as described on next page.

In connection with these there have been constructed 16 man-holes with iron covers, and 15 cesspools with inlets from the street gutters. More of the latter are needed and should be provided as soon as the weather permits, to allow surface water to enter the sewers already finished.

* A considerable part of the expense of this work was incurred by raising the grade of the Western Avenue two feet for several hundred feet in length, where crossed by the old brook channel. The city of Boston, at the same time, raised their main Cochituate pipe two feet, in order to enable us to get the requisite water-way under the main.

In addition to the foregoing, contracts have been made and the work is now in progress for the completion of the main drain along the Rail Road tracks to the channel of Muddy River, and for the new brook channel above Cypress Street. This last named work was undertaken, after considerable deliberation, as being without a doubt the best means of protecting Tappan Street; a deed was first obtained from the heirs of Robert S. Davis, without cost, and a private subscription, to aid in carrying out the plan, of $500. The whole work, with the removal of the surplus earth, will cost some $6,000, but no other equally efficient means could be devised for attaining the same end.

It will appear from the above statement that the cost of constructing the above work has not varied much from the estimates presented in the former Reports, the only essential variation being in the cost of the brick conduit along the Rail Road tracks, which was finished for some $4,000 less than the estimate, owing to the favorable nature of the soil under the Rail Road, requiring scarce any artificial support during the time when the trench was open. This important work was prosecuted with economy and vigor by the contractors, to whom great credit is due for its completion in time to receive the December freshets, when its usefulness was rendered manifest. A portion of the cost of this work has been assessed upon the Boston and Albany Rail Road Company* and the Boston, Hartford and Erie Rail Road Company, and the account placed in the hands of our Collector.

In addition to the completion of the work provided for by contract as above named and now in progress, your Board would urgently recommend the following work to be prosecuted during the coming year, viz :

A main drain from the lower end of the present conduit in Aspinwall avenue, near Mr. Melcher's house, to tide-water, being a necessary outlet for the drainage of that valley, costing say,	$16,600
---	----------

For extension of conduit up this valley from corner of Harvard and School Streets to Park Street (1650 ft.) whenever and as soon as the right of way may be granted by the abutters, costing probably	10,000
---	--------

* Viz. : $2,000—paid into the Treasury since the above was written.

The construction of street conduits from the Rail Road tracks through Washington Street to the corner of Cypress Street (1750 ft.), costing say	$6,000
---	---------

Through Harvard Street from Panter's building to a point near Coolidge's Store on Beacon Street, (3600 ft.), say	12,000
--	--------

Through the whole length of Cypress Street, not already provided for (1850 ft.), costing say	6,000

which we would recommend to be appropriated at once.* The remaining estimates are for work through private property, which need not be appropriated till the work is formally laid out and accepted by the Town.

The subject of assessing a portion of the cost of the Town's drains and sewers upon the abutting property which may be benefited thereby has received considerable attention. The practice in Boston is to levy a tax of about two-thirds the cost of the sewers upon the abutters at the time when the work is done. But the scattered condition of our population as compared with Boston would render such a course extremely onerous and unjust to the abutters for our town. It becomes necessary for us to provide for the surface water in the streets in many cases long before much demand arises for house-drainage: so that it would seem just for the Town to bear more than one-third of the cost of these improvements, while the property which is benefited should doubtless pay some tax in proportion to the advantage derived. How to measure the amount of this advantage in the most equitable manner was discussed at various times, and the following order was finally passed, viz: That every person who enters his particular drain into any main drain or common sewer belonging to the town shall pay, as a proportional part of the charge of making the same, a tax of one and one-fourth per cent on the assessor's valuation of the buildings from which said drain proceeds, and that said tax shall constitute a lien on the real estate so assessed, as provided by the 5th Section of the 48th Chapter of the General Statutes of the Commonwealth.

Several parties have already availed themselves of the sewers now built, to enter them under the above regulations, and a larger number will doubtless do so early in the spring, for the risk of poisoning wells by cess-pools on private grounds is too great to be long encountered after such a simple remedy is at hand.

SECT. 4. — It shall be the duty of the Clerk to keep a record (in a book to be provided by the Selectmen) of the names of all the officers and members of the Company, specifying the times of appointment, discharge, and age of each member, and the absence of each from all fires in this Town, and from the monthly meetings, provided for in the sixth section; and also a full account of the Town property in charge of the company. This book to be always subject to the control and inspection of the Selectmen, and to be actually submitted to their inspection sometime in the months of January and July in each year. In the course of the same months, the Clerk is to deliver to the Town Treasurer a certified list of the officers and members of the company, specifying the number of times (if any) each officer or member has absented himself as aforesaid.

SECT. 5. — The company shall perform all duties by law required to be performed by engine-men, and shall use their best endeavors, in as orderly and quiet a manner as possible, to extinguish all fires which may break out in this Town. And in no instance shall the engine leave the Town, without the consent of one or more of the firewards of the Town.

SECT. 6. — On the return of the engine from the fire, the same shall be well and securely taken care of; and once a month the company shall meet, for the purpose of examining the state of the engine and apparatus, and see that the same is in good repair, and ready for use.

At any time, when, in the judgment of the Selectmen, the public good will be advanced thereby, all or any portion of the Company, its officers or members, may be dismissed from the service, or the Company disbanded.

HIGHWAYS.

SECT. 1. — All persons intending to erect, repair, or take down any building, on land abutting on any way which this Town is obliged to keep in repair, and who desire to make use of any portion of said way for the purpose of placing thereon building materials or rubbish, shall, ten days at least before so placing any building materials or rubbish, give notice in writing, to the Selectmen, of such wish. And thereupon the Selectmen are to cause to be staked out such portion of said way to be used for such purpose, as in their judgment the necessity of the case demands and the security of the public allows, and to grant a permit accordingly; such permit in no case to be in force longer than ninety days.

SECT. 2. — It shall be the duty of every person to whom any such permit may be granted, to place all his building materials and rubbish on the place designated by the Selectmen; and, during the whole of every night, from twilight in the evening until the next morning, to keep lighted lanterns, so placed as effectually to secure all travellers from liability to come in contact with such materials or rubbish.

SECT. 3. — In case any person shall use any portion of such way for the purposes mentioned in the first section, without the permit, in writing, of the Selectmen, as therein provided, or for a longer time than so permitted, or shall fail to comply with the requisitions of the second section, the party so in default shall forfeit and pay into the Town Treasury ten dollars for each offence, and shall also re-imburse the Town all expenses by way of damages or otherwise, which the Town may be compelled to pay by reason of the way being encumbered.

SECT. 4. — No wooden building, more than ten feet high, shall be moved over any way in this Town, which this Town is obliged to keep in repair, without the written permit of the Selectmen being first obtained; and any person so moving, or assisting in moving, any such building, without such permit being first obtained; or any such person who shall not comply with the restrictions and provisions which the Selectmen may think the public security demands, shall forfeit and pay into the Town Treasury, for every such offence, twenty dollars, provided such restrictions and provisions are set forth in the permit; provided also that the Selectmen shall in no case grant a permit for the removal of any building whatsoever, which, in the course of its removal, will be likely to damage any trees, the property of individuals, whether standing in the road or in the field, unless the consent of such individuals is first had and obtained.

SECT. 5. — In case any building shall be moved contrary to the provisions of the fourth section, the owner of the building shall reimburse the Town all expenses by way of damages or otherwise, which the Town may be compelled to pay by reason of the way being encumbered.

SECT. 6. — Whoever shall coast upon sleds in any of the streets, or upon any of the sidewalks in this Town, shall forfeit and pay into the Town Treasury, for each offence, a sum not less than one dollar, and not more than five dollars, to be paid by each offender, or his or her parents or guardian respectively.

HAY SCALES.

SECT. 1. — The Selectmen shall appoint for a term of time, not exceeding one year, one person who shall have superintendence of the hay-scales belonging to the Town ; and such person may, at any time, be removed from office by the Selectmen.

SECT. 2. — In all cases of temporary absence, or inability from any cause, properly to perform the duties of his office, the Superintendent shall procure, at his own expense, a substitute to perform such duties ; such substitute, in all cases, to be approved by the Selectmen, and to be removable at their pleasure.

SECT. 3. — It shall be the duty of the Superintendent to weigh all the hay and other articles, which may be offered to be weighed, and to conform to all such rules and regulations as shall be established by the Selectmen, concerning the scales and the fees for weighing.

VACCINATION OF CHILDREN ATTENDING THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

From and after the first day of May, 1847, no child shall be admitted into any public school in this town, unless he or she shall present to the Instructor or Instructress a certificate from some physician, that he or she has been properly vaccinated ; or unless the parents or guardians of such child shall certify in writing that such vaccination has been properly performed.

ANIMALS RUNNING AT LARGE.

THIRTEENTH

OF THE

Trustees of the Public Library.

BOSTON:

J. E. FARWELL AND COMPANY, PRINTERS,
37 CONGRESS STREET.
1869.

REPORT.

Brookline, March 1st, 1870.

During the past year our Library Building has been completed and opened to the public, and the grounds connected therewith have been graded, fenced, and provided with substantial avenues and walks, and concrete sidewalks with granite edgestone laid upon the three public streets adjoining the same.

The cost of the building, with furniture and appointments, in complete working order, has been about $45,000. The architect was Louis Weissbein, Esq., of Boston, and the contractors for the various parts of the work were as follows: Mason's work (including slating and plastering), Horace James; Carpenter's, N. Lyford; Freestone, E. F. Meany; Granite, Frederick & Field; Cellar, J. Driscoll; painting, B. F. Baker; Gas Fixtures, M. W. Pierce & Co.; Heating Apparatus and Tinning, Kenrick Brothers.

It became necessary, by vote of the Town, to grade, fence and prepare all the land of the Town between Washington, School, and Prospect Streets, including about 65,000 feet of land, purchased at eight different times by the Town, and which was extremely rough and unsightly. The work done here has been important and effectual, and will be a great improvement to the property of the Town, and to the whole vicinity. The cost of these improvements will appear in the Treasurer's Report.

Our Public Library was opened December 2d, 1857, in a single room, with 900 volumes ; it was re-opened October 18th, 1869, with nearly 12,000 volumes, in a building dedicated to Library purposes, with its large hall, of a capacity for 50,000 volumes, — commodious Reading Room, and Waiting Room, — Librarian's Room, — Trustees' Hall, — Committee Room, — and six other rooms of convenient and ample accommodations for all the working departments of a public library, for the present and future.

The rooms of the Library were opened to the public on the 13th day of October last, and the Reading Room was opened, and the delivery of books was commenced October 18th, upon three afternoons and evenings of each week ; and on and after November 1st, the Reading Room has been open, and books delivered every afternoon and evening (Sundays excepted) from 3 to 9, P. M.

The removal of more than 11,000 volumes from the old shelves, and their arrangement in the new alcoves, with the necessary alterations in catalogues, have been attended with great labor, and have prevented the preparation and publication of supplemental catalogues. When these shall have been completed, our library arrangements and conveniences will be of the most unexceptionable character.

Congratulating our fellow citizens on these new attractions, and this substantial progress in our town, we refer to the Report in detail of our Librarian, which is hereto annexed.

The Town will be called upon to elect four Trustees for the term of three years.

BROOKLINE, Feb. 15, 1870.

To the Trustees of the Public Library:

GENTLEMEN :—The Librarian would congratulate the Trustees on the ample and convenient accommodations which are now enjoyed for the Public Library. The experience of three months justifies us in saying that in its arrangements the new building thus far fully meets the wants of the Library, and the expectations of its friends. The rooms are spacious, airy, well-lighted, easily warmed, and well adapted each to its respective purpose. The public who come for books or to avail themselves of the privileges offered in the Reading Room, find pleasant and quiet apartments; while the assistants in the Library can follow a system in their work, thus securing economy in labor and in time. Indeed, as yet, we fail to see wherein the building in its internal arrangements could be improved.

The Library has been open during the last year for the delivery of books 161 days,—65 days while in the old quarters, where now Music and Justice alternately hold court, and 96 days since its removal to the new building. Books were first delivered to the public in this building Oct. 18th, 1869; and thereafter on three days in the week during October; and since Nov. 1st every day in the week, Sundays excepted, from 3 o'clock, P. M. to 9 o'clock, P. M. The number of volumes borrowed from the Library will be shown by the statistics below.

The Reading Room has been open to the public during the same hours in which books are loaned from the Library. The extent to which this room is used cannot be so easily or so accurately shown. It is, however, very much used by ladies and gentlemen, and by youth above fourteen years of age; and will probably be resorted to still more when the public generally know the kind and the enlarged amount of reading-matter to be found upon the tables there. The names of the magazines and periodicals now placed in the Reading Room are as follows ;—

Army and Navy Journal,	London Punch,
Appleton's Journal,	London Quarterly Review,
Atlantic Monthly,	London Society,
Bibliotheca Sacra,	Merchant's Magazine,
Blackwood's Magazine,	The Nation,
Boys and Girls,	N. England Genealo. Register,
The Builder,	New Jerusalem Magazine,
Chambers' Journal,	North American Review,
The Citizen,	North British Review,
Cornhill Magazine,	Old and New,
Country Gentleman,	Our Dumb Animals,
Dublin University Magazine,	Our Young Folks,
Edinburgh Review,	Putnam's Monthly,
Every Saturday,	Reform League,
The Galaxy,	Riverside Magazine,
Good Health,	Scientific American,
Harper's Monthly,	Sunday Magazine,
Harper's Weekly,	Temple Bar,
Intellectual Observer,	Westminster Review,
Living Age,	Woman's Journal,
London Illustrated News,	Young Gentleman's Magazine.

These magazines and periodicals are placed in the Reading Room as soon after their publication as we can procure them. After they have ceased to be used in this room they are sent to the Binder to be bound into volumes, and are then arranged and preserved in the Book Hall.

Books may also be taken from the Library to be read in the Reading Room. Indeed the privileges in this room offered to the citizens of Brookline are remarkable. We do not believe a more pleasant Reading Room with so large a variety of reading matter can be found in New England outside of Boston.

The hall where the books are arranged has 20 alcoves along the sides,—10 on the first floor, and 10 on the second. Each alcove on the first floor has six tiers of shelves and nine shelves in each tier; on the second floor each alcove has seven tiers and each tier has nine shelves. At the ends of the hall above and below there are in all eighteen additional tiers of shelves. Hence the entire number of shelves in the hall is 1282; and they will hold about 44,000 volumes. Arrangements can be made also for 20,000 to 25,000 volumes more to be accommodated. We have a building, therefore, that will accommodate about 70,000 volumes.

The alcoves on the lower floor are numbered from 1 to 10, beginning on the left as you enter the hall, and going to the right. Alcoves 1, 2, 9, and 10, contain novels, prose-fiction, books for children, and humorous works: alcove 3 contains works on travels and descriptive geography: alcove 4 contains works on mathematical and physical science: in alcove 5 are dictionaries and encyclopædias and other books for “reference:” in alcove 6 are bound volumes of magazines and reviews: alcove 7 contains works on history and chronology: in alcove 8 are works on biography.

On the second floor in alcove 12 are works on law, government, political and social philosophy; in one half of alcove 13 are works on education, and in the other half are works on language and literary criticism; in alcove 14 are the collected prose works of authors on diverse subjects, miscellanies, essays, speeches, etc.; in alcoves 15 and 16 are public documents, State and National, and statistics; in alcove 17 are works on theology and morals, and on one side works on mental philosophy; in alcove 18, on one side poetry and dramatic literature, on the other side are translations of Greek and Latin authors, and on the end are works in foreign languages; in alcove 19 are works on agriculture, horticulture, and architecture, also on games and sports. Alcoves 11 and 20 are not yet occupied: but one of them will soon be needed as additional accommodation for the department of history.

This classification of the books may not be absolutely the best one possible ; but for our Library we believe it to be a practicable and convenient one. In fixing the place of each department of books we have kept in mind the convenience of the assistants who deliver the books to the public, and have therefore placed those departments on the lower floor which are called for most ; and thus far we are much pleased with our arrangement.

Though in a Library like ours we do not claim that the department of Pamphlets should be a very distinguishing feature, yet if they are properly classified, and so arranged that any pamphlet can at once be found, the value of this department becomes so great that we cannot afford to ignore it. Sometimes a single pamphlet contains just the information that a man desires ; and that information may be found nowhere else.

We are therefore glad to receive pamphlets, and we already have a large number of them. The room which has been fitted up for their accommodation, seems admirably adapted to its purpose. Shelves extend around the room, and the spaces between the shelves are divided into compartments. Pamphlets relating to the same subject will be arranged in a particular compartment ; hence it will be an easy matter to find a pamphlet if we have it. The pamphlets which we now have were given to the Library by the citizens ; none have been purchased.

The great need of the Library at the present time is a new catalogue. The last one was printed in 1865, and hence contains the titles of only about half the books now in the Library ; and these books which are not in the catalogue are the ones more recently published, and also the ones in which the public are most interested. Not an individual in town, outside of the Trustees and the Librarian, knows what books are in the Library ; nor from the nature of the case can he know. We claim that we have one of the very best libraries in Massachusetts, after excepting those in Boston and Cambridge. But this does not appear from our printed catalogue. We have a written cat-atalogue containing the titles of all the books in the Library ; but the impossibility of giving the public free access to this, is at once seen. The only way to inform the public what books are in the Library is to show them a printed catalogue of its contents. There is daily and continual demand for such a catalogue ; and we do not believe the money necessary to defray the expenses of printing it, could be more usefully expended in connection with the Library.

For the convenience of the citizens we will append to this Report a list of the books added to the Library during the years 1868 and 1869.

OF THE
PUBLIC LIBRARY OF BROOKLINE.

ADOPTED BY THE INHABITANTS AT THE ANNUAL TOWN MEETING,
MARCH 25, 1861.

THE town of Brookline agrees to hold and manage, for the use of its inhabitants, any devise, bequest, or donation it may receive and accept for the establishment, increase, or maintenance of its Public Library.

RULES AND REGULATIONS.

CHAPTER I.

Of the Board of Trustees, and their Powers and Duties.

ARTICLE I. — There shall be a Board of Twelve Trustees, four of whom shall be elected by ballot annually, at the annual town-meeting, to hold office for three years thereafter, or until their successors shall be chosen, and qualified to act. The Trustees chosen at the annual meeting in the year 1860, shall, at their first regular meeting, divide themselves by lot into three classes. Those of the first class shall hold office until their successors shall be elected, at the annual town-meeting, in the year 1861; those of the second class shall hold office until their successors shall be elected, at the annual town-meeting in the year 1862; and those of the third class shall hold office until their successors shall be elected, at the annual town-meeting, in the year 1863.

ART. II. — The officers of the Board of Trustees shall consist of a President, Secretary, Treasurer, and Librarian ; all of whom shall be members of the Board, except the Secretary and Librarian, who may be appointed by the Board, at such compensation as they shall determine ; the same to be paid from the appropriation for town-officers.

ART. III. — The Board of Trustees shall hold regular meetings on the third Tuesday of every month, except August.

ART. IV. — The President shall call a special meeting of the Board at the written request of any two members, provided such request shall state the object of the proposed meeting ; and he may at any time call a special meeting, at his own discretion. All meetings shall be seasonably notified by the Secretary in writing.

ART. V. — The Standing Committees of the Board shall consist of three members each, and shall be as follows : viz., 1. The Committee on the Library ; 2. The Committee on Accounts and Finances. And they shall at all times be under the control and direction of the Board.

It shall be the duty of the Committee on the Library,—

First, To recommend to the Board, from time to time, such books as it may be desirable to purchase or exchange.

Second, To make such purchases and exchanges of books as the Board may authorize.

Third, To direct in regard to the binding and covering of books, and their preparation for circulation.

Fourth, To determine, subject to the sanction of the Board, what books shall be used only for reference ; and to impose such other restriction on the use of the books as in their judgment may be expedient, subject to the sanction aforesaid.

Fifth, Annually, to make an examination of the Library, and prepare, for the adoption of the Board, a report of the condition of the Library, to be presented to the town at the annual meeting.

Sixth, To see that the rules and regulations relative to the Library are complied with.

Seventh, To see that proper books and forms are prepared for the use of the Librarian.

Eighth, To superintend the preparation and printing of such catalogues in the books of the Library as the Board may direct.

Ninth, To have the general charge and direction of the Library rooms.

It shall be the duty of the Committee on Accounts and Finances,—

First, To examine all bills against the Library, and, if correct, to approve the same.

Second, To employ such means as they may deem best to obtain donations in money and books for the increase of the Library : all money thus received to be paid over to the Treasurer, and by him passed to the credit of the Library-fund, to be appropriated at the order of the Board.

ART. VI. — At the first regular meeting in April, the officers and Standing Committees of the Board shall be chosen by ballot ; and they shall respectively continue to hold office till their successors are appointed. In case of any vacancy occurring during the year, it may be filled at any regular meeting.

ART. VII. — Four members of the Board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business ; and any number more than one may adjourn a meeting, when a quorum is not present.

ART. VIII. — No book, pamphlet, work of art, or other object whatsoever, offered by any person to the Library, shall be accepted and placed therein, except by express vote of the Board, unless by direction of the town ; and immediate notice of acceptance shall then be given to the donor, with a suitable acknowledgment.

ART. IX. — All books, pamphlets, and articles in the Public Library may be exchanged at any time at the discretion of the Trustees for the time being; provided, however, that books, pamphlets, and articles presented to the Library shall not be disposed of, except with the consent of the donor, or his or her oldest heir-at-law.

CHAPTER II.

Of the use of the Library.

ART. I. — Any inhabitant of the town of Brookline, who shall sign an obligation to observe all the existing Rules and Regulations of the Library and all that may be subsequently adopted, shall have free right to take books therefrom, so long as he or she shall comply with the same.

ART. II. — No person shall be allowed more than one volume, and no family of the same household shall be allowed more than three volumes at any one time. Books may be kept out of the Library fourteen days only; provided always that any book may be renewed once to the same person, but not more than once, until it shall have remained in the Library one full Library-day. The fine for the retention of any volume over the time above specified shall be two cents for every day it is so retained. The provisions of this article are subject to the discretionary power conferred upon the Committee on the Library by Art. 5, chap. 1.

ART. III. — Any book retained two weeks beyond the time prescribed by these regulations shall be sent for by the Librarian; and the expense incurred in obtaining it shall be paid by such delinquent.

ART. IV. — All injuries to books beyond a reasonable wear, and all losses, shall be made good to the satisfaction of the Committee on the Library by the person liable ; and any book not returned within one week after demand made for it by the Librarian shall be regarded as lost. If any book be lost, the person for whose use it was taken out shall pay such a sum as the said Committee shall determine, or replace the book ; or, if it be one of a set, he or she shall pay the price of the set, and take the remaining volumes, if the said Committee shall so determine.

ART. V. — All books are required to be returned to the Library fourteen days before the annual examination, under penalty of a fine of one dollar ; but seasonable notice of the time shall be given by the Librarian.

ART. VI. — No person having a book from the Library shall lend it to a person not a member of the same household ; and no person owing a fine of forfeiture shall receive books from the Library until the same is paid.

ART. VII. — Every person desiring to take books from the Library for home use shall receive from the Librarian a printed card, on which the book asked for shall be designated, also the number of the shelf on which it stands, in blanks left for the purpose ; and this card, which will be presented to the Librarian as the only mode of obtaining any book which may be asked for, will be retained until the book shall be returned by the borrower.

ART. VIII. — Books of reference, and those deemed by the Board unsuitable for general circulation, shall not be lent, except by an order signed by at least two of the Trustees.

ART. IX. — All persons visiting the Library-rooms will be required to demean themselves quietly, and to avoid all unnecessary conversation in the rooms. Any person abusing the privileges of the Library by improper or offensive conduct will be denied admission to the rooms.

ART. X. — The Library rooms shall be open for the use and delivery of books at such times as the Committee of the Library shall designate, but not less frequently than on two afternoons and evenings of every week.

CHAPTER III.

Of the Librarian and his duties.

ART. I. — The Librarian, under the direction of the Committee on the Library, shall have the charge and superintendence of all the rooms of the Public Library, and shall be responsible for the due care and keeping of all the books and other public property contained in them.

ART. II. — He shall be present in the Library in person, or by an assistant, during such times as it may be open to the public ; and perform all such duties, under the direction of the Board, as are usually incumbent upon a Librarian.

ART. III. — He shall arrange all the books on the shelves in an order convenient for use ; and shall enter, in a record to be kept for that purpose, the time when each book was received ; its cost, if purchased ; the name of its donor, if given ; and any other facts relating to it which the Board may direct : such record to be called the “ Catalogue of Accessions.”

ART. IV. — He shall prepare such catalogues, books, and forms as the Committee on the Library may direct.

ART. V. — He shall acknowledge all gifts to the Library as soon as they shall have been reported to the Board and accepted ; first procuring the signature of the President to each acknowledgment he may make.

ART. VI. — He shall keep a careful record of all such books as are asked for and are not in the Library, and of the names of the persons asking for them ; and exhibit the same to the Committee on the Library, whenever it shall be called for.

ART. VII. — He shall cause a book-plate to be securely fastened in each volume belonging to the Library, — noting on it the date of the book's reception ; the name of the donor, if it be a gift ; the number of the shelf on which it is kept ; and the number it may bear on the Catalogue of Accessions. He shall permit no book to be used or taken until it shall have been entered in said Catalogue of Accessions.

ART. VIII. — He shall annually, at the discretion of the Committee on the Library, call in all books that are out, and prepare for examination the books and other property of the Library under his control ; and shall, at the same time, make and present to the Committee on the Library a detailed report of its condition and increase during the year.

REPORT.

The Board has been organized during the past, as in the previous year, with Mr. Thomas Parsons, Chairman, and F. W. Prescott, Secretary.

The Town will be called upon at the March meeting, to elect for the full term, three members of the Board, to fill the places of Messrs. Thomas Parsons, and F. W. Prescott, and Dr. E. W. Sanford, whose terms expire with the present fiscal year; and for one year, a member in place of the Rev. Dr. Wharton, who has removed from Brookline.

In coming again before our fellow-citizens to give an account of our stewardship, we feel justified in saying that the progress of the Schools, during the past year has been good; not that all have been equally successful, or have arrived at an equally high standard; circumstances, in some cases, will interfere with the most earnest efforts of the teachers, and even where these are favorable and the teachers faithful, all have not equal ability for discipline and instruction; and without strict and thorough discipline there can be little valuable instruction. By strict and thorough discipline, we would by no means be understood as intimating severity of treatment towards pupils, as this may exist with laxity, or at least with irregularity of discipline; but that firm, yet kind government which makes pupils feel the absolute necessity of regular and prompt performance of their duties. Of this kind of discipline, we have more than one admirable example, while in other Schools it is approached more or less nearly.

Looking over the reports of the Board of Education, our attention was called to one subject connected with discipline, of which we have thought much. We will quote a few lines : — “ Many persons of sound judgment and extensive observation have come to regard the self-reporting system, widely adopted in our Public Schools, as of very doubtful propriety. The objection is that it encourages deceit and falsehood, and tends to demoralize pupils.”

In this and what succeeds on the same subject [Thirtieth Annual Report, pp. 14 and 15] there is a great deal that is just and true ; and the charge is a very grave one. The question of the propriety of self-reporting in the Schools is important, and the system is fraught with strong influences for good or evil, but there is much to be said on both sides. That it offers temptations to children is undoubtedly true, but is there any influence to which they are exposed, when out of their parents' sight, which may not offer temptation to evil? Temptation is not to be escaped in this world. On the other hand, our experience has led us to the conclusion that, with a large majority of the young, there are few stronger appeals we can make, than those to their honor and sense of right. Treat children as if you were sure they were all you would have them be, and ninety-nine out of a hundred will make the most strenuous efforts to show themselves worthy of your trust. This we assert with the confidence of experience. The most successfully disciplined schools we have ever seen, have been conducted on this principle. But of course there are exceptional children, to whom such an appeal is apparently vain, who will take advantage of your confidence to their own injury, and perhaps to the temporary demoralization of the school. Should the system be given up on this account? With a teacher who does not study the characters of his several pupils, who takes it for granted that all are true because a large majority are so, this system is a dangerous one ; but with a proper study of character, and a promptness to discover and check those who are tempted ; to assist and lead them back to a clearer sense of true honor which can only consist in truth, we incline to the opinion that the system will, in the long run, be productive of good, rather than of evil. The teacher who adopts the system, assumes a responsibility which cannot safely be ignored.

There have been changes among our teachers during the year, and some have left us whose loss will be felt; by no means the least valued of whom, was Miss Emerson, from the Heath Street School. She has been many years with us, and the longer she staid the less willingly would we have parted with her. She was able and faithful.

DRAWING TEACHER.

The town is about to lose the services of Miss Hughes, the accomplished teacher of drawing in the High and Pierce Grammar Schools. Her absence will probably be only temporary, as she proposes spending a year in Italy, devoting herself to art studies, in the expectation of returning to her present duties, with mind and body renovated, and prepared to give her pupils the advantage of her increased knowledge and experience.

MUSIC TEACHER.

In our last Annual Report, we had occasion to express our regret at the loss of Mr. Nathan Lincoln, Music Teacher, and our fears lest we should not readily fill his place. In this respect we have been more fortunate than we then had reason to hope. We succeeded in securing the services of Mr. Kreissmann, a gentleman who had lately become a resident of Brookline, but whose great ability as a musician was well known to all of us. We found, on talking with him, that he was much interested in our Schools, and desirous, if possible, of making arrangements with us, in the hope, as he said, of improving the musical taste, and elevating the standard of musical attainment in the town, which, he expected, would hereafter be his home. In addition to his knowledge as a musician, he had already had a very successful experience as a teacher of children in the Boston Schools.

He has been with us for nearly a year to the entire satisfaction of the Board, and to the great advantage and delight of scholars and teachers. During the last term a class of Primary Teachers was commenced under his instruction, to the end that some of the first principles of music might be imparted by these ladies to their pupils after his method, so that it might not be necessary each year to go back and begin anew in the Grammar Schools, but the pupils, having already some knowledge of music, might be taken up at an advanced point, and so carried farther before the end of the course, than would otherwise be possible. As yet this class is an experiment, from which we have only hope of advantage to be realized in the future.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION.

In the "Atlantic Monthly" for January, February and March, 1869, appeared a series of articles, by one of Boston's most celebrated physicians, entitled "Consumption in America," the whole of which is interesting, and should be carefully read by all who have taken upon themselves the care of a family, or the charge of the young. To one portion we would call particular attention. It is headed "Is our system of education a promoter of Consumption?" The writer says: "We believe the affirmative of this question to be true, at least as applied to the Northern and Western States. We have had too many bitter experiences of its influence to have a shadow of doubt on this point in reference to New England." * * * * * "We pride ourselves, and justly so, on our system of public school education. Without an intelligent, reading people, a democratic Commonwealth is the veriest farce possible. Education is the life-blood of our republic." * * * * * "Having the strongest love and respect for our system of education, we nevertheless assert that it is grossly imperfect in one particular. It wholly neglects the body in the desire to cram the memory and stimulate the intellect. Instead of looking to the full development of a youth, both body and mind, where does a school system make any provision for the proper manly and womanly physical development of the children? A vacation is occasionally given; but where is the proper physical training of the pupils? Nowhere. Surely nothing can be more absurd than this, but it is nevertheless true. What School Committee-man thinks of a rounded, well-developed muscle, and vigorous frame of body as the precursor of 'support and actual aid' to a noble, well-balanced intellect?"

We wish we could quote the whole of this chapter on the errors and shortcomings of New England education, as regards its effects upon the health of the rising generation. It is all true, and the only point on which we would take issue with the distinguished writer, is the responsibility for this state of things, which he seems rather disposed to lay at the door of the "School Committee-men" and their overweening pride in the system and its infallibility. Now in this we think the writer is mistaken. We think it is the people of New England who are at fault in this matter, and perhaps more particularly, with some exceptions, the teachers, as representatives of the literary or student class, where brought more closely in contact with the rising generation. We New Englanders have grown up in an intense and bigoted love for education, or more properly "book learning," and a prejudiced feeling which sets all reasoning at defiance, that every hour, not given by a child to study, is wasted, or worse, and that "School Committee-men" who encourage physical education, or spend the town's money in paying for teaching gymnastic exercises, not only are wasting the money, but are taking from the teachers and children the valuable time which has always been devoted to improving their minds, and are, thereby, showing themselves unfit for their great trust. How often are we told that boys, and girls too, will always find time enough for play ; that they do not want help in that direction ; that all they want is strict school hours, and good, severe teachers who will keep them at their books, and see that they learn something valuable every day. This it must be acknowledged is the general tone of feeling in almost any New England community. As an abstract proposition, the importance of physical education is pretty generally admitted. Mens sana in corpore sano is acknowledged to be a desideratum, a necessity perhaps, but the practical application is another matter. We at least as a school committee would clear ourselves of this responsibility. Year after year we have called attention to the importance of this subject, and we venture once again to urge it upon our fellow-citizens. It is not merely that physical education strengthens and beautifies the human frame and renders it a more fitting habitation for the mind cultivated and refined by education. It is not merely that the physically educated man or woman is better prepared to continue mental exertion through life, and to aim at something higher than mere school excellence, nor that the command which such a one has of the properly balanced, well-developed muscles, is of itself of infinite value all through life ; but we will go so far as to say that half an hour a day, taken from the regular school studies and devoted to proper physical exercises, instead of being lost, will enable the pupils to devote so much more energy to their mental culture during the rest of the day, that they will learn as much or more than they would have done had they devoted all the time to study without exercise.

Influenced by these views the Board have again made an arrangement with a regularly trained teacher of Gymnastics for a temporary or experimental course of lessons at the High and Pierce Grammar Schools of twenty minutes a day, twice a week, and they would be glad if the parents of children in these schools would visit them at the hours devoted to the exercises, and see for themselves their character.

TRUANCY AND IRREGULAR ATTENDANCE.

The crying evil, the bar to all progress towards universal education is irregular attendance. Every School Report calls attention to it; every Legislature tries to correct it; yet there it is flourishing now with as rank a growth as if no attempt had had ever been made to eradicate it. Is there anything we can do that promises even an approach towards improvement? As we remarked last year, those who are interested in the advancement of our schools, and who read our Reports, are not in need of any appeals we can make; unless indeed, there be some within the reach of their influence, some ignorant parents who do not appreciate what we offer to them and their children in our free schools. If there be any such within the reach of those who read this Report, we would respectfully urge upon them to try what their influence will do. Ignorance is proverbially improvident, yet one would think that if the parent who can hardly, by the work of his hands, earn food for the children growing up in idleness around him, could be made to understand, to feel, that by merely taking advantage of what is freely offered to him, by simply permitting his children to go to school, and seeing that they do go regularly, he could put them on the same footing in regard to their future welfare with the envied children of the wealthy, and could enable them in a few years, with their educated minds to do more towards their own support and that of the family than all his uneducated labor can accomplish, that even the most ignorant and improvident would hardly neglect so little a thing, or would keep them from school for a day or an hour on any light consideration. But such parents do not understand this. In the first place the schools are free, their children can have an education without expense, and what can be had so cheap, they argue can be little worth; and it is a small matter whether their children are educated or not. They are kept from school on any trifling excuse, and being sent thus irregularly soon learn to consider it of very little consequence whether they go to school or not, and on the slightest temptation they play truant, and as the law punishes truancy by a fine which the parent must pay, the parent simply screens the truant by saying he kept the child at home, and thus a community of evil between parent and child is established, and the hope of any good is small.

But as is well known the evil of truancy and irregular attendance does not stop with the child who is irregular, but extends to the whole school where such pupil belongs.

We are perfectly aware that we have pursued this line of argument over and over again before, but it seems that only by reiterating have we any hope of keeping attention attracted to this subject until some remedy shall be devised.

Within the last few years an attempt has been made in Springfield and Worcester, and perhaps in some other places to correct in part this evil by the establishment of ungraded schools, where children who cannot or do not attend regularly, may be sent, and taught by themselves, so that their irregularity need not interfere with the progress of others. The success of these schools is said to have exceeded the expectations of their originators, and they have been brought so favorably to the attention of this Board, that the subject was referred to a Sub-committee for examination. That Committee, composed of Mr. Cabot and Dr. Amory, after looking carefully into the subject made a report upon it, with certain recommendations; but as it was near the end of the fiscal year, and as it would be necessary, if these recommendations were acted upon, to provide another schoolroom, as well as an additional teacher, it was thought advisable by the Board, to refer the matter to the Town, before taking action upon it ; we therefore append the report of those gentlemen that our fellow-citizens may fully understand the matter. One thing seems evident, that in order to give the experiment a fair trial, with a reasonable hope of success, it is necessary that the person to whom the charge of the Ungraded School may be entrusted, should be an experienced teacher of more than ordinary capacity, devoted to his profession and willing to make himself a missionary in the cause of education.

All which is respectfully submitted.

For the Board of School Committee.

F. W. PRESCOTT,

Secretary.

UNGRADED SCHOOLS.

The Sub-committee appointed Oct. 6, 1869, to consider the plan adopted at Springfield and elsewhere, of so-called "Ungraded Schools," as means of checking truancy in the public schools, beg leave to report as follows :—

The essence of the Springfield plan consists in the separation from the rest of the scholars in the Public Schools, of those who, from any reason are unable or unwilling to attend School regularly—and in providing for their instruction by themselves until such irregularity shall cease. If such an arrangement is practicable, so much at least seems to be gained by it, that the evil influence of such examples, and the disintegrating effect upon the whole organization of the school, will be removed. It may also, in proper hands be made the means of awakening, in those thus set apart, a sense of the injury and loss inflicted on themselves by their laxity or wilful misconduct.

A system of this kind has been in operation at Springfield, since 1866, and at Worcester still longer. The Springfield School Reports for the succeeding years testify strongly in its favor. The Report for 1868, after giving some account of the Reform School established in that city for the purpose of carrying out the Statute provisions against truancy, goes on to say (page 5) "there has been established what is called an Ungraded School, where habitual truants, who ought not to be sent to the Reform School may be kept under instruction until they can return to the Graded Schools. This Ungraded School is put in charge of a gentleman, who is made the principal truant officer. And it is made his duty to look up all truants, and investigate the cases reported to him from all the public schools. * * *

He is to visit the homes of such children, and ascertain whether their parents and guardians know of their absence, and whether there is any good reason for it. He is expected to do it in a kind and sensible way, and so as to make parents feel that he is aiding them, and seeking the good of their children. When satisfied that they are real truants, and that there is no other mode of preventing it, they are taken to the Ungraded School, which they are required to attend regularly until their attainments and habits admit them to some of the Graded Schools. In another report the committee say, (1866, p. 28,) "The School commenced with three pupils, but the number was soon increased. Several boys who were not in any of the Schools, and had not been for several terms, voluntarily offered themselves for this Ungraded School. Those who best know the boys had little faith in the success of the School, * * * but some who, at first, had their misgivings have become thorough converts, and are now earnest defenders of it." * * * "The Ungraded School is doing a good work for those children whose circumstances seem to compel irregular attendance. Some parents seem to feel, that they must have the services of their children, whenever they can find work. Some find employment regularly one day in a week. Now it is evident that a boy out of school one-fifth of the time cannot advance with his class, with profit to himself, or without injury to others, and such pupils are sent to this school, not as a disgrace, or a punishment, but because we can there meet the necessities of the parent, and still do something for the education of the child. * * * * In the efforts put forth to secure constant attendance, some have felt that the inalienable rights of parents were not sufficiently regarded. It is not, I believe, claimed that the custody of the child is taken from the parent, but it is claimed that the custody of the schools is in the hands of the committee; that the schools are of the nature of a trust, placed in their hands as a board of trust, and that they are under obligation to take that course which seems to promise the greatest good to the greatest number * * * * If he (the parent) chooses to have his child educated at the public expense, to avail himself of the privilege offered to all, he is under obligation so to do that, as not to interfere with the rights of others." The committee further say that the percentage of absences decreased in a striking manner, after the introduction of the Ungraded School, and that the testimony of the teachers is invariably in its favor. In the Report for 1867, (p. 18) the Committee say of the system of the Ungraded Schools in connection with the Reform School, "Although it has been in operation but a little more than a year, its good fruits are already abundant, * * * and outside of the schools themselves the system is exerting a most happy influence, in promoting a more regular attendance in all the schools, and diminishing the class of vagrant and mischievous children in our streets."

At Springfield the Ungraded School seems to have been used, in some cases at least, as an intermediate step towards the Reform or Truant School proper, and has accordingly been made a place of confinement. But this does not seem to be a necessary part of the scheme. The main project does not appear to involve any proceedings under the Statutes against Truancy,—any necessity to provide a place of confinement, or in short, anything out of the ordinary province of this Board acting in the exercise of their appointed discretion in assigning to particular schools, the scholars, who, in their judgment, ought to attend them.

Whether a Reform School proper, provided with means of confining truants, might not, with advantage, be established in this town, is a separate question with which your committee is not called upon to deal. But in the meantime, an Ungraded School, as described above, seems to offer the present prospect of a remedy, or at least, a palliative for this great, and increasing evil—a remedy less harsh, and less cumbrous in its application than the Reform School, and moreover requiring, for its immediate introduction, nothing further than the provision of a separate room, and a special teacher, and the establishment of some simple machinery for putting it into operation. They are accordingly prepared to recommend that an experiment be made upon this basis forthwith.

As to the regulations that should govern the assignment of scholars to the Ungraded School, and their restoration at the proper time to the regular schools, your committee would suggest that the teachers of all the schools be requested, as heretofore, to follow up all cases of suspected truancy, and use all means in their power to check delinquency, and if unsuccessful to report the names of all scholars needing the application of further means, to the Truant Officer, who shall be required to visit each school in the town, twice every week, during the school year, for the purposes of collecting such names, and to make diligent investigation of all such cases, reporting the result of such investigation on the last day of the month, to that member of the Board, whose duty it is to supervise the School in which such delinquency occurs, by whom the same shall be referred to the full Board, for their further action at their next meeting.

And your Committee would suggest that a Truant Officer be appointed, whose daily duties shall not prevent him from fully carrying out these provisions.

And we would recommend that a sub-committee be appointed with power to carry into effect the above recommendations, so far as to make an experiment thereof, for a period not exceeding three months, to hire a room and engage a teacher with a suitable salary for the said Town, and to report in writing at each regular meeting of the Board.

SELECTMEN'S REPORT ON SEWERAGE.

THE Selectmen being a Committee to whom was referred the subject of Sewerage at the Annual Town Meeting in March last, would now

R E P O R T .

First, As to the claim of the Town upon the City of Boston for the expense of providing for the rapid rise in our brooks by the recent system of drainage about the Chestnut Hill Reservoir.

The Cochituate Water Board referred the subject of our claim to their solicitor, who, as we are now told, reported that the city were not legally liable to our Town for their action in this respect.

The Water Board did not deny, however, that they might be bound to remove the obstruction now for some years existing in the Channel of the Brook, where it crosses the Western Avenue, near the Gas Works, said channel being there obstructed by the Cochituate Water Main, as represented to the Water Board at the hearing given to our case in April last. The President of the Water Board has been again addressed on this subject, and has referred it to the City Engineer, with the intimation to us that the trouble might perhaps soon be remedied.

Second, As to the general subject of sewerage, your Board have employed Mr. Edward S. Philbrick as an Engineer, who, after making the necessary surveys, has recently submitted the report which will be found below.

Your Board have already laid out two important trunk sewers through private property, now presented to the town for acceptance, and in case these should be accepted* recommend that the sums named in Mr. Philbrick's Report, as the probable cost of work now needed, be now appropriated for the purpose.

The sewers through the lower part of Washington Street and of Boylston Street have already been commenced, as authorized at the Annual Meeting, and will soon be finished.

The sewer laid out and accepted by the town in 1867, from the Railroad Depot to Muddy River, never has been finished at the lower end; but the unfinished portion has recently been placed under contract, and the work is now in progress. It is not contemplated at present, however, to cover the whole of this sewer by an arch of stone or brick, though such a course will eventually be necessary.

JAMES BARTLETT,	} Selectmen of the Town of Brookline.
WILLIAM J. GRIGGS,
EDWARD S. PHILBRICK,
HORACE JAMES,

Brookline, Mass., July 26, 1869.

* One of these sewers was accepted by the Town on the 22d inst., and the other was referred to the adjourned meeting, with all the appropriations for the purpose of sewerage.

ENGINEER'S REPORT.

To the Selectmen of the Town of Brookline :

Agreeably to your instructions received in April last I have examined the subject of drainage in this Town, and would now submit the following Report :

Sewers are needed among a dense population for two purposes, viz. : 1st, To receive and conduct the surface water, naturally flowing in the streets, as well as that which flows in natural water-courses or brooks, in such a way as to control the movements of such water within definite channels, and secure adjacent property from overflow and damage. 2d, To conduct the drainage of house sinks, drains, and soil pipes—and the liquid offal of all sorts of manufacturing establishments in such manner as to ensure a rapid and continuous flow of such matter to such place as may be provided. In some places, as in the city of Paris, two separate systems of conduits are provided for these two purposes, enabling them to utilize the house offal without diluting it with the surface water. It is there pumped by steam power several miles out of the city and made into fertilizers. But this is not done, as far as I can learn, to any considerable extent in our country, nor even in London. At any rate, the population of Brookline is not likely to become sufficiently dense, for the next generation, to render such a system economical. We have, however, an urgent demand for drainage, both for the purpose of disposing of liquid house offal, and for so conducting the surface water flowing in our streets and brooks, as to ensure against continual annoyance and damage to adjacent property.

So long as a population remains below about ten thousand per square mile, uniformly distributed, the refuse drainage of houses can with perfect impunity be absorbed by the earth, unless the same population depend upon Wells for their supply of drinking water. Where this is the case, more or less risk is always incurred by the filtration of the contents of cess-pools into the wells, and the consequent poisoning of the water.

Many of the streets of our Town have already reached this limit of population, and others are rapidly approaching it. We are therefore called upon to provide at once the remedy. Moreover the laying out of new streets and avenues, paving gutters, erecting buildings, or improving the land by structures of any kind, facilitates the more rapid drainage of the rain water into its natural channels, thereby taxing those channels, after heavy rains, with many times the quantity of water which would otherwise have flowed in them during the same period. This leads to damage and serious annoyance to all adjacent property, and calls again for relief.

For reasons above given, it does not appear feasible to construct separate conduits for the house drainage and for the surface water which may be found flowing in the streets or brooks, to the detriment of surrounding property, and I shall therefor consider but one system to be provided for both purposes.

Since the volume of house drainage is always insignificant in comparison with that of the rain or surface water to be disposed of, even where houses are supplied by aqueducts and no considerable brooks occur, as in large cities, we must, in planning the capacity of our drains, be guarded by the amount of surface to be drained of its rain water, and the rapidity with which such rainfall is likely to find its way into our conduits. But not only is the size, the location also of large conduits is often controlled by the topography of the ground and the volume of rain water that is to flow into them. We are at once led to study the slopes of the ground and find how Nature has provided that the water should run, and can evidently simplify our operations by conforming to the natural slopes as far as practicable. It is, however, highly desirable that the conduits or sewers should be located in the streets of the town, as far as possible, in order to avoid entering upon and interfering with private property in the construction or maintenance of our work. In order to reconcile these ends, which often conflict, where streets are but sparsely provided, many questions arise which must be decided by local circumstances.

Before beginning to lay any considerable sewers or conduits, economy requires that these questions should be definitely settled, and a system developed, according to which the work can be carried on, from time to time in different places, without having to undo or rebuild old work. The entire premises must be reviewed, and a general plan devised, upon general principles. With a view to develop such a plan, I have prepared from topographical surveys of the eastern part of the Town, maps and calculations leading to the results which may be stated as follows :

The drainage of the Eastern part of the town is divided into three separate valleys containing natural water-courses or brooks emptying into Muddy River and the Mill Dam basin, besides a large part of the Northeastern part or corner of the Town including Longwood which would drain directly into Charles River. Since the latter portion is as yet more sparsely occupied with houses or stores, and contains no large volume of surface water to damage property by overflow, no immediate action seems to be called for, and since its outlet is entirely independent of the more central parts of the Town, the drainage of that part may be considered entirely by itself, and disconnected with that of the central district.

Of the three valleys emptying into Muddy River, the most Southerly includes but a small area, viz. : The land adjacent to Chestnut Street and that lying Southeast of High Street, forming the brook which divides Brookline from West Roxbury and Boston, at its lower end, to its junction with Muddy River.

This valley is also so sparsely settled with population as to need no attention for the present.

The next and largest valley, drains something over two thousand acres in all, concentrating in the brook which flows along the railroad from Cypress Street to the Brookline Station. The volume of water brought down by this brook is subject to great and sudden increase after rains, particularly since the work about the Chestnut Hill Reservoir has facilitated the drainage of its upper basins, causing by these rapid and unprecedented freshets considerable damage to public and private property last spring.

Moreover its position is such that it is quite impossible to conduct it within any streets, except a portion of Tappan Street, along which it now runs for some six hundred feet. We must therefore make special provision for it below that point by conducting its water through private property to tide water. The most feasible route appears to be to follow the north side of the railroad location down to the culvert now in use, where the brook now runs from the north to the south side of the railroad in rear of the new brick school house on Boylston Street. Thence following the south side of the railroad to a point near Washington Street. From this point, easterly, the present channel, though sufficient for the past fifteen years before the improved drainage about the new reservoir, is now quite inadequate. I would therefore recommend that a new conduit be made along the south side of the railroad passing under the turnout track, and along the north side of the railroad fence to the marsh, where it would empty into the channel of the Muddy River.

The amount of water which ran past Washington Street on the 14th of February last, for several hours, is estimated at four hundred cubic feet per second, and as the present channel seemed to be able to carry but about half this amount, another of equal capacity must be provided. Into these conduits from Tappan Street to Muddy River would eventually be drained the upper part of Walnut and Boylston streets, from the old reservoir to a point opposite Dr. Shurtleff's house on Boylston Street, and west of the house of William Dearborn on Walnut Street; also nearly the whole of Cypress Street, and the part of Washington Street from the railroad depot to the new library; also Harvard Street south of the Baptist church.

But I would recommend the drainage of the lower parts of Walnut and Boylston streets, in connection with Washington Street below their junction, to be conducted through the latter Street to Muddy River, near the corner of Pond Street. In accordance with your instructions, I have already contracted for that work to be commenced at once.

Next in order is the valley draining parallel with the upper part of Washington Street, from near the town line of Brighton to School Street. Thence parallel with School Street and Aspinwall Avenue to tide water. These streets can all be drained by a sewer within their limits, until we reach a point on Aspinwall Avenue, near the Episcopal Church, where a hill is encountered, rendering it advisable to cross private property until tide water is reached. For though it might be practicable, at considerable cost, to keep the sewer within the limits of the highway to the corner of Toxteth Street, it would be from fifteen to twenty feet below the surface for a considerable distance, thereby rendering it nearly inaccessible for the use of abutters, and very difficult to keep in repair and clean it.

An easy and nearly direct route can be had across the Aspinwall estate, following nearly the natural channel of the brook to tide water, where it would join the new conduit to be built along the railroad. The area drained by this brook above its junction with the larger one, is about three hundred and fifty acres, and provision should be made at its lower end for about sixty feet of cubic water per second.

The surface of that part of the town requiring immediate attention to its drainage, is thus found to empty its waters at one point into Muddy River, near the crossing of the railroad under Aspinwall Avenue, where a volume of water as large as five hundred and twenty feet per second must be at times provided for, including that coming from the outlet of "Ward's Pond." The question next arises — What is to be done with the drainage below that point? The most direct way to Charles River would be across the edge of the marshes just east of Chapel Station and the Longwood School-house, in the neighborhood of St. Mary's Street, so called, and such a plan has received some attention. But the superior merits of the Mill Dam basin as a reservoir of drainage for some time to come is manifest, for the reason that the highest spring tides attain a level some three feet higher in Charles River than in this basin. The cause of this is found in the fact that the river gates are too small to admit the full flow of the tide before it has ebbed some three feet. In fact if we were obliged to seek a direct outlet to Charles River, there would be times when freshets in our brooks, coincident with spring tides, would submerge a large portion of the Brookline Branch Railroad track, as well as the Western Avenue itself, in crossing the marshes, and we should find great difficulty in keeping the water below the tracks at the depot.

It may be asked why we should not be able to drain below high water mark here as well as in Boston, where several sewers are many feet below tide, and serve a good purpose by being emptied with a valve gate at low water. But such sewers are not adequate to carry such a volume of surface water as we have to provide for. In fact they would be filled in fifteen minutes by our one largest brook after a heavy rain, for we have the drainage of some two thousand five hundred acres, about four square miles, concentrated in one channel, and meeting tide water at least two and a half miles from Charles River by the nearest route or an air line.

This large volume of surface water, though an incumbrance in some respects, enables us to wash out our conduits frequently, and dilute the house sewerage, which otherwise might soon prove as offensive as in Boston. In fact, the contents of our sewers will be so much diluted by brooks and tide water for many years to come, that no serious consequences need be feared if allowed to discharge into Muddy River, as proposed, where they meet the flux and reflux of the tide daily in the open channel.

Whenever these open channels become seriously offensive they can be walled in and covered ; but the outlet should be in the reservoir of the Mill Dam, so long as such reservoir exists, for the above reasons. If at any future time the Reservoir should be filled and devoted to streets and buildings, the work now recommended would lose none of its usefulness, so far as its capacity goes, but we should then be driven to construct more copious channels to the river, requiring less descent to carry the water through them than would be needed to drain into the Mill Dam basin as at present. We should probably find, also, that the grade of the Western Avenue and Beacon Street would need raising above the level of the Charles River tides.

For the above reason, and for the additional one, that the city of Boston now has the jurisdiction of much of the land between Aspinwall Avenue and the Mill Dam Basin, and may shortly acquire further jurisdiction there, it does not seem best now to commit our town to any immediate action beyond the points recommended above, nor at any time without the co-operation of the City of Boston, near or through whose territory and for whose advantage in part such work must be executed.

To recapitulate then the points needing immediate attention we have :—

1st. To provide a conduit from Tappan Street to Muddy River to receive the surface water of the brook, and the drainage of Washington Street, from the Library to the Railroad, the South end of Harvard Street to the Baptist Church, and the whole of Cypress Street South of Cypress Place, and the upper end of Walnut and Boylston streets below the old reservoir.

2d. A conduit from Aspinwall Avenue to empty into the above near Muddy River.

3d. Such street pipes in Washington, Harvard and Cypress streets as will drain into the above.

I give below my estimates of such parts of the above work as are immediately needed, viz. : —

Conduit from Tappan Street to lands of Dr. Shurtleff, sixteen hundred feet long,	$20,700
Conduit from present Railroad Culvert in rear of brick schoolhouse to the Railroad bridge on Washington Street, one thousand feet long,	11,094
Auxiliary Conduit from Washington Street Railroad bridge to channel of Muddy River (one thousand feet covered, six hundred feet open, at present), one thousand six hundred feet long, cost,	22,000
Conduit through a part of Aspinwall Avenue, from Harvard Street to Episcopal Church, three hundred and fifty feet long, cost,	1,200
Total estimated cost of work which is now recommended,	$54,994

In addition to which there will remain to be done, within no very distant time, the following amount of work in finishing the conduits referred to above, but which will not be needed this season, viz. : —

About six hundred feet of Conduit on lands of E. C. Emerson, on North side of the Railroad track above Whyte Place, at an estimate cost of,	$6,600
Arching about six hundred feet of new Conduit on Marsh below village,	4,200
Arching one thousand feet of old Conduit, from Depot to Town line (now open),	7,000

Building about nine hundred feet of Conduit on marsh (i.e., for six hundred feet beyond Aspinwall Avenue), not needed at present nor for some years,	15,000
Building about two thousand feet of Conduit across Aspinwall Estate,	6,600
Total,	$39,400

This will give the town a complete system of trunk sewers for the principal valleys, down to a point in the old channel of Muddy River at the boundary line of Boston, some six hundred feet North of Aspinwall Avenue, of sufficient capacity to meet all demands for a very long time, and the above estimates are based upon the cost of the most substantial masonry.

Respectfully your obt. Servt.,

EDWARD S. PHILBRICK.

The Selectment of the Town of Brookline, after giving legal notice to all parties, corporations and interests known to them of their intention to lay out as a common sewer the Brook running from Tappan Street to Muddy River, did, in pursuance of said notice, meet at their office in the Town Hall, on Thursday, the first day of July, A. D. 1869, at three of the clock in the afternoon, and after hearing all persons and interests desiring to be heard in relation to the making of said Sewer, and examining the proposed route of said Sewer, and again by adjournment on Thursday, the fifteenth day of July, aforesaid, and all parties and interests known to them having been heard and examined in relation thereto, they proceeded and did lay out said Common Sewer as follows, being described by the centre line, to wit: —

Thence Easterly, parallel with and ten feet distant from the South side of Tappan Street for a distance of two hundred and twenty-six feet, to the point where Tappan Street begins to curve to the North. Thence, continuing in the same direction as the foregoing straight line, for a further distance of seventy-four feet. Thence, curving to the left with a radius of six hundred and twenty-eight feet, for a distance of three hundred and sixty-three feet, crossing the lands of the Boston, Hartford and Erie Railroad Company, and Cypress Street, to a point on the estate of Moses Jones distant ten feet northerly from the Railroad fence. Thence Easterly, parallel with and ten feet distant from said Railroad fence, for a distance of eight hundred and thirty-nine feet, crossing said estate of Moses Jones and the lands of Samuel A. Shurtleff, to a point on lands of E. C. Emerson near the Railroad culvert. Thence, turning to the right on a curve of twenty-two feet radius, passing through said culvert, and again to the left with the same radius to a point on lands of the Town of Brookline ten feet from the line of the Railroad location, and on the south side of the same. Thence, curving to the right on a radius of one hundred and twenty feet, for a distance of one hundred and sixty feet, crossing lands of James Driscoll, to a point on the marsh land of the Aspinwall estate. Thence, curving to the left on a radius of one hundred and twenty feet, for a distance of one hundred and sixty-eight feet, to the present channel of Muddy River. Thence, in a straight line parallel with and one hundred and forty-four feet from the Westerly side of Western Avenue, so called, crossing the said Aspinwall estate and Aspinwall Avenue, for a distance of one thousand twenty-two feet, to the original channel of Muddy River.

Said description is by the centre line of said Sewer, which sewer is ten feet in width on each side of said described line.

The location of said Sewer is in accordance with plans of the same as made by E. S. Philbrick, Civil Engineer, dated July 15th, 1869, examined and approved by the Selectmen, and filed in the office of the Town Clerk, on the fifteenth day of July aforesaid.
